Laird Says:

Nixon Waited For Right Time To Chase Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is becoming increasingly apparent the Nixon administration decided to hit the enemy sanctuaries in Cambodia because the right conditions had arisen, rather than as a result of a major new military threat.

The key to opening the way for U.S. and South Vietnamese forces to hit the enemy's long-secure base complex was the overthrow in March of Cambodia's neutralist chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

Until the new regime led by Premier Lon Nol took over, the United States felt it had to respect Cambodia's neutrality and its borders.

But the change presented a new situation, the importance of which in administration thinking can be seen in the statements of U.S. officials in their lengthy discussions of the Cambodian operation.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has said: "For a long period of time there have been political considerations—international political considerations that had been involved, and the situation changed and this opportunity was presented."

And Thursday, the secretary said about one-third of the 40,000 North Vietnamese troops in the Cambodian sanctuaries had faced away from South Vietnam starting about mid-April.

This created a situation in which he said the risk to allied forces became less and "the possibility of much lower casualties became apparent."

Thus, Laird said, "this was the time to hit them" in the sanctuaries.

Is Crisis Stage Far Off For National Economy?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The newest government statistics paint a picture of gloom, a full-fledged economic slowdown not at the crisis stage but still troublesome.

Despite the uncontradicted negative figures indicating lower profits and higher prices, the Nixon administration remains publicly convinced its policies are working and business will start upward sometime between June and December.

Travel Narrow Path

"We're traveling a narrow path between recession and inflation," Arthur F. Burns, the Federal Reserve Board chairman, told Congress Thursday.

Although not an official member of the administration, Burns was President Nixon's chief domestic adviser until January and now is as responsible as any other individual for the health of the money and credit systems.

These were the developments Thursday, a day heavy with economic news:

—The Commerce Department said prices during January, February and March rose at an annual rate of 5¼ per cent, a quarter of a point higher than its earlier estimate. With the recent 6 per cent federal pay raise figured in, the increase was 6¼ per cent, highest since the Korean war.

Production Down

At the same time, actual production dropped 3 per cent, the largest since the 1960 recession, instead of the 1½ per cent listed in preliminary figures.

—Output of the nation's factories dropped almost one-half of one per cent during April to 170.4 per cent of the 1957-59 benchmark. It reversed a similar March increase and continued a general slide that began last August.

—The stock market dropped 9.05 points, bringing the bellwether Dow-Jones industrial average to 684.79, the lowest in more than seven years.

Sharp Market Decline

The market has slid almost 40 points since April 28, when President Nixon assured a group of visiting businessmen, "Frankly, if I had any money, I'd be buying stocks right now."

Asked Thursday at a news briefing if Nixon still stood by that, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler smiled, took a sip of coffee, and went on to the next question.

—Personal income gained a record $17.8 billion during April, due entirely to the Social Security and federal pay increases. Private wages and salaries declined $1.5 billion, at an annual rate after seasonal adjustment.

—To the surprise of almost no one, corporate profits dipped $6¼ billion to an annual rate of $85 billion during the first quarter. As a result, corporations' tax liability fell $3¼ billion, giving strength to administration fears the current fiscal year—ending next month—may produce a budget deficit.

Turn For The Worse

—The balance of payments took a sharp turn for the worse in the first quarter, with all international transactions, showing a deficit of $1.73 billion after a $532 million surplus in the October-December quarter last year.

Government economists said the figures weren't unexpected. Treasury Undersecretary Charles E. Walker said the figures "would not indicate to me that the picture was any different from yesterday before the figures came out."

And Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy, speaking in Utah, said he saw signs "that the worst may be over."

113 Students Involved

Sponberg Uses 'Whip' On EMU Dissenters

YPSILANTI (AP) — Eastern Michigan University President Harold Sponberg suspended or put on probation Thursday 113 EMU students arrested in three days of campus turmoil.

Most of the arrested students were picked up by police for violation of the sunset-to-sunrise curfew imposed by Gov. William Milliken Wednesday when he clamped a state of emergency on Ypsilanti.

Others Arrested

The other students were arrested on a variety of charges including creating a disturbance, assault and possession of firearms and narcotics.

Students arrested for curfew violations were given probation, while those arrested on other charges were suspended until hearings before a student court. No date was set for the hearings but a spokesman said they would be held in the next few weeks.

Curfew violators will also get hearings before the student court.

At a noon meeting Thursday, students were urged by their leaders to keep off the streets after curfew, and a demonstration was set for Monday.

Ypsilanti police described the city "pretty quiet" this morning with only scattered and minor incidents of bottle and rock throwing in streets near the campus.

164 Arrested

However, police said 41 more arrests were made during the night, bringing to 164 the total of arrests since Monday.

One persons was booked on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, the others for curfew violation, police said.

The students are in jail and no bonds will be set until they are arraigned. One police officer commented, "We're getting a little tougher. We've got to quit playing."

Police said there were no extra law enforcement officials on campus last night but that state police and Washtenaw County deputies were stationed at a command post nearby.

Abortion Bill Dies In Senate

LANSING (AP) — With a liberalized abortion bill dead in the Michigan Senate, backers of reform pledged today to continue their fight at the ballot box and during the next legislative session.

The Senate Thursday voted 19-18 against reconsidering the defeat of a bill allowing women residents to obtain legal abortions during the first 90 days of pregnancy.

If one senator had switched to support reconsideration, the measure supported by Gov. William Milliken would have remained alive for another roll call. Backers needed a simple majority of those voting to demand a revote.

"Gentlemen, if you think that this issue has been laid to rest, you are in for a very rude and frightening awakening," declared Sen. N. Lorraine Beebe, R-Dearborn, when the vote was tallied.

Mrs. Beebe, Michigan's only woman senator, charged colleagues with opposing reconsideration because of their own personal and moral beliefs, and not following the wishes of their constituents.

Russ Rule Out Ties With Foe On Indochina

LONDON (AP) — Soviet authorities privately are ruling out any possibility of active military cooperation with Red China against the Americans in Indochina, some Asian and European diplomats reported today.

Informal Chinese efforts have been suggesting a reconciliation with the Russians to meet the challenge of President Nixon's intervention in Cambodia.

These diplomats said they have been told by senior Soviet colleagues any renewed Russian-Chinese cooperation would require a Chinese initiative. None has been sighted, and Moscow has no proposals to offer.

The informants have been in touch with high Soviet officials. Their informal exchanges have been reported to their home governments. The accounts they offered of Soviet thinking have been checked and cross-checked, examined against Moscow's actions and pronouncements and seem to have an authoritative ring.

The Soviet Union's policy, according to the informants, was summarized thus:

—The Kremlin is ready to provide all military aid for North Vietnam, and other left-wing Indochinese forces, short of manpower. This contrasts with unofficial Chinese talk of enlisting volunteers for service in Indochinese battle zones if they are needed.

—The Kremlin is resolved to avoid any direct confrontation with the Americans in, or over, Indochina. This ties in with a Western belief that Moscow would not mind watching the Chinese and Americans slugging it out in the region.

—The Kremlin is ready to go on providing the North Vietnamese with all the arms and equipment needed to replace the losses sustained during the American-South Vietnamese sweep through Cambodia.

Reuther Crash Probe Still On

PELLSTON, Mich. (AP)—An investigator for the National Transportation Safety Board said Thursday that the engines of the jet which carried labor leader Walter P. Reuther, his wife, and four others to their deaths Saturday apparently were functioning normally until the plane hit trees near the Pellston airport.

The investigative team member, who asked that he not be identified, said that a full report on the crash would be issued in about one month. He said surveyors would work in Pellston Friday to determine the angle at which the plane, a chartered Lear Jet, hit the ground.

In Washington, another spokesman for the board said the discovery that the engines apparently failed only after the plane hit trees does not explain the cause of the crash.

While stating that the engines "flamed-out" after striking trees on a knoll some 200 feet higher than the airport, the spokesman said "that can't be called the cause of the crash. The pilot didn't just drive into the trees on a whim.

"We have no idea what actually caused the crash," he said, adding, "We'll be working on it for some time, I'm sure."

He said the flameouts were caused by parts of trees and metal entering the engines when the plane struck the trees.

"After that the pilots were only passengers aboard the plane," he added. "They had no power to recover."

At the same time the spokesman said there is no explanation why the plane was so low.

He said a damaged altimeter, believed to be the pilot's, has been recovered and sent to instrument specialists for analysis.

After striking the trees the plane fell toward the ground at a 25 to 30 degree angle and burst into flames on impact with the ground.

Claim Someone Fired From Inside Building

Police fired into a crowd outside a dormitory at predominantly-Negro Jackson State College in Mississippi early today, killing two black students and bringing to six the number who have died in the current wave of campus unrest.

Nine other persons, all but two of them students, were wounded by the fusillade which followed reports of rock-throwing at passing motorists.

Police said they opened fire after someone fired at them from the building. National Guardsmen were in the area with unloaded weapons but not at the scene of the shooting.

Early last week four students were shot to death in a confrontation with Ohio National Guardsmen at Kent State University during a protest over President Nixon's decision to send U.S. troops into Cambodia.

Witnesses in Jackson today said the policemen confronted a crowd of men standing in front of the dormitory and opened with a 7 to 10 second barrage after hearing a sound like a shot or a firecracker.

Neither police nor the college issued a statement on the shooting or the cause of the rock throwing.

Discontent Noted

There has been discontent on the campus for some time, with many students claiming too many blacks are sent to Vietnam immediately after graduation.

After the shooting, students screamed at the policemen from windows of other dormitories while students in front of the building dropped to the ground to take cover.

National Guard troops in armored personnel carriers with .30-caliber machine guns on top moved on to the scene on the 3,500-student campus.

Dead Identified

Hinds County Coroner B. R. Billock identified the dead as James Earl Green and Phillip L. Gibbs, 21. He said autopsies would be performed.

Another nine persons were treated for minor injuries after the violence. All were blacks except a highway patrolman who received minor laceration.

One student said, "They said somebody shot but it was just a bottle. It made a popping sound when it hit."

In Athens, Ohio, the president of Ohio University ordered the school closed early today after 1,000 National Guardsmen were ordered into the city following day-long campus disorders.

Tear Gas Fired

Police earlier fired tear gas to disperse about 2,000 rock-throwing students at the school while the highway patrol sealed offf the southwestern Ohio town of 17,000 people.

At the 41,000-student University of Maryland in College Park, National Guardsmen and state policemen fired tear gas and marched shoulder to shoulder Thursday night to clear 5,000 students off U.S. Highway 1.

The new violence came as many striking students around the country mapped plans to move their protests off campus —to streets, factories and legislative chambers.

UAW President Eulogized Today In Motor City

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther was eulogized today as a man whose interests in social justice went far beyond the membership of the United Auto Workers Union which he headed for 24 years until his accidental death last Saturday.

The heads of all four Detroit auto companies joined other leaders of industry, government and labor at the funeral rites for the president of the 1.6-million UAW members, and his wife, May, who also died in the plane crash in northern Lower Michigan.

Four others died in the crash of a union-chartered jet en route to a union retreat.

"He was there in person when the storm clouds were thickest," said Coretta King, wife of the late civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. "He marched with us in Selma, Ala., Jackson, Miss., and Washington."

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said history will treat Reuther kindly. "You didn't have to carry a UAW card to be one of Walter Reuther's constituents," Sen. Hart noted.

The setting for the double funeral was Detroit's Ford Auditorium, a Civic Center showpiece and a gift from the automotive fafmfily.

The grained oak caskets rested parallel and alone on the huge stage, a golden curtain and flowers forming a backdrop. There was no funeral procession afterward. The bodies were to be cremated.

The 2,926 with seats in the auditorium were there by invitation. So were 400 with basement seats for piped-in eulogies from the 11 speakers.

Mideast Scene Of Air Battles

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli pilots claimed shooting down three Soviet-made Egyptian MIG jets in dogfights over the Suez Canal today.

By Israeli account, two MIG17s were shot down in morning battles over the blocked waterway and a MIG21 shortly after noon.

All three planes were seen falling in Egyptian territory, the military command said here.

The MIG21 had "attempted to interfere" when Israeli planes were on a bombing and stafing mission against Egyptian military targets along the central sector of the canal, a spokesman said.

It was the second Israeli raid of the day and followed two Egyptian strikes.

All Israeli aircraft returned safely, the spokesman said.

Milliken Decries Ugly Turn In Protests, Response To It

LANSING (AP) — Chanting antiwar slogans, a crowd estimated at 6,000 marched to the steps of the Capitol Thursday and staged an hour - long demonstration in the rain.

The peaceful protest was marred when a car plowed into the ranks of the demonstrators and drove through the crowd for at least 200 feet, injuring at least five persons.

The car was surrounded by demonstrators as it moved through the crowd at about 20 miles an hour. Several of the protesters climbed on the vehicle and pounded it with fists and feet.

Driver Being Held

After the car finally stopped, the driver, whose identity has not been released, was taken away by police.

He was being held by police Thursday night, but police spokesmen would not say whether he would be charged with any offense.

Otherwise, it was a peaceful protest. Not even the flowers lining the main walkway to the front steps were damaged. The only evidence that the large crowd left was some trampled grass and a few white wooden crosses.

Police were generally inconspicuous, as opposed to some previous capitol demonstrations when they lined up to barricade the building against far smaller groups.

Most speakers called for quick end to the war. Some protestors shouted and chanted obscenities.

Hear Me Out

Gov. William Milliken had a difficult time getting through his prepared remarks. He was interrupted several times and appealed repeatedly to the crowd to "hear me out."

Milliken praised peaceful dissent, but decried what he said was "evidence of an ugly turn in the direction of protest - and the response to it."

The governor said Walter Reuther, late president of the United Auto Workers Union, helped make the world better "through constructive dissent."

"His whole life was based on dissent," Milliken said. He added that making the world better "is the responsibility of constructive dissent represented by your presence here today."

Legislators Speak

A number of state legislators also spoke to the protestors.

Some demonstrators passed out literature to the crowd and to passers-by. Among them was a leaflet which said in part "if we are to achieve an end to the war in Indochina and an end to the oppression of minority groups at home, we must work within the confines of the political system."

A newspaper called "student action," also was distributed. Under the headline "We Want to Change the World," it said "Christians Are in the Streets" and "Jesus Christ.. Makes Life Solid and Significant."

Over 2,000 Demonstrate

The crowd was much larger than the group which marched to the Capitol for a brief antiwar demonstration Wednesday. Police estimated that gathering at more than 2,000.

The group which gathered at Michigan State University for Thursday's march was estimated by State Police at 10,000. They marched off down Michigan Avenue, walking for more than an hour before they reached the walkway leading to the Capitol steps.

Chased By Rain

However, many drifted away before the demonstration got into full swing. By the time the protest was over the rain had stopped and only a few hundred remained.

The last appeal over the loudspeaker was not to end the war, but for march marshals to help clean up the Capitol grounds.

"It will only take a couple minutes," the speaker said.

Milliken, asked for his reaction after the heckling during his remarks, said he will continue to speak to student groups.

Mideast Scene Of Air Battles

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli pilots claimed shooting down three Soviet-made Egyptian MIG jets in dogfights over the Suez Canal today.

By Israeli account, two MIG17s were shot down in morning battles over the blocked waterway and a MIG21 shortly after noon.

All three planes were seen falling in Egyptian territory, the military command said here.

The MIG21 had "attempted to interfere" when Israeli planes were on a bombing and stafing mission against Egyptian military targets along the central sector of the canal, a spokesman said.

It was the second Israeli raid of the day and followed two Egyptian strikes.

All Israeli aircraft returned safely, the spokesman said.

UAW President Eulogized Today In Motor City

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther was eulogized today as a man whose interests in social justice went far beyond the membership of the United Auto Workers Union which he headed for 24 years until his accidental death last Saturday.

The heads of all four Detroit auto companies joined other leaders of industry, government and labor at the funeral rites for the president of the 1.6-million UAW members, and his wife, May, who also died in the plane crash in northern Lower Michigan.

Four others died in the crash of a union-chartered jet en route to a union retreat.

"He was there in person when the storm clouds were thickest," said Coretta King, wife of the late civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. "He marched with us in Selma, Ala., Jackson, Miss., and Washington."

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said history will treat Reuther kindly. "You didn't have to carry a UAW card to be one of Walter Reuther's constituents," Sen. Hart noted.

The setting for the double funeral was Detroit's Ford Auditorium, a Civic Center showpiece and a gift from the automotive famfmfily.

The grained oak caskets rested parallel and alone on the huge stage, a golden curtain and flowers forming a backdrop. There was no funeral procession afterward. The bodies were to be cremated.

The 2,926 with seats in the auditorium were there by invitation. So were 400 with basement seats for piped-in eulogies from the 11 speakers.

Milliken Decries Ugly Turn In Protests, Response To It

LANSING (AP) — Chanting antiwar slogans, a crowd estimated at 6,000 marched to the steps of the Capitol Thursday and staged an hour - long demonstration in the rain.

The peaceful protest was marred when a car plowed into the ranks of the demonstrators and drove through the crowd for at least 200 feet, injuring at least five persons.

The car was surrounded by demonstrators as it moved through the crowd at about 20 miles an hour. Several of the protesters climbed on the vehicle and pounded it with fists and feet.

Driver Being Held

After the car finally stopped, the driver, whose identity has not been released, was taken away by police.

He was being held by police Thursday night, but police spokesmen would not say whether he would be charged with any offense.

Otherwise, it was a peaceful protest. Not even the flowers lining the main walkway to the front steps were damaged. The only evidence that the large crowd left was some trampled grass and a few white wooden crosses.

Police were generally inconspicuous, as opposed to some previous capitol demonstrations when they lined up to barricade the building against far smaller groups.

Most speakers called for quick end to the war. Some protestors shouted and chanted obscenities.

Hear Me Out

Gov. William Milliken had a difficult time getting through his prepared remarks. He was interrupted several times and appealed repeatedly to the crowd to "hear me out."

Milliken praised peaceful dissent, but decried what he said was "evidence of an ugly turn in the direction of protest - and the response to it."

The governor said Walter Reuther, late president of the United Auto Workers Union, helped make the world better "through constructive dissent."

"His whole life was based on dissent," Milliken said. He added that making the world better "is the responsibility of constructive dissent represented by your presence here today."

Legislators Speak

A number of state legislators also spoke to the protestors.

Some demonstrators passed out literature to the crowd and to passers-by. Among them was a leaflet which said in part "if we are to achieve an end to the war in Indochina and an end to the oppression of minority groups at home, we must work within the confines of the political system."

A newspaper called "student action," also was distributed. Under the headline "We Want to Change the World," it said "Christians Are in the Streets" and "Jesus Christ.. Makes Life Solid and Significant."

Over 2,000 Demonstrate

"The crowd was much larger than the group which marched to the Capitol for a brief antiwar demonstration Wednesday. Police estimated that gathering at more than 2,000.

The group which gathered at Michigan State University for Thursday's march was estimated by State Police at 10,000. They marched off down Michigan Avenue, walking for more than an hour before they reached the walkway leading to the Capitol steps.

Chased By Rain

However, many drifted away before the demonstration got into full swing. By the time the protest was over the rain had stopped and only a few hundred remained.

The last appeal over the loudspeaker was not to end the war, but for march marshals to help clean up the Capitol grounds.

"It will only take a couple minutes," the speaker said.

Milliken, asked for his reaction after the heckling during his remarks, said he will continue to speak to student groups.

Science Awards

Robert Mosenfelder, 50th Anniversary project chairman, will report on Rotary's sponsorship of scholarship awards to students of the local high schools. The awards are full scholarships to Summer Science Camp, providing a full month of recreational camping with special emphasis on the study of natural sciences.

Announcement of the scholarship recipients will be made Saturday evening at the program, when the young people will be dinner guests and will be presented with the awards.

The benediction will be by the Rev. Rodger L. Patrow, Rotarian.

Through the half-century since the Rotary Club held its first meeting on April 5, 1920, it has been and continues to be active in service projects of benefit to the community—many of direct service to youth.

International Study

One of these is Rotary International Foundation, which provides young people an opportunity to study in another country for a year.

The District 622 student this year is from Escanaba—Miss Michelle Marcouiller, daughter of the George Marcouillers, who is currently studying at the University of Brussels in Belgium, where she is majoring in French.

On the international service side, Rotarians of Escanaba have sponsored the visit to this country of students from other countries. The program has been carried on consecutively each summer since 1955 and the 1970 guest will be a young man from Geneva, Switzerland.

The Escanaba area is familiar with the Rotary Club's sponsorship of Rotary Camp Harstad, a summertime health and recreation camp on the Ford River Shore for crippled, handicapped and underprivileged children. It has been operating since 1949, prior to that Rotary sponsored an open-air camp, and its interest in the handicapped goes back to 1924 with contributions to their assistance and sponsorship of clinics in their behalf.

Service To Youth

The Rotary Club also sponsors an annual Christmas party for children in special education rooms of the John A. Lemmer School and students of the John F. Kennedy School.

Another project recognizing the accomplishments of youth is the Rotary Boy and Rotary Girl program, in which a watch is presented to an outstanding boy and girl graduate of the local high schools. Rotary also sponsors each June an Honors Luncheon for high school graduates and their parents.

Past presidents of the Rotary Club will also be recognized at the anniversary program. The late Richard E. MacLean was Rotary's first president when it was organized in 1920.

Present officers are Thomas J. Straebel, president; Frank Bourke, vice president; Arthur W. Moberg, secretary-treasurer; and Alfred H. Troutt, sergeant at arms.

Commanders Of Legion, VFW Both Back President

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP)—The national commanders of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars assured President Nixon Thursday of their support on his Cambodia decision. They expressed concern over congressional proposals to force the withdrawal of troops from Southeast Asia.

The VFW commander, Raymond Gallagher, of Redfield, S.D., told reporters after the White House meeting that they spoke for six million organized veterans and their women's auxiliaries.

Gallagher said he and the legion commander, Milton J. Patrick of Oklahoma, had decided to carry their views to Congress and the White House. He added: "It is the first time in history, that our two organizations have got together on a public statement."

Tetanus Shots Important Item

Spring and summer months increase the exposure possibilities to Tetanus. Over 300 cases of Tetanus were reported in the United States in 1969 and the leading cause of exposure to the disease were injuries at home, with farm and garden related injuries following a close second.

Tetanus still has over a 50 per cent fatality rate if it is contracted and it is a disease which can strike at any age, if the person is not immunized in advance of the injury.

Immunization for Tetanus is given in all shot series for infants and children and persons of any age can be immunized. A complete immunization consists of three shots within one year and boosters every ten years or after injuries that might predispose one to Tetanus.

Immunization for Tetanus can be obtained at the family physician's office or at the Delta-Menominee District Health Department in the Delta County Building.

League To Hold State Council Meeting Here

When the League of Women Voters of Michigan convenes for state council in Escanaba next week, Mrs. Harold Anderson, president of the Escanaba League, will extend greetings to the delegates and visitors from the 41 local Leagues throughout the state.

Mayor Pro Tem Robert Bink will extend the welcome to Escanaba.

The meeting will take place Wednesday, May 20, in the State Office Building.

Delegates to the council will consider the results of the first year's study of the state program item for 1969-71: "Taxation and Financing Education."

League Position

The 4,442 members throughout the state have reached agreement on the support of a graduated state income tax, a state property tax, and a state sales tax which would exempt food and medicine. They support these three broad-based taxes as a means of procuring additional state monies to provide an adequately financed, equal educational opportunity for children in Michigan.

League members oppose the earmarking of any of these taxes specifically for education. It is the belief of the League the legislature should be free to act in accordance with need. The League long has held the belief the legislature should not be tied by constitutional restrictions. The League also opposed extending any additional taxing powers to local school districts.

Local Leagues throughout the state reached strong agreement opposing state aid to non-public schools. They wish the shared-time, bus privileges and auxiliary services, as currently defined by law, to be continued. For this reason, the League, as an organization, will not participate in the on-going petition drive to amend the state constitution to prohibit aid to non-public schools.

Study Items

League delegates to council also will determine the direction of the second part of the two-year study which will cover the methods by which the performance of local school districts could be evaluated on a state-wide basis. At the same time the League will continue its support of financial programe and policies to promote equality in education.

Delegates will also review League action and support of other state League study items. Current positions on these study items are:

Social Services — Support a system of social services to: (1) meet at least the minimum needs of individuals incapable of self-support and (2) provide services and training for those capable of becoming self-supporting.

Local Government — Support flexible solutions for area problems.

Courts — Support the selection of qualified judges free from political pressures.

Support unification of qualified staff for Michigan courts and the provision of adequate and coordinated services for children and juveniles.

Magic Of Stage To Be Presented Saturday Night

"The Magic of the Stage," an entertaining survey of theatre from the time of the ancient Greeks to modern poetic drama will be presented in Escanaba at 8 p.m. Saturday, May 16.

The troupe of young professional players from the University of Michigan Professional Theatre Program is coming here under sponsorship of the Players de Noc, and the program will be presented in the Escanaba Area High School auditorium.

Admission is $1 and tickets may be purchased at Gust Asp's or at the door. Season ticket holders will use Stub No. 4 for their final production of the 1969-70 season.

Using as its theme the concept of "imagination" the program combines an emphasis on comedy, especially prepared music, and powerful drama to trace theatre through the ages.

Included scenes are Sophocles' "Antigone," Carlo Goldoni's "The Servant of Two Masters," Shakespeare's "Othello," Moliere's "The Misanthrope," Edmund Rostand's "Cyrano De Bergerac" and Edgar Lee Master's "Spoon River Anthology."

"The Magic of the Stage" features a company of young professional actors selected by the University of Michigan Professional Theatre Program at nation-wide auditions.

They are James Baffico, Donna Haley, James Hosbein, Kathleen McGill, and William Tate. This new production of "The Magic of the Stage" was conceived by the production's co-directors James Hosbein and Kathleen McGill. Scenic design is by Stuart K. McDaniel.

All of the "Magic" personnel are currently graduate students in theatre at the University of Michigan, and have had extensive background with theatre organizations around the country.

Manager for the troupe is J. Roland Wilson, administrative assistant to the director of the Professional Theatre Program at The University of Michigan.

Blacks To Get 'Consideration' At Northern

MARQUETTE (AP)—A list of seven black student demands, including one for increased black enrollment, was presented Thursday to Northern Michigan University President John X. Jamrich, who said he sees the demands "as legitimate indications of perceived needs by one group of students. . .which I will consider, but I will initiate no crash program."

The Black Students Association (BSA) which presented the demands among other things called for an increase in black faculty and student body, a black studies program, a black library and a $5,000 appropriation for black cultural events each year. At present, some 140 of the 7800 NMU students are black.

In response to Jamrich's edict Wednesday forbidding student possession of guns on campus, State Rep. D. J. Jacobetti, D-Negaunee, said he has introduced in the House a bill that would give university officials ordinance-making power to deal with students who refused to comply with the no-gun rule.

Violation of the rule would be a criminal offense, he said.

Many NMU students have kept guns in their possession for hunting.

Five Michigan Civil Rights Commission investigators are presently on campus interviewing black students, faculty members and the administration on charges of racism filed by the members of the BSA and their parents.

MRS. MICHELLE Hammerberg Hurshman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hammerberg, is among 200 seniors who will graduate during the 141st annual Spring Commencement exercises at Georgetown College on May 16. Mrs. Hurshman, a bible major, was on the Dean's List for the fall semester of 1969. She is a graduate of Escanaba Area School and transferred to Georgetown from Michigan Tech.

Hellman Perturbed Over Fish Measure

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan House has approved a bill that would relax state restrictions on fish caught and processed in other states or foreign countries, then imported for sale in Michigan.

The 57-37 vote for the bill, which now goes to the Senate, was narrower than the 63-33 margin by which it passed a week ago.

Upper Peninsula opponents of the measure had succeeded in temporarily blocking the bill, subjecting it to the second vote. They failed to return it to committee or persuade a majority to vote against it, however.

Upper Peninsula legislators protested bitterly that the bill would ruin northern Michigan's Great Lakes fishermen.

Rep Russell Hellman, D-Dollar Bay, charged his own Democratic colleagues with "bold-faced lies" in debate on the bill.

Advocates of the bill said last week it would cut the market price of freshwater fish by as much as 11-15 cents a pound and aid an industry threatened by mercury pollution.

The bill would allow importers from major fish producing states such as Wisconsin, Minnesota, Colorado and foreign countries such as Canada, Holland, Germany and Japan to ship fish meeting their own area standards to Michigan if labeled as products of those areas.

Present Michigan law sets size and quality standards that require fish to be reinspected and sorted when arriving in Michigan.

Son Of Professor Pleads Guilty To Hijacking Charge

MIAMI (AP)—The son of a retired Western Michigan University professor pleaded guilty in a federal court Thursday to a charge that he hijacked a light airplane to Cuba in 1968.

Thomas Boynton, who taught sociology at Loras College in Dubuque, Iowa, was accused of commandeering the plane at Marathon, in the Florida keys. He returned to this country last year by way of Canada.

Boynton told authorities he was depressed by personal problems at the time of the hijacking and wanted to leave his woes behind.

A federal judge ordered a background investigation before sentencing.

Circular Grate Pellet Plant Plan Revealed

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Successful startup of a pilot plant making use of a new circular grate system for commercial pelletizing of iron ore pellets for use in blast furnace burden was announced Tuesday by Arthur G. McKee & Company.

The Cleveland, Ohio, firm conducted a demonstration run for the press at its recently completed pilot plant at Oak Creek, a Milwaukee suburb.

Officials told newsmen the new McKee Unipellet circular grate process represented a significant contribution to the industry.

The new concept makes possible pellets of greater uniformity, less subject to degradation during handling and shipping, with significant economies in costs, spokesmen said.

McKee representatives called the concept "a fourth generation" development in pelletizing plant design. They noted the McKee also had participated in three previous processes which account for nearly all of the present production of iron ore pellets.

These included, the vertical shaft furnace, piloted in 1946; the straight grate process, 1952, and the grate-kiln process, 1956.

Forests Or Freedom?

The Sierra Club was in the business of preserving the environment long before the word "ecology" became popular. Founded by the famous naturalist John Muir, who died in 1914, the Sierra Club now has more than 50 chapters in the United States with a combined membership in excess of 100,000. The Upper Peninsula is included in the club's Mackinac Chapter.

Over the years, the Sierra Club has engaged in many battles to preserve the environment, particularly wilderness areas. The club has been active in the Upper Peninsula in an unsuccessful attempt to thwart development of the Sylvania Tract in the Ottawa National Forest.

Some of its efforts, like the Sylvania crusade, have been misguided. Others have resulted in the preservation of natural areas that otherwise might have been despoiled, and for this the American public is indebted to the Sierra Club.

While assuming a leadership role in arousing public sentiment to improve the environment, however, the Sierra Club has developed some blind spots. One of them is glaringly set forth in a book entitled "Ecotactics: The Sierra Club Handbook for Environment Activists," in which it is stated:

"Before long, journalists will play a bigger role in saving the earth than they do now as mere observers and reporters. If they are to serve their profession and their fellow men, journalists will become advocates for the ecological cause. They will serve their profession because the news media is in trouble. For once, I find myself agreeing, but for different reasons. with Spiro Agnew. The media has grown 'fat and irresponsible.' There are 'effete, impudent snobs' in our midst, but they are the media barons. The press today is IN-credible. Because of its insistence on OBJECTIVITY, the press is impotent. This objectivity, the distinguished David Deitch of the Boston Globe wrote in The Nation, 'is pernicious to society as well as to the institutions of journalism. There is no evidence that it serves a public interest.'"

The temptation is to regard that passage from "Ecotactics" as something that was written in jest, but this is doubtful because the Sierra Club isn't known for having a sense of humor.

Nor, if it takes this portion of its handbook seriously, will it ever be known for common sense. If any credibility can be attached to this policy statement from the handbook, the Sierra Club is dedicated to preserving wilderness at the expense of democracy.

When, in a free society, men are denied the opportunity to decide issues on the basis of objective information, that society is no longer free. When journalists cease to be objective in their reporting they deny the people the means to make informed judgments.

In attempting to prevent a fair hearing for those who may disagree with the Sierra Club, that organization is saying, in effect, that it is more interested in trees than in truth, more concerned with forests than with freedom.

Fords For Russia

Almost 40 years to the day after the Soviets induced his grandfather to set them up in the automotive industry, the Communists asked Henry Ford II to build them the largest truck factory in the world which would produce 150,000 vehicles a year.

In 1930 the senior Ford agreed to supply the Soviets with patents, licenses, spare parts and technical training to establish what was to become the world-famous Gorki auto plant.

Communist engineers were brought to America so they could receive training at various Ford factories.

In his visit to the United States in 1959, Nikita Khrushchev admitted that American aid had provided the Soviet Union with the best in automotive technology. At the Gorki plant, he said, "Americans produced the conveyor belt, the most advanced industrial process in the world."

Since the Soviets have shown a remarkable ability to copy but also a dismal failure to improve on the copy, they now want Henry Ford II to sell them his company's newest technology. At this point it appears that the younger Ford is skeptical of the advisability of "arming" the Communists with American know-how.

Although he describes himself as a free trader, Ford qualifies his stand with the statement that he would not transact any deal with the Kremlin which would "involve the defense interests of the United States. That is one of the things we have to study."

As Ford is aware, a truck can be used to haul produce to the market or troops and arms to the war front.

The U. S. wouldn't give away its military secrets. Maybe the same caution should be used with industrial Technology.

Peninsula Potpourri

Charles Baullinger of Mass says his faith in human honesty has been restored as the result of an unusual experience. He was dipping smelt in the L'Anse area when he discovered his wallet — containing some money, licenses and important papers — was missing. The next morning he received a call from Emil Kezerle, Iron Mountain, who informed him that the wallet had been caught in his dipnet. Kezerle was fishing downstream from Baullinger at the time. Kezerle refuse any reward when he returned the wallet.

Letters To The Press

STUDENT VIEWPOINT

As a student at Bay de Noc Community College (although I write as an individual, not as a student), I am very happy that the faculty of that institution (also as individuals) have seen fit to speak out concerning the events of the recent past. It's a good feeling to know that the people who work for you in school don't quit when office hours are over, but that they are genuinely concerned for today's youth. I must express disappointment, however, at the subject, the catalyst, as it were, of their concern.

To say that I regret the deaths of the four Kent State students would be a gross understatement. I do not begrudge their classmates their rightful time of mourning; in fact, I join Messrs. Howard, Youngs, Mitchell, Plowman and Schoen in their distaste for this tragedy. However, an even greater tragedy is that these five men neglected (or perhaps chose to neglect) the underlying causes and effects of those events.

Although they wrote as individuals, it was mentioned that the five men are educators. Therefore, it was with great interest that I noted the lack of even a passing reference to the fact that over 135 colleges and universities across the country have closed as a result of the Kent aftermath. If this fact does not interest or concern them as members of the teaching profession, if they insist on speaking strictly as individuals, doesn't that fact interest or concern them at least as parents of future college age students?

If you want to talk about repression, sirs, let's talk about the mass repression of students numbering in the hundreds of thousands whose educations will be caught up short through no fault or desire of their own. Let's talk about students who saw fit to avoid the violent demonstrations (and will no doubt be branded as apathetic and unconcerned), who were given their walking papers before the semester had ended. Let's talk about the seniors whose graduations and eventual employment will be delayed indefinitely as a result of actions which they thought well not to become involved in. Then you're talking about repression. And since repression is a subject which is bandied about with such great relish in these disorderly times, let's keep on about it.

Let us talk about the repression of the normal lives of certain National Guardsmen who are quite possibly fearing for their lives at this moment. Rightfully so, some might say. But before we condemn anybody, before we get out the knotted hemp and throw it over the nearest tree, let's think things over.

The young men who were called in to "repress the dissent" of the emotional college students must, in all fairness, be considered just as emotional. The Guardsmen were just as young, some even younger than their adversaries, and yet, when they displayed the same human weaknesses (i. e. fear and irrationalism) shown by those adversaries, they were branded as murderers. Never mind the fact that they were called away from their families, yanked away from jobs which cause no such heartache. Never mind the fact that they are little more than children themselves.

Putting a uniform on a boy and thrusting a gun in his hand does not make an instant man, though that is the argument of those who would give them the right to vote. (If anything, their actions only serve to support the prosecution's case against liberalizing the suffrage.) Even if there were such a thing as "instant man" via uniform and gun, men are no less human than students, nor do they cherish their lives any the less.

When the National Guard was called in to supress the violence in Detroit's long hot summer of 1967, and blacks were killed while "trying to get some answers," no one thought to point angry fingers and shake angry fists. And no one thought to call them Nazis. At that time, public sympathy was with the Guardsmen, for getting stuck with a bum job. It's this student's opinion, after having had a taste (however slight) of mass student violence, that the lot of these particular Guardsmen, who had no choice in being there, is more than just a bum job — it's a crying shame.

Concerning the presence of the four youths at that fateful (and fatal) rally, it's true that all who follow a fire truck are not arsonists. However, it's also true that it doesn't take a lot of horse sense to recognize trouble when it's breathing down one's neck. The students at Kent State set fire to a building and became so violent as to require the presence of the National Guard (at least someone thought so).

Anyone who would deliberately and intentionally appear with such a group is asking, if not begging for trouble. There are demonstrations, and there are demonstrations. But no one in his right mind could look at a situation like that, see the violence, the fever pitch of the crowd, and still not suspect that there was going to be enough trouble to warrant leaving. No one is that naive. And if they are, that naivete completely negates the premise that they are mature individuals looking for solutions to the problems of the day, which is fine with me.

Perhaps I have an inferiority complex, but I do not flatter myself to the point of thinking that I, in my 20 years of life, have learned enough to justify burning, looting, and killing in order to change the mind of the President of the United States.

The only problem with today's youth is that it is having a giant temper tantrum and needs to have its collective rear end spanked and allowance taken away until it grows up. One of these days, the non-violent students are going to realize that it is not their classmates that are doing the rioting, it's professional agitators who are trained as skillfully to incite as the National Guard is to control. And that makes the whole thing a terrible waste. Someday I, and others like me will get the courage and intelligence to say to these spoiled children, "This is my school, and if you don't want to play my way, then I'll take my school and go home."

Score is 30-30. Your serve, gentlemen.

CONSOLIDATION VOTE

On May 18 the Hermansville School District will again be voting whether to consolidate with a neighboring school district. Since 1957, there have been two county, one local, and one area study of this end of the county and two previous consolidation elections and now here we go again. Has anyone considered how much time and tax money that been spent in these past 13 years for these studies and elections, and still the school districts remain the same?

If this situation wasn't so tragic, it would be funny. Here are people who would never consider going out to buy a 1970 car at a 1970 price and then accept a model made in 1950-60, but yet are paying a 1970 price for a 1950-60 model educational system.

Many people who are considering voting down this issue, would never dream of denying any child food, clothing and shelter, and yet they will deny this same child, the next most basic need — a good all around better education. These same people will spare no expense to buy a child some new gadget, gimmick, toy or plaything, that quickly becomes broken, or out of date in a very short time, yet when it comes to paying more for education, they complain it will cost too much.

In the neighboring district, one man said he was voting this issue down and was going to talk others into the same, because 20 years ago, Hermansville turned them down. Why should the pupils now be punished for what our school board did then?

Some are going to vote this down because they do not want to have their children bussed. What's so wrong with bussing? When these children step on that school bus, it is the responsibility of the school to see that he gets there and back home again safely. What's wrong with riding on a nice, warm school bus when it is raining or storming outside?

Another reason given for voting this down is that we would lose our identity. What is this identity? Who is it really important to? When a boy or girl leaves school and applies either for a job, college entrance, or goes into the armed services, they are asked where they live and what school they attended. Nowhere are they asked what basketball team they played for. When a school is requested for a student's record, it means their school marks and scholastic achievements. Let's quit kidding about this identity thing—its not important to any student's future.

Then there are those people who won't even bother to go out and vote because they no longer have children in school. Don't you care what your tax dollars are buying for the school children? Some of those students are your grandchildren, relatives, and friends. Don't they deserve the best education your money can buy? Those twelve school years of a child's life is the very basis of his future wherever he may go later on. Without a good comprehensive education, he may get into a rut he may never get out of.

If this election fails, again it will be because of petty pride, prejudice, and bigotry. The choice is yours! Make up your own mind. If you get an anonymous letter or phone call telling you to vote "No", ask yourself why this party will not identify himself or herself. Think about this and then make up your own choice. The future of many students depends on your choice — let's hope we make the right one.

TIME FOR A CHANGE

Since when have children ruled this country? By what right, by what accomplishment, should these teenagers—become the rulers of our time?

It is time to call a halt; time to live in an adult world where we belong, and time to put these teenagers in their place. We owe the younger generation what all older generations have owed younger generations, love, protection to a point, and respect when it is deserved. Nothing more.

We, the older generation, and taxpayers are very sick and tired of reading, hearing and seeing our schools destroyed by this so-called younger generation of so-called progressive educated people. It is time perhaps, that too much money and effort has been employed in giving these teenagers the education they do not seem to appreciate. Did the older generation have the fine buildings, the fine housing on campus, the broad educational subjects? No. But they brought forth a good Nation with the highest standard of living on earth.

It is time for our colleges to set standards by which the students are to live by, and when these students don't, out they go. They are to obey the rules set down just as all people are to obey the laws of the land. There should be no arguing about it, no protesting, no burning and destruction of buildings allowed.

It is time that the National Guard is issued orders to shoot with live ammunition (but not to kill) all who are desecrating and destroying our property. We have had enough pussyfooting around with the small minority of students who want to push their weight around.

It is time that the majority of students and good teachers in our colleges organize and squash these violent movements before they get started. It is time that the majority show the older generation and the rest of the world that it is only the minority who are sick and intolerant of the laws and ways of this nation.

STUDENTS EXPLOITED

While the letter to the Press, "Taking Issue", from Messrs. Howard, Young, Schoen, Plowman, and Mitchell is worth the time it takes to read it, the "Silent Majority" have other thoughts on the dangers to the United States.

John Chamberlain expresses those thoughts very well in his article, "Nation Has Returned To Problems Of '30's", which is printed on the same page as "Taking Issue."

Mr. Chamberlain tells it as it is in his last paragraph: "Why are we reduced to such a state? It is because the Left understands the principles of social justice. It knows the dynamics of trapping our innocents into motions that end with the innocents knocking themselves out."

There is much to be learned that is not printed in books, and it is learned from experience. That is something college students do not have. They are being exploited—by the Left.

MISSED THE POINT

In your Tuesday issue five college instructors go to long and garrulous length to completely miss the point of who is responsible for the shooting deaths at Kent University.

The National Guard was called there by proper authorities because of the likelihood of illegal and violent rioting by a mob. If there had been no rioting there would have been no Guards. No Guards, no shooting. It's as simple as that.

The college people seem to think that the Guards (many of whom are also "kids") should allow themselves to be stoned into submission by a howling mob that outnumbered them by ten to one or more.

The last issue of Time magazine points out that seven policemen have been killed by mobs and 47 have been wounded. Where are the sympathy marches, the sit-ins and cryins and letters to the press in sorrow for the seven dead officers and their widows and orphans?

Mother's Son Didn't Attend 'Other' School

Dear Ann Landers: Please print this letter so "Heartbroken Mother" will see it. She's the woman whose brilliant son didn't get into Harvard, Yale or Dartmouth. Our son was accepted by all three and now I wish he had gone to a nice school in the Midwest.

When Jack left home he was a mannerly, respectful boy, neat and clean — a joy to his mother's heart. After two years out East, the boy's hair is so long it makes me sick. His moustache drifts in the soup. He wears sandals, faded jeans and love beads. He argues with his dad about politics and has brought such radical kids home for weekends that we told him to come alone from now on or stay up there. I thought I'd have a heart attack when Jack announced last week, "The only salvation for this country is to burn everything down and start again."

I hope every mother whose son didn't make the Ivy League will see this and consider herself fortunate. Ours did and I am — Sorry

Dear Sorry: It's not the Ivy, it's Jack. Even the quiet midwestern schools have their share of nutty radicals who want to burn everything down. Your son would have found his soul-mates.

The majority of the students at the Ivy schools are not in sympathy with the wild-eyed far left. In fact they are getting fed up with having their education interrupted by a handful of kooks. And I say it's about time.

Dear Ann Landers: I am being married in June and my mother is driving me nuts. She insists that the white aisle cloth be put down AFTER the groom's mother is seated. The reason is obvious. She wants to walk on it first.

I've asked several people what is the correct procedure and nobody knows. I'm afraid my fiance's mother will be hurt when she sees the aisle cloth laid down after she is seated. The two women don't get along very well as it is. This could be the straw that breaks the camel's back. I'm sure you have figured out that my mother is a strong person — considers herself right in all matters and has never made a mistake in her life. Comment, please. — Mayfield, Ky.

Dear May: Since your mother has probably already walked on water she shouldn't make such a big deal out of walking on the aisle cloth first. I hope she reconsiders in the interest of peace and harmony.

Dear Ann Landers: I boiled when I read the letter from the teacher who resented having a diabetic child in her class. She said the kid was wasting the taxpayers' money by disrupting the class to go to the bathroom several times a day and eating mid-morning snacks.

As a college junior who has had diabetes for many years, I'd like to tell her how sorry I am that I wasted the taxpayers' money and inconvenienced my teachers by going to the bathroom and eating mid-morning snacks.

I am also sorry she is allowed to teach. With her attitude she should not be in the school system. I hope her signature gave no clue as to her identity because I'll bet there are several million diabetics who would love to wring her neck. — Insulin Izzy

Dear Iz: I am neither diabetic nor do I have any diabetic relatives, but "include me in."

U-M Professor Claims Housing Slump Near End

DEARBORN (AP) — The slump in housing has ended, leading the nation out of the current economical slowdown, Dr. Karl G. Pearson, professor at the University of Michigan, said here today.

"The Federal Reserve is easing credit to push more money into housing," Pearson told Michigan Realtors Women's Council members. He said savings institutions are at long last enjoying a net inflow of funds for home financing.

Vacancy rates in housing are the lowest in 12 years, and the housing shortage the worst since the end of World War II, Dr. Pearson said.

"The push is on for low and moderate income housing with financing provided by new government programs. And investments in housing are expanding faster than the economy as a whole," he explained.

Michigan is the nation's No. 1 salt producer.

Forests Or Freedom?

The Sierra Club was in the business of preserving the environment long before the word "ecology" became popular. Founded by the famous naturalist John Muir, who died in 1914, the Sierra Club now has more than 50 chapters in the United States with a combined membership in excess of 100,000. The Upper Peninsula is included in the club's Mackinac Chapter.

Over the years, the Sierra Club has engaged in many battles to preserve the environment, particularly wilderness areas. The club has been active in the Upper Peninsula in an unsuccessful attempt to thwart development of the Sylvania Tract in the Ottawa National Forest.

Some of its efforts, like the Sylvania crusade, have been misguided. Others have resulted in the preservation of natural areas that otherwise might have been despoiled, and for this the American public is indebted to the Sierra Club.

While assuming a leadership role in arousing public sentiment to improve the environment, however, the Sierra Club has developed some blind spots. One of them is glaringly set forth in a book entitled "Ecotactics: The Sierra Club Handbook for Environment Activists," in which it is stated:

"Before long, journalists will play a bigger role in saving the earth than they do now as mere observers and reporters. If they are to serve their profession and their fellow men, journalists will become advocates for the ecological cause. They will serve their profession because the news media is in trouble. For once, I find myself agreeing, but for different reasons. with Spiro Agnew. The media has grown 'fat and irresponsible.' There are 'effete, impudent snobs' in our midst, but they are the media barons. The press today is IN-credible. Because of its insistence on OBJECTIVITY, the press is impotent. This objectivity, the distinguished David Deitch of the Boston Globe wrote in The Nation, 'is pernicious to society as well as to the institutions of journalism. There is no evidence that it serves a public interest.'"

The temptation is to regard that passage from "Ecotactics" as something that was written in jest, but this is doubtful because the Sierra Club isn't known for having a sense of humor.

Nor, if it takes this portion of its handbook seriously, will it ever be known for common sense. If any credibility can be attached to this policy statement from the handbook, the Sierra Club is dedicated to preserving wilderness at the expense of democracy.

When, in a free society, men are denied the opportunity to decide issues on the basis of objective information, that society is no longer free. When journalists cease to be objective in their reporting they deny the people the means to make informed judgments.

In attempting to prevent a fair hearing for those who may disagree with the Sierra Club, that organization is saying, in effect, that it is more interested in trees than in truth, more concerned with forests than with freedom.

Fords For Russia

Almost 40 years to the day after the Soviets induced his grandfather to set them up in the automotive industry, the Communists asked Henry Ford II to build them the largest truck factory in the world which would produce 150,000 vehicles a year.

In 1930 the senior Ford agreed to supply the Soviets with patents, licenses, spare parts and technical training to establish what was to become the world-famous Gorki auto plant.

Communist engineers were brought to America so they could receive training at various Ford factories.

In his visit to the United States in 1959, Nikita Khrushchev admitted that American aid had provided the Soviet Union with the best in automotive technology. At the Gorki plant, he said, "Americans produced the conveyor belt, the most advanced industrial process in the world."

Since the Soviets have shown a remarkable ability to copy but also a dismal failure to improve on the copy, they now want Henry Ford II to sell them his company's newest technology. At this point it appears that the younger Ford is skeptical of the advisability of "arming" the Communists with American know-how.

Although he describes himself as a free trader. Ford qualifies his stand with the statement that he would not transact any deal with the Kremlin which would "involve the defense interests of the United States. That is one of the things we have to study."

As Ford is aware, a truck can be used to haul produce to the market or troops and arms to the war front.

The U. S. wouldn't give away its military secrets. Maybe the same caution should be used with industrial Technology.

Peninsula Potpourri

Charles Baullinger of Mass says his faith in human honesty has been restored as the result of an unusual experience. He was dipping smelt in the L'Anse area when he discovered his wallet — containing some money, licenses and important papers — was missing. The next morning he received a call from Emil Kezerle, Iron Mountain, who informed him that the wallet had been caught in his dipnet. Kezerle was fishing downstream from Baullinger at the time. Kezerle refuse any reward when he returned the wallet.

Letters To The Press

STUDENT VIEWPOINT

As a student at Bay de Noc Community College (although I write as an individual, not as a student), I am very happy that the faculty of that institution (also as individuals) have seen fit to speak out concerning the events of the recent past. It's a good feeling to know that the people who work for you in school don't quit when office hours are over, but that they are genuinely concerned for today's youth. I must express disappointment, however, at the subject, the catalyst, as it were, of their concern.

To say that I regret the deaths of the four Kent State students would be a gross understatement. I do not begrudge their classmates their rightful time of mourning; in fact, I join Messrs. Howard, Youngs, Mitchell, Plowman and Schoen in their distaste for this tragedy. However, an even greater tragedy is that these five men neglected (or perhaps chose to neglect) the underlying causes and effects of those events.

Although they wrote as individuals, it was mentioned that the five men are educators. Therefore, it was with great interest that I noted the lack of even a passing reference to the fact that over 135 colleges and universities across the country have closed as a result of the Kent aftermath. If this fact does not interest or concern them as members of the teaching profession, if they insist on speaking strictly as individuals, doesn't that fact interest or concern them at least as parents of future college age students?

If you want to talk about repression, sirs, let's talk about the mass repression of students numbering in the hundreds of thousands whose educations will be caught up short through no fault or desire of their own. Let's talk about students who saw fit to avoid the violent demonstrations (and will no doubt be branded as apathetic and unconcerned), who were given their walking papers before the semester had ended. Let's talk about the seniors whose graduations and eventual employment will be delayed indefinitely as a result of actions which they thought well not to become involved in. Then you're talking about repression. And since repression is a subject which is bandied about with such great relish in these disorderly times, let's keep on about it.

Let us talk about the repression of the normal lives of certain National Guardsmen who are quite possibly fearing for their lives at this moment. Rightfully so, some might say. But before we condemn anybody, before we get out the knotted hemp and throw it over the nearest tree, let's think things over.

The young men who were called in to "repress the dissent" of the emotional college students must, in all fairness, be considered just as emotional. The Guardsmen were just as young, some even younger than their adversaries, and yet, when they displayed the same human weaknesses (i. e. fear and irrationalism) shown by those adversaries, they were branded as murderers. Never mind the fact that they were called away from their families, yanked away from jobs which cause no such heartache. Never mind the fact that they are little more than children themselves.

Putting a uniform on a boy and thrusting a gun in his hand does not make an instant man, though that is the argument of those who would give them the right to vote. (If anything, their actions only serve to support the prosecution's case against liberalizing the suffrage.) Even if there were such a thing as "instant man" via uniform and gun, men are no less human than students, nor do they cherish their lives any the less.

When the National Guard was called in to supress the violence in Detroit's long hot summer of 1967, and blacks were killed while "trying to get some answers," no one thought to point angry fingers and shake angry fists. And no one thought to call them Nazis. At that time, public sympathy was with the Guardsmen, for getting stuck with a bum job. It's this student's opinion, after having had a taste (however slight) of mass student violence, that the lot of these particular Guardsmen, who had no choice in being there, is more than just a bum job — it's a crying shame.

Concerning the presence of the four youths at that fateful (and fatal) rally, it's true that all who follow a fire truck are not arsonists. However, it's also true that it doesn't take a lot of horse sense to recognize trouble when it's breathing down one's neck. The students at Kent State set fire to a building and became so violent as to require the presence of the National Guard (at least someone thought so).

Anyone who would deliberately and intentionally appear with such a group is asking, if not begging for trouble. There are demonstrations, and there are demonstrations. But no one in his right mind could look at a situation like that, see the violence, the fever pitch of the crowd, and still not suspect that there was going to be enough trouble to warrant leaving. No one is that naive. And if they are, that naivete completely negates the premise that they are mature individuals looking for solutions to the problems of the day, which is fine with me.

Perhaps I have an inferiority complex, but I do not flatter myself to the point of thinking that I, in my 20 years of life, have learned enough to justify burning, looting, and killing in order to change the mind of the President of the United States.

The only problem with today's youth is that it is having a giant temper tantrum and needs to have its collective rear end spanked and allowance taken away until it grows up. One of these days, the non-violent students are going to realize that it is not their classmates that are doing the rioting, it's professional agitators who are trained as skillfully to incite as the National Guard is to control. And that makes the whole thing a terrible waste. Someday I, and others like me will get the courage and intelligence to say to these spoiled children, "This is my school, and if you don't want to play my way, then I'll take my school and go home."

Score is 30-30. Your serve, gentlemen.

CONSOLIDATION VOTE

On May 18 the Hermansville School District will again be voting whether to consolidate with a neighboring school district. Since 1957, there have been two county, one local, and one area study of this end of the county and two previous consolidation elections and now here we go again. Has anyone considered how much time and tax money that been spent in these past 13 years for these studies and elections, and still the school districts remain the same?

If this situation wasn't so tragic, it would be funny. Here are people who would never consider going out to buy a 1970 car at a 1970 price and then accept a model made in 1950-60, but yet are paying a 1970 price for a 1950-60 model educational system.

Many people who are considering voting down this issue, would never dream of denying any child food, clothing and shelter, and yet they will deny this same child, the next most basic need — a good all around better education. These same people will spare no expense to buy a child some new gadget, gimmick, toy or plaything, that quickly becomes broken, or out of date in a very short time, yet when it comes to paying more for education, they complain it will cost too much.

In the neighboring district, one man said he was voting this issue down and was going to talk others into the same, because 20 years ago, Hermansville turned them down. Why should the pupils now be punished for what our school board did then?

Some are going to vote this down because they do not want to have their children bussed. What's so wrong with bussing? When these children step on that school bus, it is the responsibility of the school to see that he gets there and back home again safely. What's wrong with riding on a nice, warm school bus when it is raining or storming outside?

Another reason given for voting this down is that we would lose our identity. What is this identity? Who is it really important to? When a boy or girl leaves school and applies either for a job, college entrance, or goes into the armed services, they are asked where they live and what school they attended. Nowhere are they asked what basketball team they played for. When a school is requested for a student's record, it means their school marks and scholastic achievements. Let's quit kidding about this identity thing—its not important to any student's future.

Then there are those people who won't even bother to go out and vote because they no longer have children in school. Don't you care what your tax dollars are buying for the school children? Some of those students are your grandchildren, relatives, and friends. Don't they deserve the best education your money can buy? Those twelve school years of a child's life is the very basis of his future wherever he may go later on. Without a good comprehensive education, he may get into a rut he may never get out of.

If this election fails, again it will be because of petty pride, prejudice, and bigotry. The choice is yours! Make up your own mind. If you get an anonymous letter or phone call telling you to vote "No", ask yourself why this party will not identify himself or herself. Think about this and then make up your own choice. The future of many students depends on your choice — let's hope we make the right one.

TIME FOR A CHANGE

Since when have children ruled this country? By what right, by what accomplishment, should these teenagers—become the rulers of our time?

It is time to call a halt; time to live in an adult world where we belong, and time to put these teenagers in their place. We owe the younger generation what all older generations have owed younger generations, love, protection to a point, and respect when it is deserved. Nothing more.

We, the older generation, and taxpayers are very sick and tired of reading, hearing and seeing our schools destroyed by this so-called younger generation of so-called progressive educated people. It is time perhaps, that too much money and effort has been employed in giving these teenagers the education they do not seem to appreciate. Did the older generation have the fine buildings, the fine housing on campus, the broad educational subjects? No. But they brought forth a good Nation with the highest standard of living on earth.

It is time for our colleges to set standards by which the students are to live by, and when these students don't, out they go. They are to obey the rules set down just as all people are to obey the laws of the land. There should be no arguing about it, no protesting, no burning and destruction of buildings allowed.

It is time that the National Guard is issued orders to shoot with live ammunition (but not to kill) all who are desecrating and destroying our property. We have had enough pussyfooting around with the small minority of students who want to push their weight around.

It is time that the majority of students and good teachers in our colleges organize and squash these violent movements before they get started. It is time that the majority show the older generation and the rest of the world that it is only the minority who are sick and intolerant of the laws and ways of this nation.

STUDENTS EXPLOITED

While the letter to the Press, "Taking Issue", from Messrs. Howard, Young, Schoen, Plowman, and Mitchell is worth the time it takes to read it, the "Silent Majority" have other thoughts on the dangers to the United States.

John Chamberlain expresses those thoughts very well in his article, "Nation Has Returned To Problems Of '30's", which is printed on the same page as "Taking Issue."

Mr. Chamberlain tells it as it is in his last paragraph: "Why are we reduced to such a state? It is because the Left understands the principles of social justice. It knows the dynamics of trapping our innocents into motions that end with the innocents knocking themselves out."

There is much to be learned that is not printed in books, and it is learned from experience. That is something college students do not have. They are being exploited—by the Left.

MISSED THE POINT

In your Tuesday issue five college instructors go to long and garrulous length to completely miss the point of who is responsible for the shooting deaths at Kent University.

The National Guard was called there by proper authorities because of the likelihood of illegal and violent rioting by a mob. If there had been no rioting there would have been no Guards. No Guards, no shooting. It's as simple as that.

The college people seem to think that the Guards (many of whom are also "kids") should allow themselves to be stoned into submission by a howling mob that outnumbered them by ten to one or more.

The last issue of Time magazine points out that seven policemen have been killed by mobs and 47 have been wounded. Where are the sympathy marches, the sit-ins and cry-ins and letters to the press in sorrow for the seven dead officers and their widows and orphans?

Bucher Says Fear Of Jobs Reason No Help Offered

DETROIT — (AP) — Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher of the ill-fated spy ship USS Puelbo says there were many persons in high positions who "because of their jobs" did not come forward to help in his defense.

"I feel this was unfortunate," Bucher said at an informal press gathering before a Michigan Sports Hall of Fame banquet Thursday.

He declined to elaborate on his statement.

Bucher was an honored guest at the banquet.

His autobiography, scheduled for publication in August, will contain information about the "Pueblo Incident" never before revealed, Bucher said.

"The most important thing that has not been made known that will be in my book is on what happened and why it happened. What the North Koreans were doing there and why.

"I've just gotten around to figuring it out," he said.

Looking frail and speaking softly, Bucher declined to comment on what he termed "political questions."

North Koreans captured Bucher, his crew and the Pueblo Jan. 25, 1968, off the coast of North Korea. After being held prisoners for 11 months, Bucher and his crew were released and returned to the United States Dec. 23, 1968.

"Do you find it difficult to sleep, thinking about your ordeal?" he was asked.

"I sleep well," he said. "But I had a dream—a nightmare—for a couple weeks that we had to go back on some kind of technicality."

"I try to think how I could have done my job better," he added. "... If the situation was the same I'm sure I couldn't have done anything differently."

Bucher, who played football at Boys Town, Neb., was last in Detroit in Oct., 1969 to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the city's famed Boys Bowl football game. Bucher was on the Boys Town team that met Detroit Catholic Central High School in that game 25 years earlier.

Ever since the Navy completed a Board of Inquiry into the Pueblo Incident Bucher has been assigned to the Naval School at Monterey, Calif., where ie is in a management program.

"That's where the Navy sent me," he said bleakly. "I'm no manager. But I go where I'm told."

Issue Warning On Long-Term Auto Lease Deception

Operators of service stations, used car lots or similar businesses were warned today by the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce to check carefully on the sale of long-term automobile leasing plans.

Walter G. Lewke, manager of the Chamber, said serious questions connected with the sale of brokerages have been raised by the National Better Business Bureau, with which the Chamber is affiliated.

Typically, said NBBB, a local businessman is approached by a representative with a plan held out as a source of supplemental income through leasing new cars to the public on a long-term basis with an option to buy.

While the deceptions have not been identified with all companies offering brokerages of this kind, says NBBB, evidence indicates they are widespread enough to warrant extreme caution by local businessmen.

Before making any commitments, check the firm's reputation with your local Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce, it was advised.

Market Gives Up Most Early Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market gave up most of its early gains early this afternoon in quiet trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 1.85 at 686.64 after being up nearly 8 points in early trading.

Advances, which had led declines by 3 to 1 earlier, held only a slim lead over losers at midday.

Profit taking and a supply of stocks for sale on market gains washed out any technical rally, according to analysts.

Brokers had looked for a technical rally this morning because of the strong recovery the market made late Thursday when the Dow closed down 9.01 points after having been off more than 17 points.

Steels and aircrafts were down while most other categories were mixed or slightly ahead.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was ahead .2 at 241.5, with industrials up .2, rails ahead .2, and utilities up .2.

Market Gives Up Most Early Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market gave up most of its early gains early this afternoon in quiet trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 1.85 at 686.64 after being up nearly 8 points in early trading.

Advances, which had led declines by 3 to 1 earlier, held only a slim lead over losers at midday.

Profit taking and a supply of stocks for sale on market gains washed out any technical rally, according to analysts.

Brokers had looked for a technical rally this morning because of the strong recovery the market made late Thursday when the Dow closed down 9.01 points after having been off more than 17 points.

Steels and aircrafts were down while most other categories were mixed or slightly ahead.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was ahead .2 at 241.5, with industrials up .2, rails ahead .2, and utilities up .2.

Four cabins have been reported broken into in an area northwest of Perkins in Baldwin Township, according to State Police.

Officers said a cabin in this area located just west of Beaver Crossing, owned by Melvin Olson, of Bay View Location, was broken into between 8 and 12 p. m., on Thursday.

The break-in was discovered by Olson, who had been away from the cabin during the time of occurance and entry was made by forcing open a rear door, police said.

A lever-action .22 rifle, valued at $55 and a tool box full of tools valued at $60 were reported to have been taken.

President Finds Florida 'Climate' More Comfortable

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — It was 1968 all over again on a miniature scale.

President Nixon, arriving in Florida Thursday night for a working holiday, was greeted by a campaign-type crowd, rather modest in size and lung power but well supplied with tiny American flags and some professionally prepared signboards applauding his Southeast Asia policy.

The President, responding eagerly, mixed with his greeters —military personnel of Homestead Air Force Base and their dependents—and later summed up for newsmen the sentiments he gleaned from those he chatted with:

"Mainly, we support you; you know, we trust what you're doing; we think you ought to make the decisions—and, actually, they're interested in bringing . . . peace to the world, peace with justice."

Perhaps as many as 1,200 turned out to welcome Nixon and wife Pat at the base across Biscayne Bay from their waterfront home here. The base has a population of about 23,000 military men and dependents.

Body Recovered From Plane Crash

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — The body of one of nine women who died in the crash of a Tag Airlines plane in Lake Erie Jan. 28 was recovered Thursday by divers 16 miles northeast of Lorain.

The body was not identified immediately. It was the first to be found since the plane plummeted through an ice floe.

Scuba diver John Hazelbaker of Columbus said he saw two other bodies amid wreckage at a depth of 80 feet but divers were unable to get them out before operations were called off for the day.

One engine of the twin-engine craft also was brought up.

Recovery operations, directed by the National Transportation Safety Board, resume Friday.

Dentist Hopes More People 'Did Care'

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A tall, grey-eyed young Atlanta dentist wishes the American people would care. About "I Care."

"There are 1,500 brave men over there, in North Vietnamese prisons, kept in cages and underground caves fit only for pigs," says Dr. John Linder with an indignant shake of his head.

The 26-year-old dentist is trying to stir up indignation in others—millions of others—to bring them "out of apathy into commitment" by getting them to write letters to Hanoi, or sign "I Care" petitions.

The petition reads simply: "I care about the inhumane treatment our men are receiving as prisoners in Southeast Asia. You have my support in your efforts to bring relief to them."

Eventually, these petitions will be sent to Texas multimillionaire Ross Perot, who is organizing a nationwide truck pickup to send millions of them to Hanoi.

Thus far, Linder has 10,000 petitions which he admits is below expectations, but 500-600 are coming in every few days. And the "I Care" movement, started three months ago, already has spread to Minneapolis, St. Louis and Dayton, Ohio.

"I Care" seeks the release of the names of all prisoners, more humane treatment for them and inspection of prisons by the International Red Cross.

"Public support is the only voice to which Hanoi will listen," Linder said in an interview in his small modern paneled office.

Every concession granted thus far concerning American prisoners has been in response to massive public opinion, said Linder.

FBI Plans Probe For Six Georgia Rioting Deaths

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has announced plans to investigate the deaths of six Augusta, Ga., Negroes who were shot during rioting there Monday night.

Meanwhile, doctors who have examined the bodies are unable to agree on how many times the victims were shot.

The Justice Department's Civil Rights Division will conduct the investigation in an attempt to determine whether federal civil rights laws were violated, the department said Thursday.

The men were killed during Monday night's disorders, in which Augusta police said there were incidents of looting and arson.

The disorders were touched off by the beating death of a Negro youth in the Richmond County jail in Augusta. The civil rights division is also investigating that death, the department said.

Gas Supply Hearing Adjourned By PSC

Michigan Public Service Commission adjourned hearings this afternoon after four days of testimony on complaints filed against Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., by three Upper Peninsula communities and Newberry State Hospital, which want natural gas service.

The City of Manistique and townships of Watersmeet and Marenisco and the hospital claim the Commission should force the utility to provide them with gas service, but the utility maintains that all four projects would lose money.

All three communities completed their cases during the week, but the hospital, represented by the State Building Division, will present an additional witness when the hearings reconvene in Lansing at a later date.

Most of today's session was taken up with Manistique's city attorney, Robert Berger, questioning Charles Maxwell, head of the gas division of the MPSC staff, on rebuttal testimony. Yesterday the township supervisors from Watersmeet and Marenisco completed their presentations.

Michigan Consolidated continued to hold to its position that although it had originally planned to supply the communities and hospital, rising costs and an inadequate rate order from the Michigan Public Service Commission forced it to cancel its plans.

It said the projects would require an investment of $2.7 million, but at the end of five years the company would still be losing money on them and have an accumulated loss of $200,000.

Students Offer Apology To Ford For 'Rudeness'

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The Student Government Association of Wichita State University has approved a resolution to present a formal apology to Rep. Gerald Ford, R-Mich., House minority leader, for the "discourteous interruptions" during his speech last Thursday.

Ford was forced to stop talking several times while students protesting President Nixon's Cambodia decision and the killing of Kent State University students, jeered and chanted.

The resolution, passed by the SGA Wednesday and introduced by Joe Speelman, a liberal arts junior, said that a university campus should be a place where a person can express his viewpoint, "no matter how disagreeable or non-substantive it might be."

Ford supported President Nixon during the speech, the final address this year in the Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial Lecture Series.

Salem Lutheran To Observe Mission Sunday

Salem Ev. Lutheran Church, 12th St., and 4th Ave S., will observe Mission Festival this Sunday, announces Pastor J. J. Wendland. Services are at 8 and 10:45 a. m. This is appropriate since it is Pentecost Sunday, the birthday of the Christian church. Salem is a member of the Wisconsin Synod, briefly referred to as WELS.

Emphasis this Sunday will be on the World Mission carried on by the members of WELS. For many years in expanding measures, World Missions have been carried on. Today the sun never sets upon WELS Missions.

Countries where World Missions are supported and carried on by the members of WELS are: East and West Germany, Zambia and Malawai in Central Africa, Puerto Rico, Mexico, Japan, Hong Kong and Formosa. WELS is in fellowship with independent Lutheran churches in Africa, France, Germany and Finland.

Requests from pastors and congregations are directed to WELS from Indonesia and India. Many are tired of liberalism and are turning to conservative Bible teaching and practices for conscience sake. It is almost impossible to answer the many requests.

Other WELS congregations in this area who are supporting this World Mission program are: St. Paul's, Gladstone, St. Martin's, Rapid River; St. Paul's Hyde, and Grace, Powers. These churches welcome all unchurched and new people moving into the area.

Appointments

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has announced these appointments to the State Mental Health Program and Statute Review Commission. They are: David Neal, Ann Arbor; Frank Poorman, Buchanan, and Dr. Marvin Hyman, Oak Park.

U.S., Viet Step Up Operations

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam and Viet Cong troops stepped up their military pressure today in Cambodia outside their hard-hit eastern sanctuary area. The main target was the largely untested Cambodian government forces.

U.S. B52s hammered at enemy supply trails and depots in eastern Laos, jammed with war materiels kept out of Cambodia by the allied offensive, informed sources said.

But concern mounted in Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital, over new action by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

The enemy forces took control of a town across the Mekong Rievr from the important provincial capital of Kompong Cham, 45 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, a Cambodian general said. He reported two Cambodian battalions "missing."

Brig. Gen. Phan Moeung, commander of the 1st Military Region, said three Cambodian companies were still fighting north of the town of Tonle Bet but he did not expect them to hold out. It was feared the road to Kompong Cham would be cut.

Local Elections On Odd Years Get House Approval

LANSING — (AP) — A bill establishing an odd - year general election for city officials, local school board members and possibly local judges has been passed by the House and sent to the Senate.

Under the bill, passed 68-31, county circuit court and local municipal or district court judges could be placed on the proposed odd-year ballot in early August if a constitutional amendment were adopted. State Supreme Court justices and appeals court judges would not be involved.

Election day under the proposal, sponsored by Rep. Alfred Sheridan, D-Taylor, would be Tuesday after the first Monday in August. Although intended to take effect by this July 1, the bill could not affect judges until next year, even assuming favorable Senate action, because of the constitutional amendment.

In other House developments Thursday, partisan differences led to the defeat of a bill aimed at eliminating a one-week waiting period to qualify for unemployment compensation.

Four cabins have been reported broken into in an area northwest of Perkins in Baldwin Township, according to State Police.

Officers said a cabin in this area located just west of Beaver Crossing, owned by Melvin Olson, of Bay View Location, was broken into between 8 and 12 p. m., on Thursday.

The break-in was discovered by Olson, who had been away from the cabin during the time of occurance and entry was made by forcing open a rear door, police said.

President Finds Florida 'Climate' More Comfortable

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — It was 1968 all over again on a miniature scale.

President Nixon, arriving in Florida Thursday night for a working holiday, was greeted by a campaign-type crowd, rather modest in size and lung power but well supplied with tiny American flags and some professionally prepared signboards applauding his Southeast Asia policy.

The President, responding eagerly, mixed with his greeters —military personnel of Homestead Air Force Base and their dependents—and later summed up for newsmen the sentiments he gleaned from those he chatted with:

"Mainly, we support you; you know, we trust what you're doing; we think you ought to make the decisions—and, actually, they're interested in bringing . . . peace to the world, peace with justice."

Perhaps as many as 1,200 turned out to welcome Nixon and wife Pat at the base across Biscayne Bay from their waterfront home here. The base has a population of about 23,000 military men and dependents.

Body Recovered From Plane Crash

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — The body of one of nine women who died in the crash of a Tag Airlines plane in Lake Erie Jan. 28 was recovered Thursday by divers 16 miles northeast of Lorain.

The body was not identified immediately. It was the first to be found since the plane plummeted through an ice floe.

Scuba diver John Hazelbaker of Columbus said he saw two other bodies amid wreckage at a depth of 80 feet but divers were unable to get them out before operations were called off for the day.

One engine of the twin-engine craft also was brought up.

Recovery operations, directed by the National Transportation Safety Board, resume Friday.

Dentist Hopes More People 'Did Care'

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A tall, grey-eyed young Atlanta dentist wishes the American people would care. About "I Care."

"There are 1,500 brave men over there, in North Vietnamese prisons, kept in cages and underground caves fit only for pigs," says Dr. John Linder with an indignant shake of his head.

The 26-year-old dentist is trying to stir up indignation in others—millions of others—to bring them "out of apathy into commitment" by getting them to write letters to Hanoi, or sign "I Care" petitions.

The petition reads simply: "I care about the inhumane treatment our men are receiving as prisoners in Southeast Asia. You have my support in your efforts to bring relief to them."

Eventually, these petitions will be sent to Texas multimillionaire Ross Perot, who is organizing a nationwide truck pickup to send millions of them to Hanoi.

Thus far, Linder has 10,000 petitions which he admits is below expectations, but 500-600 are coming in every few days. And the "I Care" movement, started three months ago, already has spread to Minneapolis, St. Louis and Dayton, Ohio.

"I Care" seeks the release of the names of all prisoners, more humane treatment for them and inspection of prisons by the International Red Cross.

"Public support is the only voice to which Hanoi will listen," Linder said in an interview in his small modern paneled offifce.

Every concession granted thus far concerning American prisoners has been in response to massive public opinion, said Linder.

The entire cost has been donated by residents of the home and other friends, said Ted Gajewski, manager of the Bishop Noa Home.

FBI Plans Probe For Six Georgia Rioting Deaths

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has announced plans to investigate the deaths of six Augusta, Ga., Negroes who were shot during rioting there Monday night.

Meanwhile, doctors who have examined the bodies are unable to agree on how many times the victims were shot.

The Justice Department's Civil Rights Division will conduct the investigation in an attempt to determine whether federal civil rights laws were violated, the department said Thursday.

The men were killed during Monday night's disorders, in which Augusta police said there were incidents of looting and arson.

The disorders were touched off by the beating death of a Negro youth in the Richmond County jail in Augusta. The civil rights division is also investigating that death, the department said.

Gas Supply Hearing Adjourned By PSC

Michigan Public Service Commission adjourned hearings this afternoon after four days of testimony on complaints filed against Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., by three Upper Peninsula communities and Newberry State Hospital, which want natural gas service.

The City of Manistique and townships of Watersmeet and Marenisco and the hospital claim the Commission should force the utility to provide them with gas service, but the utility maintains that all four projects would lose money.

All three communities completed their cases during the week, but the hospital, represented by the State Building Division, will present an additional witness when the hearings reconvene in Lansing at a later date.

Most of today's session was taken up with Manistique's city attorney, Robert Berger, questioning Charles Maxwell, head of the gas division of the MPSC staff, on rebuttal testimony. Yesterday the township supervisors from Watersmeet and Marenisco completed their presentations.

Michigan Consolidated continued to hold to its position that although it had originally planned to supply the communities and hospital, rising costs and an inadequate rate order from the Michigan Public Service Commission forced it to cancel its plans.

It said the projects would require an investment of $2.7 million, but at the end of five years the company would still be losing money on them and have an accumulated loss of $200,000.

Salem Lutheran To Observe Mission Sunday

Salem Ev. Lutheran Church, 12th St., and 4th Ave S., will observe Mission Festival this Sunday, announces Pastor J. J. Wendland. Services are at 8 and 10:45 a. m. This is appropriate since it is Pentecost Sunday, the birthday of the Christian church. Salem is a member of the Wisconsin Synod, briefly referred to as WELS.

Emphasis this Sunday will be on the World Mission carried on by the members of WELS. For many years in expanding measures, World Missions have been carried on. Today the sun never sets upon WELS Missions.

Countries where World Missions are supported and carried on by the members of WELS are: East and West Germany, Zambia and Malawai in Central Africa, Puerto Rico, Mexico, Japan, Hong Kong and Formosa. WELS is in fellowship with independent Lutheran churches in Africa, France, Germany and Finland.

Requests from pastors and congregations are directed to WELS from Indonesia and India. Many are tired of liberalism and are turning to conservative Bible teaching and practices for conscience sake. It is almost impossible to answer the many requests.

Other WELS congregations in this area who are supporting this World Mission program are: St. Paul's, Gladstone, St. Martin's, Rapid River; St. Paul's Hyde, and Grace, Powers. These churches welcome all unchurched and new people moving into the area.

Appointments

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has announced these appointments to the State Mental Health Program and Statute Review Commission. They are: David Neal, Ann Arbor; Frank Poorman, Buchanan, and Dr. Marvin Hyman, Oak Park.

U. S., Viet Step Up Operations

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam and Viet Cong troops stepped up their military pressure today in Cambodia outside their hard-hit eastern sanctuary area. The main target was the largely untested Cambodian government forces.

U.S. B52s hammered at enemy supply trails and depots in eastern Laos, jammed with war materiels kept out of Cambodia by the allied offensive, informed sources said.

But concern mounted in Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital, over new action by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

The enemy forces took control of a town across the Mekong Rievr from the important provincial capital of Kompong Cham, 45 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, a Cambodian general said. He reported two Cambodian battalions "missing."

Brig. Gen. Phan Moeung, commander of the 1st Military Region, said three Cambodian companies were still fighting north of the town of Tonle Bet but he did not expect them to hold out. It was feared the road to Kompong Cham would be cut.

Local Elections On Odd Years Get House Approval

LANSING — (AP) — A bill establishing an odd - year general election for city officials, local school board members and possibly local judges has been passed by the House and sent to the Senate.

Under the bill, passed 68-31, county circuit court and local municipal or district court judges could be placed on the proposed odd-year ballot in early August if a constitutional amendment were adopted. State Supreme Court justices and appeals court judges would not be involved.

Election day under the proposal, sponsored by Rep. Alfred Sheridan, D-Taylor, would be Tuesday after the first Monday in August. Although intended to take effect by this July 1, the bill could not affect judges until next year, even assuming favorable Senate action, because of the constitutional amendment.

In other House developments Thursday, partisan differences led to the defeat of a bill aimed at eliminating a one-week waiting period to qualify for unemployment compensation.

Artists, Craftsmen Highlight TV Program

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — A retired Wisconsin postmaster gains contentment with life by transforming a piece of hardwood into a bowl. When he can find a black walnut burl, he becomes ecstatic.

A woman in New Hampshire sits at her floor loom and weaves and ties unusual materials into oddly shaped contemporary designs.

A sculptor in Berkeley, Calif., has his own foundry and casts his own massive bronze pieces.

A Japanese-American woman in New Jersey whose touch is as light as a butterfly wing sits at a potter's wheel and gives shape, form and vitality to a lump of wet clay.

These were among the artists and craftsmen whose life and work were sketched Thursday night during an ABC special designed to document the resurgence of folk art and handcrafts in this country. It was actually a reminder that in a depersonalized computer age, people need the identification and satisfaction of working with their hands.

This has become a do-it-yourself nation. Suburban householders are weekend cabinet makers. A couple of books on needlepoint have become best sellers. Many people are Sunday painters and the fastest growing hobby among women is hand weaving.

The program, "With These Hands," did no more than suggest the importance of satisfying the creative urge and more often meandered around the subject. The people chosen to illustrate the theme were, while interesting enough, as often professionals with well-established reputations as amateur craftsmen.

It showed a California man who creates enormous bold wood sculptures by using a chain saw instead of chisel and mallet. A Mankato, Minn. glassblower was seen demonstrating his techniques to a group of students.

The hour was a partial answer to the currently most popular cristicism of commercial television: "Why doesn't it ever show some of the good things about America instead of the worrisome or bad things?"

Well, the people seemed to be doing good, nonworrisome things.

The New Hampshire tapestry weaver came closest to carrying the program's message when she remarked that "there is something for everybody" but the trick is for each person to find that handwork appeals.

It was a program of special appeal—probably viewers already interested in woodworking, sculpture, ceramics or weaving found it most interesting—it moved along at a sleepy pace and was not helped by a dull narrative.

Briefly Told

City Police arrested Todd J. Strom, 18, 1523 Montana Ave.; Richard Allan Nicholus, 18, Rte. 1, Gladstone; Doris N. Lambert, 18, Rte. 1, Gladstone; and Julie H. Williams, 18, 621 Minnesota Ave., and charged them with being minors in possession of alcoholic beverages.

Limit Family To 2 Children, Lutherans Told

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Michigan ministers of the American Lutheran Church have been told by the church's state convention to encourage their families in their congregations not to have more than two children.

A resolution to that effect was adopted Wednesday after 45 minutes of debate. The resolution followed a warning from Dr. William Cooper, a zoologist at Michigan State University, that man faces extinction soon because of overpopulation and misuse of natural resources.

The resolution came at the end of the group's four-day state convention attended by 500 delegates.

The Lutheran group also adopted a resolution endorsing an abortion reform law now before the Michigan Senate.

Much of the convention's time was spent discussing campus dissent and the war in Indochina.

Efforts were unsuccessful to gain approval of a resolution directing each congregation to prepare petitions to President Nixon protesting the war in Cambodia and urging withdrawal of U.S. troops from Indochina.

But the delegates approved a suggestion that each congregation urge its members to make their personal views known to the President and their U.S. senators.

An Eastern Michigan University student and convention delegate appealed to the church Wednesday to, "Listen to what we have to say." His appeal led to nearly unanimous passage of a resolution asking the church to "express a greater willingness to hear the expression of students."

The delegates also went on record for a second time as opposing state aid to private schools.

Artists, Craftsmen Highlight TV Program

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — A retired Wisconsin postmaster gains contentment with life by transforming a piece of hardwood into a bowl. When he can find a black walnut burl, he becomes ecstatic.

A woman in New Hampshire sits at her floor loom and weaves and ties unusual materials into oddly shaped contemporary designs.

A sculptor in Berkeley, Calif., has his own foundry and casts his own massive bronze pieces.

A Japanese-American woman in New Jersey whose touch is as light as a butterfly wing sits at a potter's wheel and gives shape, form and vitality to a lump of wet clay.

These were among the artists and craftsmen whose life and work were sketched Thursday night during an ABC special designed to document the resurgence of folk art and handcrafts in this country. It was actually a reminder that in a depersonalized computer age, people need the identification and satisfaction of working with their hands.

This has become a do-it-yourself nation. Suburban householders are weekend cabinet makers. A couple of books on needlepoint have become best sellers. Many people are Sunday painters and the fastest growing hobby among women is hand weaving.

The program, "With These Hands," did no more than suggest the importance of satisfying the creative urge and more often meandered around the subject. The people chosen to illustrate the theme were, while interesting enough, as often professionals with well-established reputations as amateur craftsmen.

It showed a California man who creates enormous bold wood sculptures by using a chain saw instead of chisel and mallet. A Mankato, Minn. glassblower was seen demonstrating his techniques to a group of students.

The hour was a partial answer to the currently most popular cristicism of commercial television: "Why doesn't it ever show some of the good things about America instead of the worrisome or bad things?"

Well, the people seemed to be doing good, nonworrisome things.

The New Hampshire tapestry weaver came closest to carrying the program's message when she remarked that "there is something for everybody" but the trick is for each person to find that handwork appeals.

It was a program of special appeal—probably viewers already interested in woodworking, sculpture, ceramics or weaving found it most interesting—it moved along at a sleepy pace and was not helped by a dull narrative.

Briefly Told

City Police arrested Todd J. Strom, 18, 1523 Montana Ave.; Richard Allan Nicholus, 18, Rte. 1, Gladstone; Doris N. Lambert, 18, Rte. 1, Gladstone; and Julie H. Williams, 18, 621 Minnesota Ave., and charged them with being minors in possession of alcoholic beverages.

Limit Family To 2 Children, Lutherans Told

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Michigan ministers of the American Lutheran Church have been told by the church's state convention to encourage their families in their congregations not to have more than two children.

A resolution to that effect was adopted Wednesday after 45 minutes of debate. The resolution followed a warning from Dr. William Cooper, a zoologist at Michigan State University, that man faces extinction soon because of overpopulation and misuse of natural resources.

The resolution came at the end of the group's four-day state convention attended by 500 delegates.

The Lutheran group also adopted a resolution endorsing an abortion reform law now before the Michigan Senate.

Much of the convention's time was spent discussing campus dissent and the war in Indochina.

Efforts were unsuccessful to gain approval of a resolution directing each congregation to prepare petitions to President Nixon protesting the war in Cambodia and urging withdrawal of U.S. troops from Indochina.

But the delegates approved a suggestion that each congregation urge its members to make their personal views known to the President and their U.S. senators.

An Eastern Michigan University student and convention delegate appealed to the church Wednesday to, "Listen to what we have to say." His appeal led to nearly unanimous passage of a resolution asking the church to "express a greater willingness to hear the expression of students."

The delegates also went on record for a second time as opposing state aid to private schools.

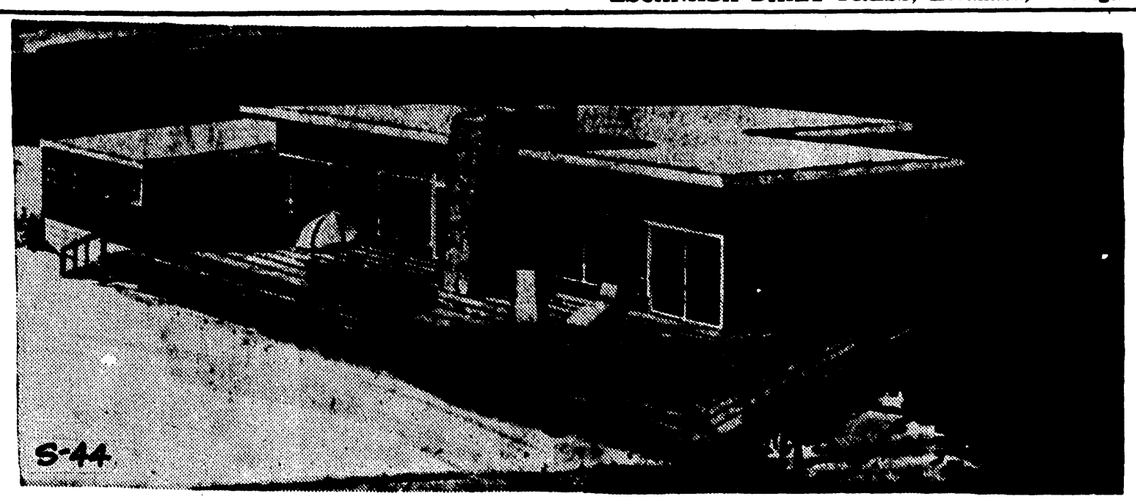
Here's The Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Q.—I painted our house last year. The paint seems to be in good condition except under the eaves. Why is this?

A.—Without more information on exactly what condition has developed, it is difficult to give you a definite reply. But the two most common causes of such trouble are (1) that the area was damp at the time you painted it or that dampness found its way under the paint later on or (2) that the area under the eaves, unlike the rest of the house, was still glossy at the time you painted it and that the paint failed to "take" properly. Paint under the eaves is less exposed to the weather and often retains a measure of gloss for years, assuming that a paint of that nature was used in the previous job.



SIMPLICITY keynotes construction of this second or vacation home, which nevertheless takes on its own individuality by the placement of the stone chimney, partly inside and partly outside the house.

Simple Vacation Retreat

By ANDY LANG

With cities and suburbs becoming more congested, many families are building second homes as retreats or vacation houses.

These can range from tiny, one-room cabins to large structures that are far more pretentious than the houses in which the families spend most of their time. But it is still possible to have a luxurious second home without being rich, especially when it is kept to a reasonable size, is simply constructed and uses standard-sized lumber.

This attractive house, designed by architect Samuel Paul, falls into that area. It exudes a quality of living that can be casual or formal. Surrounding the house on three sides is a huge deck for outdoor living. The inside flows onto this deck by means of sliding glass doors strategically placed.

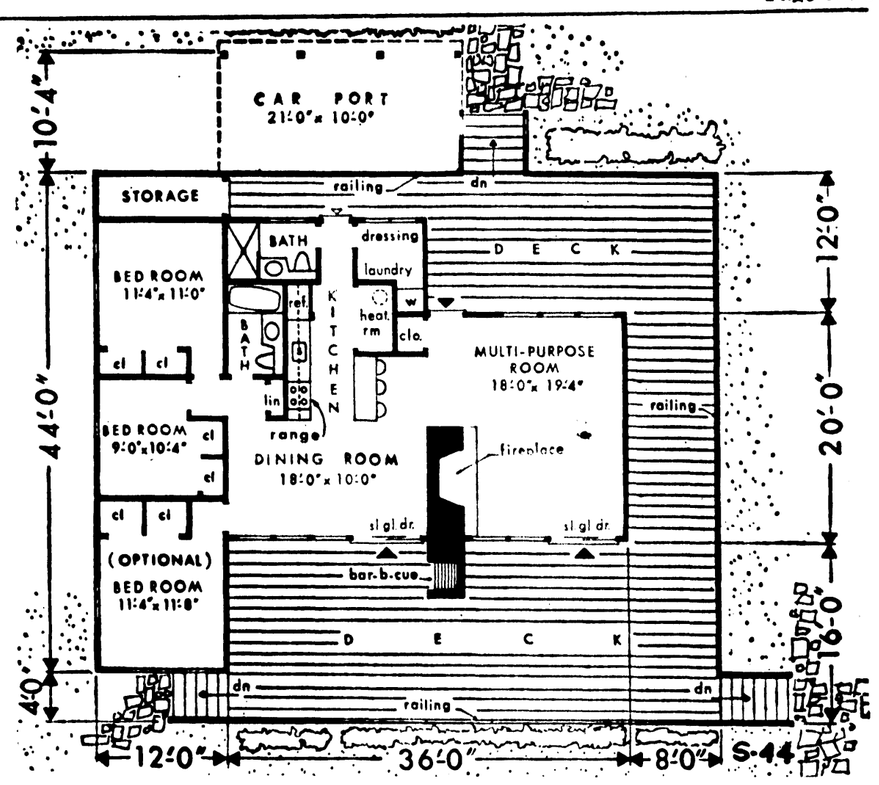
Featured on both the inside and the outside is a massive and dramatic stone chimney. Inside, it contains a fireplace and acts as a divider between a large, multi-purpose room and a dining room. The outside portion extending onto the deck and has a barbecue. Best of all, the chimney counteracts the strong horizontal exterior line of wood and glass.

Entering the house from either the front or rear deck, one is immediately confronted with the spaciousness of the interior and with its natural materials of wood, stone and glass. The wall of the multi-purpose room opposite either the front or rear entrance is predominantly glass. While the room is set off by itself, it flows conveniently into the dining room and the galley-type kitchen .

If the budget doesn't allow and if the house is to be used, for instance, by two, three or four persons, the entire bedroom wing can be eliminated or added as money becomes available. This is made possible by the fact that there is sufficient space in the basic house to provide sleeping quarters. With the dining room and multi-purpose room stretching to more than 36', it would be an easy matter to set up sofa beds, high risers or bunk beds that could be utilized for sleeping. The bedroom wing, as shown in the plans, has three bedrooms, but can, in its original form, be constructed with two bedrooms; the third bedroom could be added at any time or not built at all.

A desirable feature of this house is a bath and dressing room which is accessible from the outside — a convenience for bathers and children. There is another bathroom for regular use, convenient to the bedroom wing. A carport is attached at the rear of the house.

Simplicity and crispness are effectively combined here. A good choice for a second home.



FLOOR PLAN: Indoor and outdoor living are well divided in this layout, with each occupying about the same amount of square footage. Note four entrances to the house from the outside deck.

MULTI-PURPOSE ROOM, with stone fireplace, has sliding glass doors to both the front and rear of the wood deck.

S-44 STATISTICS

Design S-44 has a multi-purpose room, a dining room, a kitchen, two baths, a dressing room, laundry area and three bedrooms, totaling 1296 square feet. There are 1248 square feet of decking, providing almost as much space for outdoor as for indoor living. The over-all dimensions, including all the decking and a storage space behind the bedroom wing, are 56' by 48'. If a carport is built at the rear, it would add 10' 4" to the depth.

Kids Getting Into Act, Stage Sit-In Over Recess Rule

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Things were back to normal today at Oakdale Elementary School after a crisis over recess.

It was a crisis to the fourth, fifth and sixth graders, anyway, who staged a sit-in recently when their recess period was suspended for what one teacher described as "rude, noisy and discourteous behavior" on the playground Monday.

"No recess, no school," chanted the kids.

School officials reinstated recess Wednesday, explaining the disciplinary measure was a one-day thing.

we're sick of doing dishes

There are usually three types of humans who are stuck with the daily chore of washing—and drying—dishes: Moms, Pops, and Kids. None of them enjoy doing the dishes a thousand times each year . . . and they don't need to!

You can get rid of this tedious, messy chore because dishes do themselves when you have an automatic electric dishwasher. All you do is stack the dishes (pots, pans and silverware, too) in the electric dishwasher and turn a dial. Zap! They come out sparkling clean and germ-free.

You'll never wash dishes again . . . or dry them either . . . once you have a modern electric dishwasher!

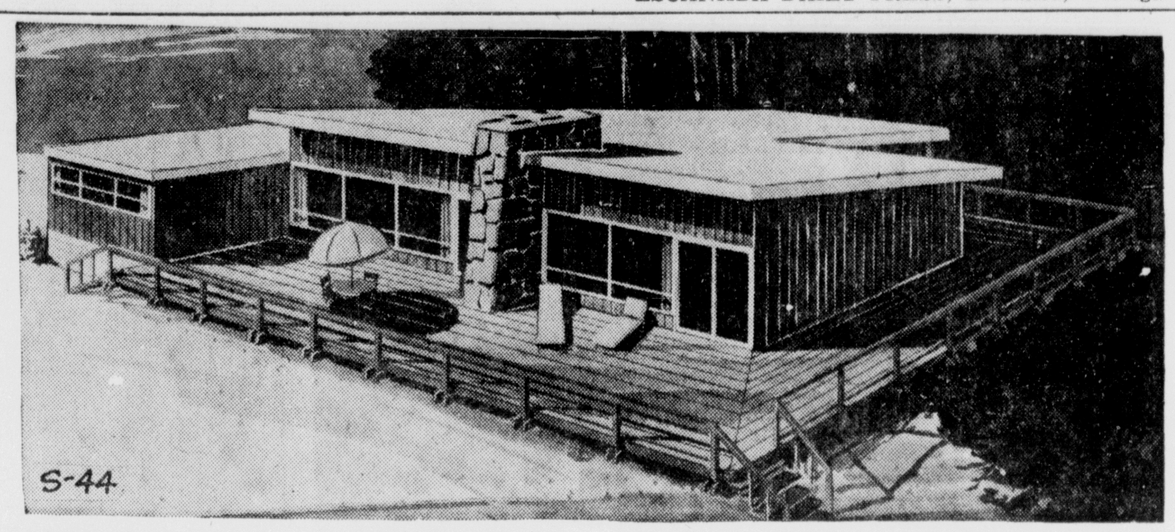
Q.—I painted our house last year. The paint seems to be in good condition except under the eaves. Why is this?

A.—Without more information on exactly what condition has developed, it is difficult to give you a definite reply. But the two most common causes of such trouble are (1) that the area was damp at the time you painted it or that dampness found its way under the paint later on or (2) that the area under the eaves, unlike the rest of the house, was still glossy at the time you painted it and that the paint failed to "take" properly. Paint under the eaves is less exposed to the weather and often retains a measure of gloss for years, assuming that a paint of that nature was used in the previous job.



SIMPLICITY keynotes construction of this second or vacation home, which nevertheless takes on its own individuality by the placement of the stone chimney, partly inside and partly outside the house.

Simple Vacation Retreat

By ANDY LANG

With cities and suburbs becoming more congested, many families are building second homes as retreats or vacation houses.

These can range from tiny, one-room cabins to large structures that are far more pretentious than the houses in which the families spend most of their time. But it is still possible to have a luxurious second home without being rich, especially when it is kept to a reasonable size, is simply constructed and uses standard-sized lumber.

This attractive house, designed by architect Samuel Paul, falls into that area. It exudes a quality of living that can be casual or formal. Surrounding the house on three sides is a huge deck for outdoor living. The inside flows onto this deck by means of sliding glass doors strategically placed.

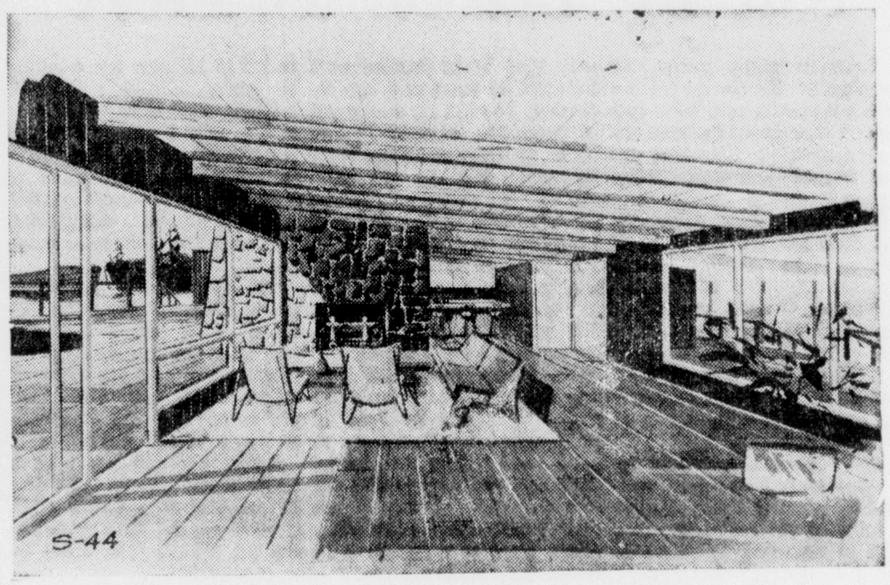
Featured on both the inside and the outside is a massive and dramatic stone chimney. Inside, it contains a fireplace and acts as a divider between a large, multi-purpose room and a dining room. The outside portion extending onto the deck and has a barbecue. Best of all, the chimney counteracts the strong horizontal exterior line of wood and glass.

Entering the house from either the front or rear deck, one is immediately confronted with the spaciousness of the interior and with its natural materials of wood, stone and glass. The wall of the multi-purpose room opposite either the front or rear entrance is predominantly glass. While the room is set off by itself, it flows conveniently into the dining room and the galley-type kitchen.

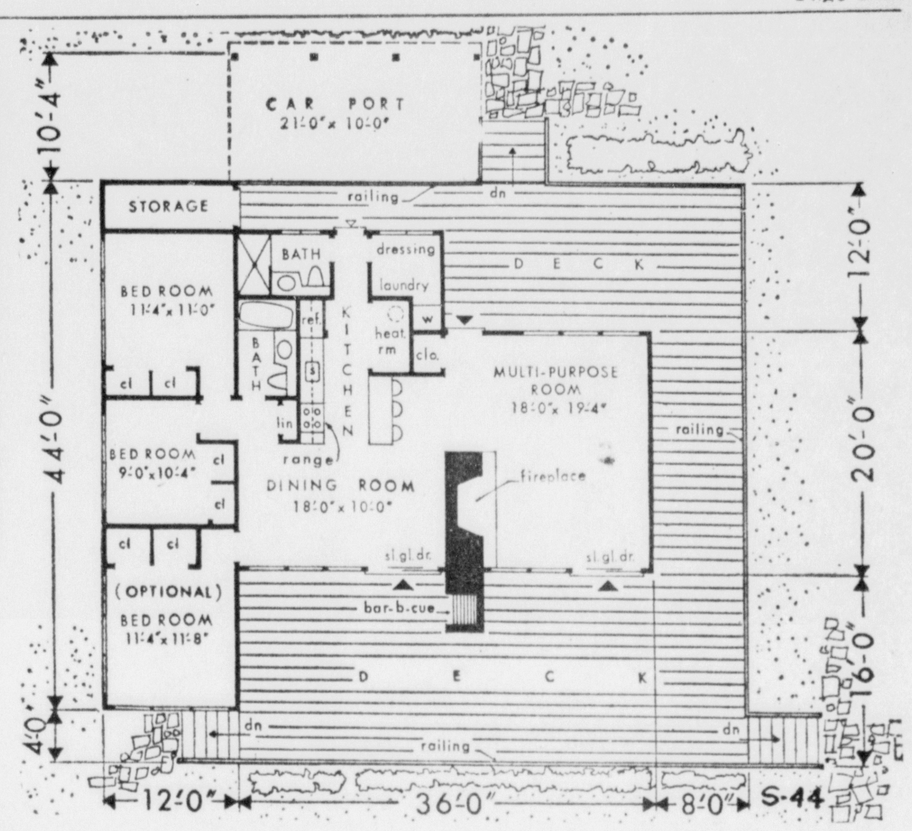
If the budget doesn't allow and if the house is to be used, for instance, by two, three or four persons, the entire bedroom wing can be eliminated or added as money becomes available. This is made possible by the fact that there is sufficient space in the basic house to provide sleeping quarters. With the dining room and multi-purpose room stretching to more than 36', it would be an easy matter to set up sofa beds, high risers or bunk beds that could be utilized for sleeping. The bedroom wing, as shown in the plans, has three bedrooms, but can, in its original form, be constructed with two bedrooms; the third bedroom could be added at any time or not built at all.

A desirable feature of this house is a bath and dressing room which is accessible from the outside — a convenience for bathers and children. There is another bathroom for regular use, convenient to the bedroom wing. A carport is attached at the rear of the house.

Simplicity and crispness are effectively combined here. A good choice for a second home.



MULTI-PURPOSE ROOM, with stone fireplace, has sliding glass doors to both the front and rear of the wood deck.



FLOOR PLAN: Indoor and outdoor living are well divided in this layout, with each occupying about the same amount of square footage. Note four entrances to the house from the outside deck.

S-44 STATISTICS

Design S-44 has a multi-purpose room, a dining room, a kitchen, two baths, a dressing room, laundry area and three bedrooms, totaling 1296 square feet. There are 1248 square feet of decking, providing almost as much space for outdoor as for indoor living. The over-all dimensions, including all the decking and a storage space behind the bedroom wing, are 56' by 48'. If a carport is built at the rear, it would add 10' 4" to the depth.

Kids Getting Into Act, Stage Sit-In Over Recess Rule

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Things were back to normal today at Oakdale Elementary School after a crisis over recess.

It was a crisis to the fourth, fifth and sixth graders, anyway, who staged a sit-in recently when their recess period was suspended for what one teacher described as "rude, noisy and discourteous behavior" on the playground Monday.

"No recess, no school," chanted the kids.

School officials reinstated recess Wednesday, explaining the disciplinary measure was a one-day thing.

we're sick of doing dishes

There are usually three types of humans who are stuck with the daily chore of washing—and drying—dishes: Moms, Pops, and Kids. None of them enjoy doing the dishes a thousand times each year . . . and they don't need to!

You can get rid of this tedious, messy chore because dishes do themselves when you have an automatic electric dishwasher. All you do is stack the dishes (pots, pans and silverware, too) in the electric dishwasher and turn a dial. Zap! They come out sparkling clean and germ-free.

You'll never wash dishes again . . . or dry them either . . . once you have a modern electric dishwasher!

DICK PETERSON, number one sportsman driver of 1969 is shown here with his latest edition, a 1962 Ford. Peterson is anxiously awaiting the green flag on Saturday night as he returns to defend his title in the highly competitive sportsman class.

THE ASSOCIATION FLAGMAN, Leroy Sovey, is helping out by doing some welding on Ray Gardner's modified car. Racing fans will see a lot of Sovey this season as the man behind the flags.

Racing Season Is Here

Saturday night marks the opening of the racing season at the Escanaba race track and drivers throughout the area are busy preparing their cars for the biggest and best racing season ever.

Now under new ownership the Peninsula Stock Car Association has made several changes in rules and racing procedures. The association feels they will be able to start the events on time this year because of the new changes and therefore limiting an evening program to a maximum of three hours.

Cory Johnson, president of the Peninsula Stock Car Association, predicts the largest number of drivers in the history of Escanaba to turn out for this seasons competition.

Johnson said members of the association have been donating many hours of their own time to install new flood lights, preparing the track, or wherever they are needed, to assist in the preparation for the racing season.

Races have been scheduled for each Saturday night at the State Fairgrounds in Escanaba, with time trials starting at 7 p.m. and the races at 8. Admission will be $1.75 for adults and 50 cents for children 12 and under. In addition to the regular racing schedule the association is planning several special events during the year which will be announced later.

It takes a lot of time and hard work to build a stock car, in addition to nolding down a full time job. Dick Peterson, for example, works full time at Harnischfeger, owns and operates a 427 acre farm in Rapid River, including 90 head of cattle, and still finds time to build and drive a winning stock car. Peterson is also the vice president of the Peninsula Stock Car Association, which requires a considerable amount of his time.

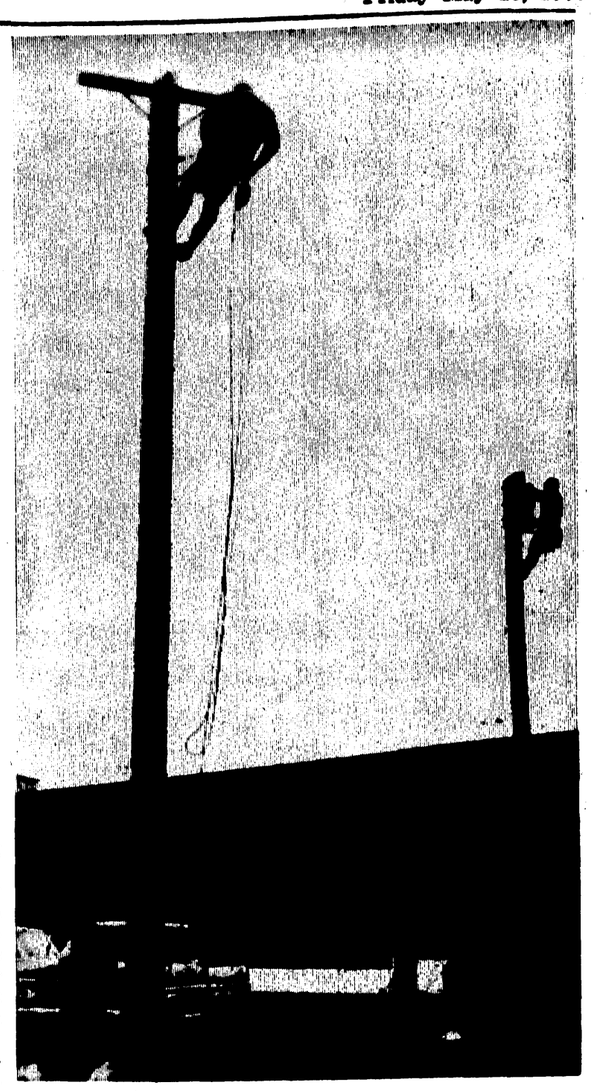
Building a stock car can also be quite expensive. The car that Peterson will be driving this year has 10 shock absorbers, worth about $70, two electric fuel pumps, worth about $60, two batteries, two radiators, and many other expensive items that have proven necessary for racing. Peterson said he would have about $1,300 invested in his car, not counting his labor.

When asked if he would ever race modified cars Peterson said, "well the modified drivers have about three times as much money invested in their cars as I do and I don't think they have three times as much fun."

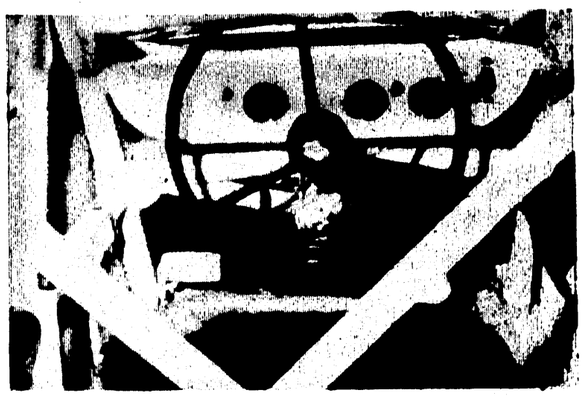
The average cost of building a modified car runs between $2,500 and $3,000. The rear tires are usually 10 x 50 racing slicks and run between $65 and $70 each. Then inch tire widths are the maximum allowable under P.S.A. rules.

A fuel injection set-up on a modified runs about $380. The drivers prefer to use straight alcohol rather than gasoline and the alcohol runs about 40 cents a gallon.

Despite the expenses and hard work, car racing is fast becoming one of the most popular sports in the country. There is always a danger factor involved with racing but with all the required safety features and the handling ability of the drivers, the track is often safer than some of our own streets.

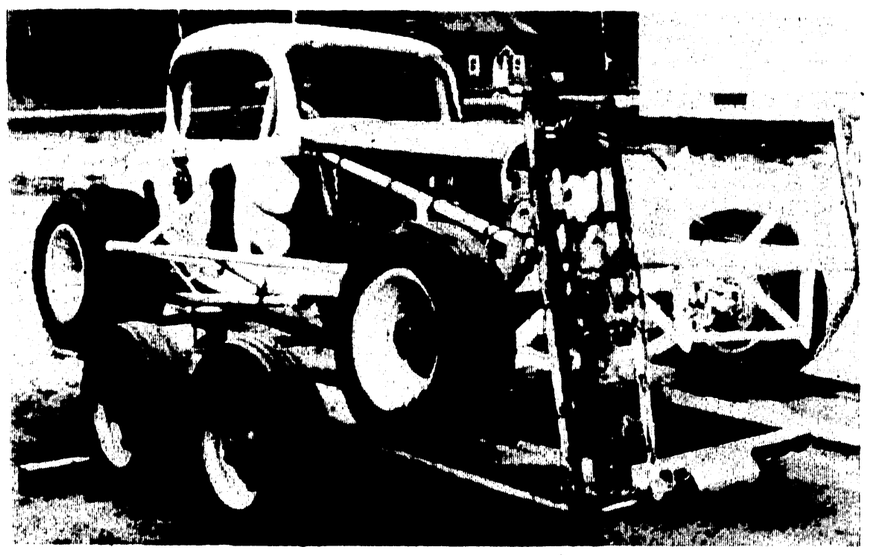


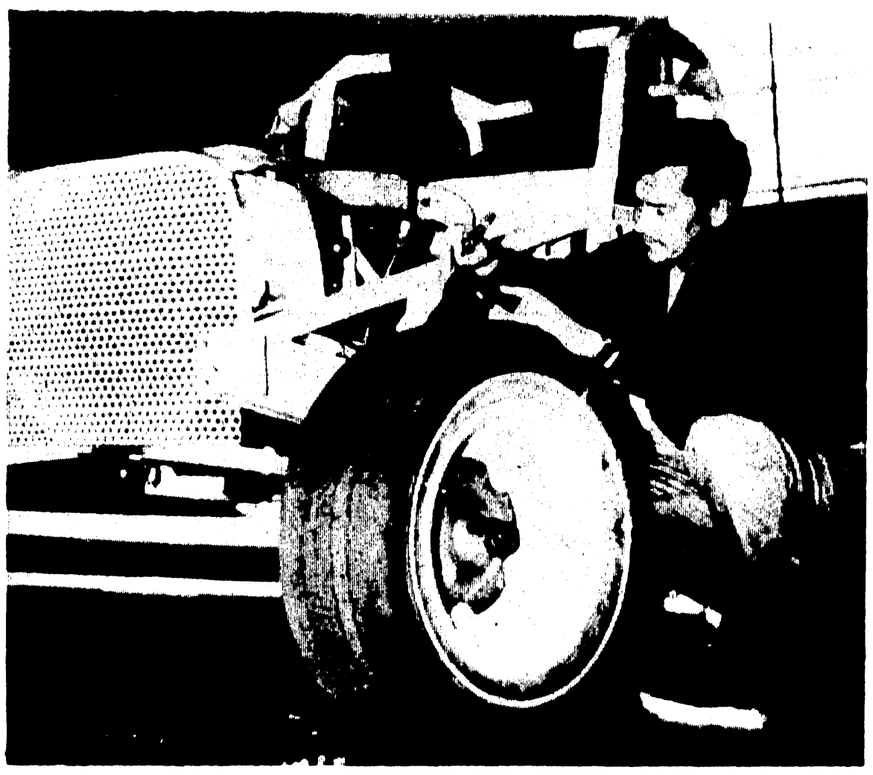
SEVERAL NEW FLOOD LIGHTS have been added to the race track which should make better viewing this season. On pole at left is Dave Carlson, at right is Bill Peterson and assisting from the ground is Ed Provo. Peterson and Provo are drivers of modified cars and plan to compete this season.



LAST YEAR'S NUMBER ONE CAR, at left, driven by Bob Iverson, will return this season to defend the championship. Bob's modified car is a 1934 Ford with a 289 cubic inch engine. The two pictures above show what the inside of Iverson's car looks like. It is designed according to specifications by the Peninsula Stock Car Association.

DAVE CHRISTIANSEN, left and Tom Chaillier, both drivers in the modified class, are working to complete this car for the opening night race. This is an example of what the modified cars look like underneath. Most of the framing and bracing has to be hand cut and welded.





DUKE GARDINER, left, gives his car, No. 44, a thorough going over while his brother Bob puts on a final coat of paint. Below, Bob Hengesh climbs out of his modified Chevy. Hengesh was last year's rookie of the year and he has his car ready to go and plans to offer some real competition this season.

Track Regional Slated Saturday

By DON HOWES

A field of 240 athletes from 11 high schools will compete in the Regional Track and Field Meet at Walton Blesch Stadium in Menominee Saturday, for the Class A-B and Class D Titles. The four qualifiers in each event, plus the two relay winners, will advance to the U.P. Finals next week at Marquette.

Among the favorites in the Class A-B division are the host and Great Northern Conference Champions, the Menominee Maroons, with the Crusaders of Escanaba Holy Name also having a good shot at the title. Escanaba High is considered a dark horse, but they have been coming on strong in recent meets and are considered to be one of the teams to watch out for. Gladstone, the defending Regional Champion, will also be in there hoping to retain its title.

Class D Rematch

In the Class D division it looks to be like a rematch of the Central League Conference Championship, with Big Bay and Rapid River both considered as top contenders. The Rockets are the defending Regional champs, but will again he hard pressed by the Black Bears to defend their title. Powers, who took second place in the Skyline Conference, will also be in the running for the championship. The other Class D teams in the meet will be Perkins, Felch, Bark River and Carney.

Head officials for the meet will be Ken Redick of Menominee, the meet manager, Gordon Farragh of Ishpeming and Mike Linley of Menominee the two official starters that will conduct the meet.

The event will open at 10 in the morning with the preliminaries and will resume with the finals at 1 p.m. in the afternoon.

Of their performances in dual and conference meets thus far this spring, a number of outstanding performances are expected if the weather is good.

The Crusaders' Jim Dubord, who has been running the 100 yard dash like it's going out of style has been officially timed at 10.4 seconds for the meet and last Monday turned in a good time of 22.9 seconds in the 220 to be the top prospect for these events in the regionals.

Other steady point producers for Coach Doug Bovin's Crusaders have been Dan Young in the shot put, where he recently tossed the iron over 50 feet, Bob McGinn in the 880, Paul Guenette in the two-mile run, Noel Gannon in the mile run, Gary Corbett in the shot put and Tom Ness in the dashes.

Eskymos Ready

Coach Henry Wylie's up and coming Eskymos have been paced in recent meets by their all around sportsman Gene Timmer, who was a double winner in the high and low hurdles in the conference meet.

In addition to Timmer the Eskymos show fine strength in the pole vault with their sophomore duo of Mark Blazek and John Noblet, who have both been over the 11'6" mark this season. Gary Brawley in the shot put, Steve Rolig in the long jump and the low hurdles, Doug Howard in the high jump and 440 yard dash, Al Larson in the 880 and Murice Simons in the mile run. The Eskymos have also been looking good in the mile relay, where recently they beat Marquette and took second in the conference meet.

Gladstone's top performer all season has been their all around athlete Cliff Young who won the U.P. 880 last year and has been winning this season in times of 2:06-2:07 and this could be one of the feature races of the day with Holy Name's Bob McGinn, Escanaba's Al Larson and Bruce Van Eyck of Menominee all in contention for the 680 title.

Bob Richards and other Braves that will be counted on to produce points for the defending champs are, the Stupak brothers, Mark and Jeff in the 880, Jeff Schram in the two-mile, John Skellenger in the 100 and 220 dashes, Pat McGeary in the 440, Boy Young in the high and low hurdles and Terry Cartwright in the long jump, high jump and 440.

Toss-Up

Class D will be far from a runaway with Big Bay and Rapid River considered as a toss up for the crown. Jeff Boyer of the Rockets set a new record recently in the pole vault of 12 feet and 6 inches, and it will be interesting to see if he can match his previous performances. Boyer also has been winning the high and low hurdles and will again be challenged by John Lewandowski of Big Bay, who was a big double winner in the Conference meet, winning the 220 dash and the shot put.

Other performances to watch in the Regionals will be Big Bay's Bill Hartman in the pole vault, 100 and 220 dashes, Herb Pomeroy in the 880, Randy Strasler in the 440 and the Black Bears' both relay teams.

In addition to Boyer, the Rockets are counting on top performances from Dale Pasi in the mile, Dan Safford in the 100 and long jump, Chuck Larson in the 440 and John Deneau in the two-mile run.

Perkins' Ken Simonsen and Bark River's Alex Joraz, who were record breakers in the conference meet will also be in contention for honors and the trip to Marquette.

Some of the best times in Class A-B this season that will be competing in Saturday's regionals are as follows.

Mile — Gannon (HN) 4.46 Simons (E) 4.48.5, England (G) 4.52.

Two - Mile — Plude (M) 10.04.5, Guenette (HN) 10.16, Schram (G) 10.26, Gage (E) 10.28-32.

High Hurdles — Timmer (E) :16.3, Homa (M) 16.7, Young B. (G) :17.0, Rolig (E) :16.9, Thompson (E) :17.1.

Central Loop Honor Squad Picked At Annual Banquet

By DON HOWES

NAHMA — Two players from the champion Big Bay de Noc basketball team were named on the Central League honor squad at the annual league banquet here Thursday night.

Selected by coaches on an all - opponent basis, the five player first squad was made up of Bill Hartman and John Lewandowski of Big Bay, Alex Freeberg of Eben, Alex Jorasz of Bark River and Dave Mariin of Trenary.

Bill Hartman of the Black Bears led the conference in the most points scored during the year with 232, most points in one game with 38 and the highest average in the league with 23.2 points per game. Hartman was selected by the Upper Peninsula Sportswriters Association to the All U. P. Class D first team.

John Lewandowski of the Black Bears led the team in total rebounds for the year and scored 215 points in league action for an average of 19.9 points per game. Lewandowski was selected by the U. P. The other basketball trophies presented were to the Black Bear varsity basketball team for finishing first in the conference with an 11-1 record, the Rapid River JV's took the league title for the second straight year with a 12-0 record and the Rock Little Giants won the Junior High Trophy.

Big Bay also won the cross-country championship for the year and received the trophy from Steve Ellis of Trenary. Lewandowski of Big Bay won the cross-country individual league championship. Several other players received cross-country awards for their performances.

The Black Bears completed their sweep of the league trophies when Vern Nelson of Perkins presented the team with the conference track trophy. All of the athletes received awards for placing in the conference track and field meet.

Guest Speaker

Guest speaker for the evening was Rollie Dotsch, head football coach at Northern Michigan University. Dotsch talked to the athletes on "What Is The Heart of a Champion?" He stated that in order to be a champion an athlete must have pride, respect, loyalty and dedication of excellency to prove himself both in athletics and in the world he lives in.

The Escanaba Daily Press Sports Editor presented special basketball awards to Black Bears Bill Hartman and John Lewandowski.

Track Regional Slated Saturday

By DON HOWES

A field of 240 athletes from 11 high schools will compete in the Regional Track and Field Meet at Walton Blesch Stadium in Menominee Saturday, for the Class A-B and Class D Titles. The four qualifiers in each event, plus the two relay winners, will advance to the U.P. Finals next week at Marquette.

Among the favorites in the Class A-B division are the host and Great Northern Conference Champions, the Menominee Maroons, with the Crusaders of Escanaba Holy Name also having a good shot at the title. Escanaba High is considered a dark horse, but they have been coming on strong in recent meets and are considered to be one of the teams to watch out for. Gladstone, the defending Regional Champion, will also be in there hoping to retain its title.

Class D Rematch

In the Class D division it looks to be like a rematch of the Central League Conference Championship, with Big Bay and Rapid River both considered as top contenders. The Rockets are the defending Regional champs, but will again he hard pressed by the Black Bears to defend their title. Powers, who took second place in the Skyline Conference, will also be in the running for the championship. The other Class D teams in the meet will be Perkins, Felch, Bark River and Carney.

Head officials for the meet will be Ken Redick of Menominee, the meet manager, Gordon Farragh of Ishpeming and Mike Linley of Menominee the two official starters that will conduct the meet.

The event will open at 10 in the morning with the preliminaries and will resume with the finals at 1 p.m. in the afternoon.

Of their performances in dual and conference meets thus far this spring, a number of outstanding performances are expected if the weather is good.

The Crusaders' Jim Dubord, who has been running the 100 yard dash like it's going out of style has been officially timed at 10.4 seconds for the meet and last Monday turned in a good time of 22.9 seconds in the 220 to be the top prospect for these events in the regionals.

Other steady point producers for Coach Doug Bovin's Crusaders have been Dan Young in the shot put, where he recently tossed the iron over 50 feet, Bob McGinn in the 880, Paul Guenette in the two-mile run, Noel Gannon in the mile run, Gary Corbett in the shot put and Tom Ness in the dashes.

Eskymos Ready

Coach Henry Wylie's up and coming Eskymos have been paced in recent meets by their all around sportsman Gene Timmer, who was a double winner in the high and low hurdles in the conference meet.

In addition to Timmer the Eskymos show fine strength in the pole vault with their sophomore duo of Mark Blazek and John Noblet, who have both been over the 11'6" mark this season. Gary Brawley in the shot put, Steve Rolig in the long jump and the low hurdles, Doug Howard in the high jump and 440 yard dash, Al Larson in the 880 and Murice Simons in the mile run. The Eskymos have also been looking good in the mile relay, where recently they beat Marquette and took second in the conference meet.

Gladstone's top performer all season has been their all around athlete Cliff Young who won the U.P. 880 last year and has been winning this season in times of 2:06-2:07 and this could be one of the feature races of the day with Holy Name's Bob McGinn, Escanaba's Al Larson and Bruce Van Eyck of Menominee all in contention for the 880 title.

Bob Richards and other Braves that will be counted on to produce points for the defending champs are, the Stupak brothers, Mark and Jeff in the 880, Jeff Schram in the two-mile, John Skellenger in the 100 and 220 dashes, Pat McGeary in the 440, Boy Young in the high and low hurdles and Terry Cartwright in the long jump, high jump and 440.

Toss-Up

Class D will be far from a runaway with Big Bay and Rapid River considered as a toss up for the crown. Jeff Boyer of the Rockets set a new record recently in the pole vault of 12 feet and 6 inches, and it will be interesting to see if he can match his previous performances. Boyer also has been winning the high and low hurdles and will again be challenged by John Lewandowski of Big Bay, who was a big double winner in the Conference meet, winning the 220 dash and the shot put.

Other performances to watch in the Regionals will be Big Bay's Bill Hartman in the pole vault, 100 and 220 dashes, Herb Pomeroy in the 880, Randy Strasler in the 440 and the Black Bears' both relay teams.

In addition to Boyer, the Rockets are counting on top performances from Dale Pasi in the mile, Dan Safford in the 100 and long jump, Chuck Larson in the 440 and John Deneau in the two-mile run.

Perkins' Ken Simonsen and Bark River's Alex Joraz, who were record breakers in the conference meet will also be in contention for honors and the trip to Marquette.

Some of the best times in Class A-B this season that will be competing in Saturday's regionals are as follows.

Mile — Gannon (HN) 4.46 Simons (E) 4.48.5, England (G) 4.52.

Two - Mile — Plude (M) 10.04.5, Guenette (HN) 10.16, Schram (G) 10.26, Gage (E) 10.28-32.

High Hurdles — Timmer (E) :16.3, Homa (M) 16.7, Young B. (G) :17.0, Rolig (E) :16.9, Thompson (E) :17.1.

100 — Dubord (HN) 10.4, Jacques (M) 10.45, Ness (HN) 10.45, Deiter (E) :10.6, Skellenger (G) 10.6.

440 — Theuerkauf (M) :54.7, Odgers (HN) :55.5, Howard (E) :55.6, McGeary and Cartwright (G) :55.9 and :55.5.

Low Hurdles — Timmer (E) 22.0, Rolig (E), Homa (M), Young B. (G).

220 — Dubord (HN) 22.9, Jacques (M) 23.5, Ness (HN) 23.8, Skellenger (G) 24.0.

Giants Go From Bad To Worse

By The Associated Press

Just when the San Francisco Giants figured things couldn't get much worse, guess what happened. They did.

The Giants opened a series in Los Angeles Thursday night with slugging first baseman Willie McCovey (10 homers, 32 RBI) doubtful for the entire four-game set with a lingering minor eye ailment and a sore shoulder, to boot.

Then, the Dodgers shelled ace right-hander Juan Marichal with a five-run third inning, boosting his earned run average to a whopping 6.94.

In the fifth, catcher Dick Dietz was struck on the left foot by a foul ball and had to take his .375 batting average and league-leading 35 RBI to the sidelines.

To top it all off, the Dodgers sent a pitcher named Sandy to the mound and the result was a 6-3 triumph.

That was one of only four games in the majors Thursday. Elsewhere in the National League, Houston defeated San Diego 3-1 and St. Louis outslugged Pittsburgh 11-7. The New York Mets-Chicago Cubs and Montreal - Philadelphia games were rained out.

Minnesota turned back Kansas City 5-2 in the only scheduled American League action.

Takes Easy Lead

Marichal, 1-1, was staked to a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Bobby Bonds' single, Don Mason's double and a sacrifice fly by Willie Mays, who was playing first in place of McCovey.

But the Dodgers erupted as Wills and Manny Mota put runners on second and third, Mota taking second on the throw. Willie Davis singled them both home, stole second, went to third on Wes Parker's infield hit and scored on Willie Crawford's grounder. Billy Grabarkewitz capped the outburst with his third homer of the season and Tom Haller's single kayoed Marichal.

Sandy—Vance, not Koufax—checked the Giants on eight hits for his third victory in four decisions before Jim Brewer came on to get the last out.

Joe Pepitone's tie-breaking home run in the sixth helped Houston's Larry Dierker run his record to 7-2. It was Dierker's fourth consecutive triumph this season and the sixth straight time he has beaten the Padres, after losing his first meeting last year.

The Astros got an insurance run in the seventh when Clarence Gaston dropped Jim Wynn's long drive for a three-base error and Denis Menke hit a sacrifice fly.

Cards Win

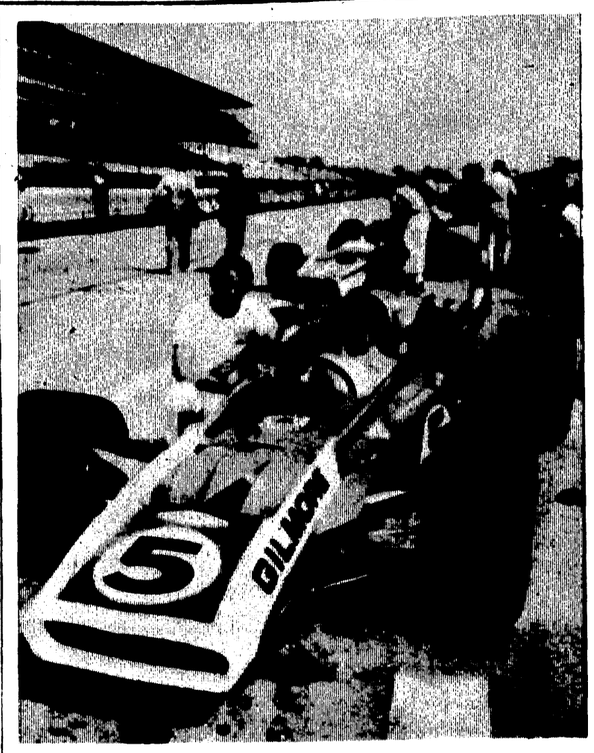
The Cardinals snapped a 7-7 tie with Pittsburgh by scoring four times with two out in the eighth. Lou Brock's tie-breaking single and Joe Hague drove in two more runs with another single.

The Cards scored five times in the sixth, featuring Richie Allen's 12th homer, a solo shot, and Vic Davalillo's three-run double. Willie Stargell homered twice for the Pirates, driving in three runs.

Rod Carew delivered a two-run single after Paul Ratliff doubled home the tie-breaking run in the fourth inning in Minnesota's win over Kansas City. Carew had three singles in the game and now has nine hits in his last 12 at-bats.

Tony Oliva and Rich Reese had run-scoring singles in the first for the Twins but the Royals tied it in the top of the fourth on Bob Oliver's single, Joe Keough's triple and a sacrifice fly.

Tom Hall, who took over for Luis Tiant in the fifth, allowed only one hit over the final five innings and fanned seven.



JOHNCOCK BEFORE CRASHING RACER — Gordon Johncock, 33, of Hastings, Michigan, talks with his chief mechanic Duane Glassgow as he sits in the new Gurney Eagle Ford. Recently the veteran "50" driver escaped harm when the racer twice brushed the wall and made a complete spin coming into the fourth turn during a practice run. His car might miss the qualifying trial for the Indianapolis 500 Saturday. (AP Wirephoto)

Crusader Squad Falls To Redmen

MARQUETTE — The Holy Name Crusaders, with only part of a team, were defeated Thursday by the Marquette Redmen in a dual meet at the Redman track.

Holy Name, without Jim Dubord, Tom Ness and Co., scored 34½ points to 83½ for aMrquette.

The Chusaders made up for their loss by setting two new records on the Marquette track when Dan Young tossed the shot put 50 feet and 3½ inches, to break Gary Brawley of Escanaba, record of 49 feet 1½ inches. Paul Guennette set a new track record in the two mile run, winning in a time of 10:13.8.

Other point producers for the Crusaders were Gary Corbett in the shot put, Nick Knauf in the pole vault, Joe Kroll in the high jump, Young in the long jump, Neil Odgers in the 440 and Dan DeGrand in the two mile.

Two other first place finishers for Holy Name were Noel Gannon in the mile with a time of 4:44.9 and Bob McGinn winning the 880 with a time of 2:04.8.

The Redmen were paced to victory by their duo of Bob Lennes and Bob Schacht, who were both triple winners in the meet.

Leanes won the 100 yard dash in 10.3 seconds, the 220 in :23.4 and the pole vault with a jump of 11'6".

Schacht claimed both the high and low hurdles, winning the highs in :15.6 and the lows in :21.3 and also the long jump with a leap of 18'10½". In the high jump he went 5'11".

The Crusaders will be back in action Saturday at the regional meet in Menominee.

Sinden Resigns As Bruins' Pilot

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins are in the market for a new coach—and who wants to try to fofllow the footsteps of Harry Sinden?

Sinden, 37, shocked the sports world by quitting the Bruins Thursday just four days after leading the club to its first Stanley Cup in 29 years.

Sinden, who led the Bruins from a fourth place finish to a world championship in only four years at the helm, decided to call it quits while a champ in his hockey career.

Experienced in engineering, Sinden elected to go into the business field rather than continue at the helm of a National Hockey League power.

"After many years of amateur and professional hockey in the United States and Canada, I am going on to exciting new challenges and opportunities in mass residential construction," he said.

In his first year, Sinden's Bruins finished last. The next they finished third. Then, in the 1968-69 season they finished second. This year, the Bruins grabbed everything, taking their first Stanley Cup in 29 years.

Says Bobby Orr, an NHL super star, who has collected more awards than anyone in NHL history: "We are losing a damn good man. We did the playing, but he was there working with us every night."

Said Center Derek Sanderson: "I hope he reconsiders. To lose him as a coach is serious. It's a blow to all of us. A new coach won't be able to handle the club like Harry."

Little Leaguers Open Saturday

It will be Mark Beveridge on the hill for Kiwanis tomorrow afternoon against Jerry Moran and the Exchange team when the 1970 Escanaba Jaycee Little League season opens at 1 p. m., at the Little League Diamond.

Kiwanis, generally regarded as the team to topple the Rotary dynasty, has been busy strengthening their organization since the recent players' auction. Bob Hirn and Bill Beveridge have been added to the coaching staff, while Manager Angie Hirn has picked a couple of youngsters, Jerry Guindon and Steve Miller to give them bench support.

The fortunes of Jim Anderson's Exchange team ride pretty much on the right arm of their all-around star, Moran, as the team will field a number of inexperienced players.

Meanwhile defending champion Rotary has been working out nightly in an effort to fill the holes left by the graduation of Matt Smith, Al Schwalbach, Mark Chown, Dale Nevala and Jim Hansen, regulars from last year's winner.

Dark horse VFW handled Rotary pretty easily Monday in a practice game, but Vets Manager Don Ohman was pretty charitable as he predicted, "John (Chlek) will have them shaped up before the season is very old." Ohman, himself, expects to win at least half his games this year, a big improvement from last year's 11-13 record. He is looking for a lot of help from a couple of draftees, Glen Beauvais and Jeff Abrahamson.

The Lions, who have finished second to Rotary the past two years, suffered the heaviest losses in the league when they graduated seven players. However, they have yet to display their pitching ace Kevin Cutler in 1970 action and it should be a tight contest when Cutler hooks up with Mike Smith in Saturday's nightcap.

Cliff Stratton will be on the hill for the Eagles when they open against Beauvais and the VFW. They also lost heavily through graduation but the Eagles did emerge from the draft with a fine crop of 10-ear-olds. They are not expected to be a challenger this year.

In the late afternoon game, the injury-plagued Bankers, under their new manager, Fred Saykly, will open against the Credit Union. Neither team has much pitching experience, but Lloyd Strahl's Union boys will probably go with their left-hander, Harvey Gendreau.

John Way, former four-year Little League veteran and Escanaba Cub luminary, will be behind the plate for the games.

The schedule:

1 p. m. — Kiwanis at Exchange

2:30 p. m. — Eagles at VFW

3:30 p. m. — Bankers at Credit Union

6 p. m. — Lions at Rotary.

Braves Triumph In Golf Match

The Gladstone Braves golfers, tuning up for the Great Lakes Conference Meet today, defeated the Munising Mustangs in a dual match Thursday by a score of 322-356.

The Braves' John Krout was medalist for the meet with a low score of 38, while Bob Prins was a close second with a 39.

Gladstone's other scores were Wayne Marshal with a 47, Mark Tibergien 48, Bernard Wiltzius 49, John Norris 49 and Neil Gerber 52.

With the victory, coach Carl Backstrom's golfers now have a 3-3 record going into today's conference meet.

Newberry Hosts Regional Meet

NEWBERRY — The Manistique Emeralds track and field team will compete in the regional meet here Saturday along with the host Newberry Indians and the Soo Blue Devils.

Coach Rudie Brandstrom's Emeralds have been improving right along and will have a good chance of taking the crown from Newberry, the defending regional champ.

Dust Commander Enters Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dust Commander, the winner of the Kentucky Derby and $181,604, is in the Preakness. So is Hark The Lark, winner of ftwo nonstakes and $10,846.

In between these two extremes fall 12 other 3-year-olds who will take a shot at the first $200,000 race in the history of the Triple Crown.

If all 14 go to the post at 5:40 p.m., EDT, for the 1 3-16 mile classic, the gross purse will be $203,800, with $151,300 going to the winner.

The 95th Preakness at Pimlico will be televised by CBS from 5-6 p.m. EDT, and broadcast on radio from 5:25 to 5:45 p.m.

In order to give Dust Commander a chance at becoming the first Triple Crown winner since Citation won the Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes in 1948, owner Bob Lehmann had to supplement the colt for $10,000 Thursday.

Seven of the 17 colts beaten by Dust Commander in the Derby also were entered for the Preakness—Raymond M. Curtis' My Dad George, runner-up in Kentucky; Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' High Echelon, the Derby third, and Personality; Her-Jac Stable's Naskra; Sonny Werblin's Silent Screen, William C. Robinson Jr.'s Admiral's Shield and Dr. Richard Kuhn's and Walter Hickey's Robin's Bug.

Joining Lawrence P. Boyce's Hark The Lark in a shot at an upset will be Briardale Farm's Stop Time, James P. Mill's Buzkashi, Nelson B. Hunt's Sir Wiggle, Mrs. Merle Weisman's Oh Fudge, and Rex Ellsworth's Plenty Old.

Each starter will carry 126 pounds.

Giants Go From Bad To Worse

By The Associated Press

Just when the San Francisco Giants figured things couldn't get much worse, guess what happened. They did.

The Giants opened a series in Los Angeles Thursday night with slugging first baseman Willie McCovey (10 homers, 32 RBI) doubtful for the entire four-game set with a lingering minor eye ailment and a sore shoulder, to boot.

Then, the Dodgers shelled ace right-hander Juan Marichal with a five-run third inning, boosting his earned run average to a whopping 6.94.

In the fifth, catcher Dick Dietz was struck on the left foot by a foul ball and had to take his .375 batting average and league-leading 35 RBI to the sidelines.

To top it all off, the Dodgers sent a pitcher named Sandy to the mound and the result was a 6-3 triumph.

That was one of only four games in the majors Thursday. Elsewhere in the National League, Houston defeated San Diego 3-1 and St. Louis outslugged Pittsburgh 11-7. The New York Mets-Chicago Cubs and Montreal - Philadelphia games were rained out.

Minnesota turned back Kansas City 5-2 in the only scheduled American League action.

Takes Easy Lead

Marichal, 1-1, was staked to a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Bobby Bonds' single, Don Mason's double and a sacrifice fly by Willie Mays, who was playing first in place of McCovey.

But the Dodgers erupted as Wills and Manny Mota put runners on second and third, Mota taking second on the throw. Willie Davis singled them both home, stole second, went to third on Wes Parker's infield hit and scored on Willie Crawford's grounder. Billy Grabarkewitz capped the outburst with his third homer of the season and Tom Haller's single kayoed Marichal.

Sandy—Vance, not Koufax—checked the Giants on eight hits for his third victory in four decisions before Jim Brewer came on to get the last out.

Joe Pepitone's tie-breaking home run in the sixth helped Houston's Larry Dierker run his record to 7-2. It was Dierker's fourth consecutive triumph this season and the sixth straight time he has beaten the Padres, after losing his first meeting last year.

The Astros got an insurance run in the seventh when Clarence Gaston dropped Jim Wynn's long drive for a three-base error and Denis Menke hit a sacrifice fly.

Cards Win

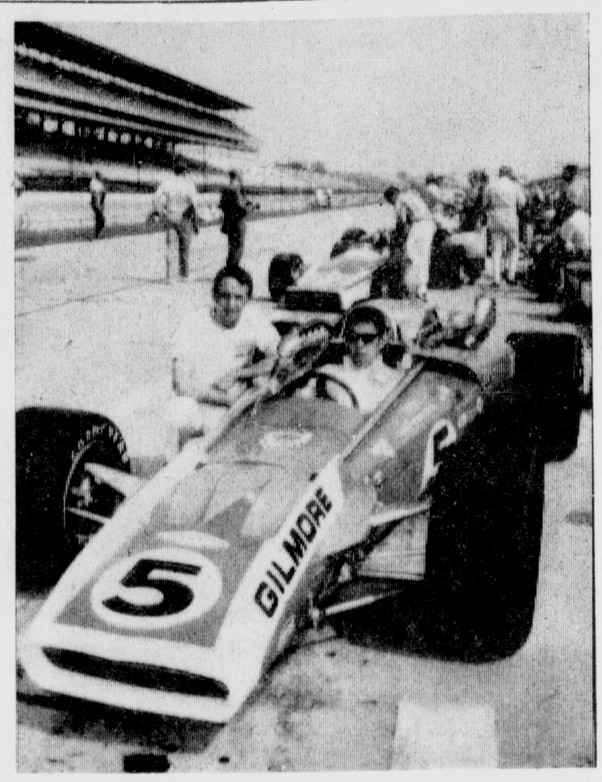
The Cardinals snapped a 7-7 tie with Pittsburgh by scoring four times with two out in the eighth. Lou Brock's tie-breaking single and Joe Hague drove in two more runs with another single.

The Cards scored five times in the sixth, featuring Richie Allen's 12th homer, a solo shot, and Vic Davalillo's three-run double. Willie Stargell homered twice for the Pirates, driving in three runs.

Rod Carew delivered a two-run single after Paul Ratliff doubled home the tie-breaking run in the fourth inning in Minnesota's win over Kansas City. Carew had three singles in the game and now has nine hits in his last 12 at-bats.

Tony Oliva and Rich Reese had run-scoring singles in the first for the Twins but the Royals tied it in the top of the fourth on Bob Oliver's single, Joe Keough's triple and a sacrifice fly.

Tom Hall, who took over for Luis Tiant in the fifth, allowed only one hit over the final five innings and fanned seven.



JOHNCOCK BEFORE CRASHING RACER — Gordon Johncock, 33, of Hastings, Michigan, talks with his chief mechanic Duane Glassgow as he sits in the new Gurney Eagle Ford. Recently the veteran "50" driver escaped harm when the racer twice brushed the wall and made a complete spin coming into the fourth turn during a practice run. His car might miss the qualifying trial for the Indianapolis 500 Saturday. (AP Wirephoto)

'Knight Of Year' To Be Honored

William A. Corson Sr., 234 Arbutus Ave., has been selected "1970 Knight of the Year" and will be honored at a recognization banquet Saturday night at the K of C Clubrooms.

Corson joined the Knights of Columbus in May of 1920 while a student at the University of Michigan, was initiated into the Fourth Degree on June 3, 1945, was elected Grand Knight of local Council 2026 and served in that capacity from July 1, 1943 until June 30, 1945. He received his 25-year pin in 1950 and an Honorary Membership award in 1968. He will receive his 50-year Membership Award tomorrow night.

A. J. Cayia Jr. will be banquet toastmaster. Presentations will be made by Clarence P. McNamara, 3rd Degree; Raoul Z. Bertrand, 4th Degree; William Putvin, 50-year award.

Al Lyons, of Kalamazoo, Past State Deputy, Michigan Knights of Columbus, will be the principal speaker. Blessings will be offered by Msgr. F. M. Scheringer and Father Arnold Grambow and the welcome extended by Grand Knight Arthur J. Demers.

The immediate members of the William Corson Sr. family will attend as will other local and out-of-town guests. Benjamin Multhaupt and Sylvester Rubick are general chairmen with Mrs. Roland Hoholik in charge of decorations.

The dinner will be preceded by a social hour at 6:30 in the Clubrooms.

Three Seeking Posts On Education Board

Three candidates have filed nominating petitions for the two vacant seats on the Big Bay de Noc School District Board of Education. The district includes Cooks, Garden, Nahma, Fayette, St. Jacques and Fairbanks Township.

Board secretary Robert Johnson said he has received petitions from Mrs. Elaine Hartman and Heman Strasler, both of Cooks, and Gary Lang of Fayette.

Mrs. Hartman, the only incumbent, is currently completing a one-year appointive post on the board. She was named to replace her husband, John, who resigned because of ill-health.

Strasler, who owns and operates a gasoline station in Manistique, formerly served on the Cooks School Board before consolidation. He is a 1950 graduate of Cooks High School, is married and the father of five children.

Lang has been engaged in farming in the Fayette area since his 1956 graduation from Cooks High School. He is married and the father of five children.

Voters will select two candidates during the June 8 school election. The terms are for four years each. Incumbent Charles Rasmussen of Garden, completing his firm term on the board, is not a candidate for reelection.

Seniors' Fund Given School

A school board committee composed of Mrs. Margaret Waters, Leon Wood and Robert Knopn has been appointed to meet with senior students and work out problems arising from questions put to the board at this week's meeting.

The seniors turned over $40.40 from the Senior Development Fund to the high school administration which they asked be donated to some school activity in the future.

They questioned the board about school policy and rules regarding school organizations. The seniors complained they were being denied use of money raised at a school carnival and seniors on the Student Council were being relieved from their posts by the faculty advisor.

The SDF was organized in March after the students were told they could not use any of their treasury funds (about $750) which were to be used to defray costs of graduation caps and gowns. The seniors stated they felt the money would relieve a financial burden on some graduates.

High School Principal Marvin Hendrickson explained that class trips were too expensive (between $3,000 and $4,000) and class groups too large (over 160 students) He also said faculty members were not too anxious to resume responsibility for the students on out-of-town trips.

The Area School Board ruled that any fund-raising activities on school property cannot be done without an advisor or school sanction.

Contract Bridge

By B. JAY BECKER

TEST YOUR PLAY

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Five Diamonds. North leads the jack of clubs. How would you play the hand?

♠ 6 2 ♥ A J 10 ♦ A K 10 8 3 ♣ A K 7	N W E S	♠ A Q ♥ 6 4 2 ♦ Q J 7 5 4 ♣ Q 5 3

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Six Spades. North leads the king of diamonds, which you win with the ace. You play a club to the king, North and South following low, and finesse the queen of spades, South playing the three and North the nine. How would you play the hand?

♠ A Q J 7 5 ♥ K J 9 4 ♦ A 3 ♣ J 2	N W E S	♠ 8 6 4 2 ♥ — ♦ 10 6 5 ♣ A K 8 7 5 3

1. Win the club, draw the adverse trumps, cash two more clubs, and lead the A-Q of spades. These plays guarantee the contract regardless of how the North-South cards are divided. Whoever wins the spade will have to return a heart or yield a ruff and discard.

If the heart return comes from South, a finesse of the ten will also assure the loss of only one heart trick.

The trap to avoid is the spade finesse. This play would cost the contract if it turned out that South had the king of spades and North the K-Q of hearts. There is no point to taking a finesse that jeopardizes the contract when there is a method of play that guarantees the contract 100 per cent.

2. By far the best play is to now cash the ace of spades. If the spades are divided 2-2, the contract is cold even though the clubs are divided 4-1. You would continue with a club to the ace, ruff a club, ruff a heart, and ruff another club, establishing the 8-7 in dummy. At worst, you would wind up losing one trick.

Now let's suppose that when you lead the ace of spades North shows out. In that case you still make the slam, if the clubs are divided 3-2, by playing a club to the ace, ruffing a club, ruffing a heart, and cashing dummy's established clubs. You lose a spade trick, but no more.

It would be wrong to attempt another spade finesse after the first one succeeds, since you would be wasting an entry to dummy which you need to develop the club suit. The contract would become unmanageable if it turned out that South originally had three spades to the king and you would eventually go down.

Mental Patient Sought In Deaths Of 3 Kills Self

SHEFFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A former mental patient wanted in the shooting deaths of three Veterans Administration Hospital officials apparently shot himself as officers closed in on him, police say.

Coleman G. Gish, 45, was spotted Thursday by an off-duty state trooper who was going fishing near Shefffield, 150 miles northwest of Danville, scene of the triple slayings Wednesday.

Trooper William Rosenow said he drove past a car parked on a gravel road and saw a man who fit Gish's description drinking beer and eating a hamburger. The car sped off and Rosenow said he radioed for help.

Three other troopers and the Sheffifeld town marshal answered the call. As they approached Gish's car, Marshal Peter Minnaert said, the man shot himself in the head with a .38-caliber pistol.

U. P. Lumberjack Dies In Explosion

FENCE, Wis. (AP)—A house trailer explosion today killed Toivo Holmes, 57, a Crystal Falls, Mich., lumberjack.

Florence County sheriff's deputies said a leaking gas stove was believed to have caused the explosion.

They said Holmes and his brother, Elmer, 60, also of Crystal Falls, were engaged in a logging operation near Fence and occupied separate trailers.

The older brother told deputies he was awakened by the blast at about 6 a.m. and pulled his brother from the wrecked trailer.

Shrine Hospital Day Scheduled

Shriners of three countries join hands, Sunday, May 17, to observe the 48th anniversary of the "world's most rewarding philanthropy," the 22 Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Started in Shreveport, La. in September 1922, the Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine now maintain and operate the greatest chain of hospitals devoted to the treatment of child orthopedic and burns patients.

Both Shrine members and non-Shriners contribute to the support of the hospitals, which now have an annual operating budget of more than $20,000,000.

Doors of Shriners Hospitals are open to children of all races and creeds, receive the most excellent of medical attention from a few days to several years' duration, without charge.

Throughout the 48-year history of Shriners Hospitals "miracles" are practically an every-day event. Today more than 160,000 patients have received treatment and have been returned to society either cured, or aided materially.

Four years ago Shriners opened the first of their three Burns Institutes, located at Boston, Galveston and Cincinnati, and have the finest and most modern treatment available for burn-injured children. There have been more than 1,693 burn cases treated from all over North Ameica, with an average cost to the Shriners of $12,000 and up. Orthopedic cases run in the neighborhood of $1,700 each.

Shriners Hospitals are active in research, both in orthopedic and burns. Use of a vaccine to control pseudomonas infection combined with medical treatment of patients in Shriners Burns Institutes has helped cut the infection rate of violent burn cases to less than 50 per cent.

Shrine burns doctors claim that 75 per cent of all burns cases can be prevented. The five major causes of burns accidents are gasoline and other flammable liquids, faulty heaters, and fire-places, scalds, matches, and trash and outdoor fires.

Three Seeking Posts On Education Board

Three candidates have filed nominating petitions for the two vacant seats on the Big Bay de Noc School District Board of Education. The district includes Cooks, Garden, Nahma, Fayette, St. Jacques and Fairbanks Township.

Board secretary Robert Johnson said he has received petitions from Mrs. Elaine Hartman and Heman Strasler, both of Cooks, and Gary Lang of Fayette.

Mrs. Hartman, the only incumbent, is currently completing a one-year appointive post on the board. She was named to replace her husband, John, who resigned because of ill-health.

Strasler, who owns and operates a gasoline station in Manistique, formerly served on the Cooks School Board before consolidation. He is a 1950 graduate of Cooks High School, is married and the father of five children.

Lang has been engaged in farming in the Fayette area since his 1956 graduation from Cooks High School. He is married and the father of five children.

Voters will select two candidates during the June 8 school election. The terms are for four years each. Incumbent Charles Rasmussen of Garden, completing his firm term on the board, is not a candidate for reelection.

Seniors' Fund Given School

A school board committee composed of Mrs. Margaret Waters, Leon Wood and Robert Knopn has been appointed to meet with senior students and work out problems arising from questions put to the board at this week's meeting.

The seniors turned over $40.40 from the Senior Development Fund to the high school administration which they asked be donated to some school activity in the future.

They questioned the board about school policy and rules regarding school organizations. The seniors complained they were being denied use of money raised at a school carnival and seniors on the Student Council were being relieved from their posts by the faculty advisor.

The SDF was organized in March after the students were told they could not use any of their treasury funds (about $750) which were to be used to defray costs of graduation caps and gowns. The seniors stated they felt the money would relieve a financial burden on some graduates.

High School Principal Marvin Hendrickson explained that class trips were too expensive (between $3,000 and $4,000) and class groups too large (over 160 students). He also said faculty members were not too anxious to resume responsibility for the students on out-of-town trips.

The Area School Board ruled that any fund-raising activities on school property cannot be done without an advisor or school sanction.

TEST YOUR PLAY

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Five Diamonds. North leads the jack of clubs. How would you play the hand?

Laird Says:

Nixon Waited For Right Time To Chase Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is becoming increasingly apparent the Nixon administration decided to hit the enemy sanctuaries in Cambodia because the right conditions had arisen, rather than as a result of a major new military threat.

The key to opening the way for U.S. and South Vietnamese forces to hit the enemy's long-secure base complex was the overthrow in March of Cambodia's neutralist chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

Until the new regime led by Premier Lon Nol took over, the United States felt it had to respect Cambodia's neutrality and its borders.

But the change presented a new situation, the importance of which in administration thinking can be seen in the statements of U.S. officials in their lengthy discussions of the Cambodian operation.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has said: "For a long period of time there have been political considerations—international political considerations that had been involved, and the situation changed and this opportunity was presented."

And Thursday, the secretary said about one-third of the 40,000 North Vietnamese troops in the Cambodian sanctuaries had faced away from South Vietnam starting about mid-April.

This created a situation in which he said the risk to allied forces became less and "the possibility of much lower casualties became apparent."

Thus, Laird said, "this was the time to hit them" in the sanctuaries.

Is Crisis Stage Far Off For National Economy?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The newest government statistics paint a picture of gloom, a full-fledged economic slowdown not at the crisis stage but still troublesome.

Despite the uncontradicted negative figures indicating lower profits and higher prices, the Nixon administration remains publicly convinced its policies are working and business will start upward sometime between June and December.

Travel Narrow Path

"We're traveling a narrow path between recession and inflation," Arthur F. Burns, the Federal Reserve Board chairman, told Congress Thursday.

Although not an official member of the administration, Burns was President Nixon's chief domestic adviser until January and now is as responsible as any other individual for the health of the money and credit systems.

These were the developments Thursday, a day heavy with economic news:

—The Commerce Department said prices during January, February and March rose at an annual rate of 5¼ per cent, a quarter of a point higher than its earlier estimate. With the recent 6 per cent federal pay raise figured in, the increase was 6¼ per cent, highest since the Korean war.

Production Down

At the same time, actual production dropped 3 per cent, the largest since the 1960 recession, instead of the 1½ per cent listed in preliminary figures.

—Output of the nation's factories dropped almost one-half of one per cent during April to 170.4 per cent of the 1957-59 benchmark. It reversed a similar March increase and continued a general slide that began last August.

—The stock market dropped 9.05 points, bringing the bellwether Dow-Jones industrial average to 684.79, the lowest in more than seven years.

Sharp Market Decline

The market has slid almost 40 points since April 28, when President Nixon assured a group of visiting businessmen, "Frankly, if I had any money, I'd be buying stocks right now."

Asked Thursday at a news briefing if Nixon still stood by that, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler smiled, took a sip of coffee, and went on to the next question.

—Personal income gained a record $17.8 billion during April, due entirely to the Social Security and federal pay increases. Private wages and salaries declined $1.5 billion, at an annual rate after seasonal adjustment.

—To the surprise of almost no one, corporate profits dipped $6¼ billion to an annual rate of $85 billion during the first quarter. As a result, corporations' tax liability fell $3¼ billion, giving strength to administration fears the current fiscal year—ending next month—may produce a budget deficit.

Turn For The Worse

—The balance of payments took a sharp turn for the worse in the first quarter, with all international transactions, showing a deficit of $1.73 billion after a $532 million surplus in the October-December quarter last year.

Government economists said the figures weren't unexpected. Treasury Undersecretary Charles E. Walker said the figures "would not indicate to me that the picture was any different from yesterday before the figures came out."

And Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy, speaking in Utah, said he saw signs "that the worst may be over."

113 Students Involved

Sponberg Uses 'Whip' On EMU Dissenters

YPSILANTI (AP) — Eastern Michigan University President Harold Sponberg suspended or put on probation Thursday 113 EMU students arrested in three days of campus turmoil.

Most of the arrested students were picked up by police for violation of the sunset-to-sunrise curfew imposed by Gov. William Milliken Wednesday when he clamped a state of emergency on Ypsilanti.

Others Arrested

The other students were arrested on a variety of charges including creating a disturbance, assault and possession of firearms and narcotics.

Students arrested for curfew violations were given probation, while those arrested on other charges were suspended until hearings before a student court. No date was set for the hearings but a spokesman said they would be held in the next few weeks.

Curfew violators will also get hearings before the student court.

At a noon meeting Thursday, students were urged by their leaders to keep off the streets after curfew, and a demonstration was set for Monday.

Ypsilanti police described the city "pretty quiet" this morning with only scattered and minor incidents of bottle and rock throwing in streets near the campus.

164 Arrested

However, police said 41 more arrests were made during the night, bringing to 164 the total of arrests since Monday.

One persons was booked on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, the others for curfew violation, police said.

The students are in jail and no bonds will be set until they are arraigned. One police officer commented, "We're getting a little tougher. We've got to quit playing."

Police said there were no extra law enforcement officials on campus last night but that state police and Washtenaw County deputies were stationed at a command post nearby.

Abortion Bill Dies In Senate

LANSING (AP) — With a liberalized abortion bill dead in the Michigan Senate, backers of reform pledged today to continue their fight at the ballot box and during the next legislative session.

The Senate Thursday voted 19-18 against reconsidering the defeat of a bill allowing women residents to obtain legal abortions during the first 90 days of pregnancy.

If one senator had switched to support reconsideration, the measure supported by Gov. William Milliken would have remained alive for another roll call. Backers needed a simple majority of those voting to demand a revote.

"Gentlemen, if you think that this issue has been laid to rest, you are in for a very rude and frightening awakening," declared Sen. N. Lorraine Beebe, R-Dearborn, when the vote was tallied.

Mrs. Beebe, Michigan's only woman senator, charged colleagues with opposing reconsideration because of their own personal and moral beliefs, and not following the wishes of their constituents.

Russ Rule Out Ties With Foe On Indochina

LONDON (AP) — Soviet authorities privately are ruling out any possibility of active military cooperation with Red China against the Americans in Indochina, some Asian and European diplomats reported today.

Informal Chinese efforts have been suggesting a reconciliation with the Russians to meet the challenge of President Nixon's intervention in Cambodia.

These diplomats said they have been told by senior Soviet colleagues any renewed Russian-Chinese cooperation would require a Chinese initiative. None has been sighted, and Moscow has no proposals to offer.

The informants have been in touch with high Soviet officials. Their informal exchanges have been reported to their home governments. The accounts they offered of Soviet thinking have been checked and cross-checked, examined against Moscow's actions and pronouncements and seem to have an authoritative ring.

The Soviet Union's policy, according to the informants, was summarized thus:

—The Kremlin is ready to provide all military aid for North Vietnam, and other left-wing Indochinese forces, short of manpower. This contrasts with unofficial Chinese talk of enlisting volunteers for service in Indochinese battle zones if they are needed.

—The Kremlin is resolved to avoid any direct confrontation with the Americans in, or over, Indochina. This ties in with a Western belief that Moscow would not mind watching the Chinese and Americans slugging it out in the region.

—The Kremlin is ready to go on providing the North Vietnamese with all the arms and equipment needed to replace the losses sustained during the American-South Vietnamese sweep through Cambodia.

Reuther Crash Probe Still On

PELLSTON, Mich. (AP)—An investigator for the National Transportation Safety Board said Thursday that the engines of the jet which carried labor leader Walter P. Reuther, his wife, and four others to their deaths Saturday apparently were functioning normally until the plane hit trees near the Pellston airport.

The investigative team member, who asked that he not be identified, said that a full report on the crash would be issued in about one month. He said surveyors would work in Pellston Friday to determine the angle at which the plane, a chartered Lear Jet, hit the ground.

In Washington, another spokesman for the board said the discovery that the engines apparently failed only after the plane hit trees does not explain the cause of the crash.

While stating that the engines "flamed-out" after striking trees on a knoll some 200 feet higher than the airport, the spokesman said "that can't be called the cause of the crash. The pilot didn't just drive into the trees on a whim.

"We have no idea what actually caused the crash," he said, adding, "We'll be working on it for some time, I'm sure."

He said the flameouts were caused by parts of trees and metal entering the engines when the plane struck the trees.

"After that the pilots were only passengers aboard the plane," he added. "They had no power to recover."

At the same time the spokesman said there is no explanation why the plane was so low.

He said a damaged altimeter, believed to be the pilot's, has been recovered and sent to instrument specialists for analysis.

After striking the trees the plane fell toward the ground at a 25 to 30 degree angle and burst into flames on impact with the ground.

Claim Someone Fired From Inside Building

Police fired into a crowd outside a dormitory at predominantly-Negro Jackson State College in Mississippi early today,killing two black students and bringing to six the number who have died in the current wave of campus unrest.

Nine other persons, all but two of them students, were wounded by the fusillade which followed reports of rock-throwing at passing motorists.

Police said they opened fire after someone fired at them from the building. National Guardsmen were in the area with unloaded weapons but not at the scene of the shooting.

Early last week four students were shot to death in a confrontation with Ohio National Guardsmen at Kent State University during a protest over President Nixon's decision to send U.S. troops into Cambodia.

Witnesses in Jackson today said the policemen confronted a crowd of men standing in front of the dormitory and opened with a 7 to 10 second barrage after hearing a sound like a shot or a firecracker.

Neither police nor the college issued a statement on the shooting or the cause of the rock throwing.

Discontent Noted

There has been discontent on the campus for some time, with many students claiming too many blacks are sent to Vietnam immediately after graduation.

After the shooting, students screamed at the policemen from windows of other dormitories while students in front of the building dropped to the ground to take cover.

National Guard troops in armored personnel carriers with .30-caliber machine guns on top moved on to the scene on the 3,500-student campus.

Dead Identified

Hinds County Coroner B. R. Billock identified the dead as James Earl Green and Phillip L. Gibbs, 21. He said autopsies would be performed.

Another nine persons were treated for minor injuries after the violence. All were blacks except a highway patrolman who received minor laceration.

One student said, "They said somebody shot but it was just a bottle. It made a popping sound when it hit."

In Athens, Ohio, the president of Ohio University ordered the school closed early today after 1,000 National Guardsmen were ordered into the city following day-long campus disorders.

Tear Gas Fired

Police earlier fired tear gas to disperse about 2,000 rock-throwing students at the school while the highway patrol sealed offf the southwestern Ohio town of 17,000 people.

At the 41,000-student University of Maryland in College Park, National Guardsmen and state policemen fired tear gas and marched shoulder to shoulder Thursday night to clear 5,000 students off U.S. Highway 1.

The new violence came as many striking students around the country mapped plans to move their protests off campus —to streets, factories and legislative chambers.

UAW President Eulogized Today In Motor City

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther was eulogized today as a man whose interests in social justice went far beyond the membership of the United Auto Workers Union which he headed for 24 years until his accidental death last Saturday.

The heads of all four Detroit auto companies joined other leaders of industry, government and labor at the funeral rites for the president of the 1.6-million UAW members, and his wife, May, who also died in the plane crash in northern Lower Michigan.

Four others died in the crash of a union-chartered jet en route to a union retreat.

"He was there in person when the storm clouds were thickest," said Coretta King, wife of the late civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. "He marched with us in Selma, Ala., Jackson, Miss., and Washington."

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said history will treat Reuther kindly. "You didn't have to carry a UAW card to be one of Walter Reuther's constituents," Sen. Hart noted.

The setting for the double funeral was Detroit's Ford Auditorium, a Civic Center showpiece and a gift from the automotive fafmfily.

The grained oak caskets rested parallel and alone on the huge stage, a golden curtain and flowers forming a backdrop. There was no funeral procession afterward. The bodies were to be cremated.

The 2,926 with seats in the auditorium were there by invitation. So were 400 with basement seats for piped-in eulogies from the 11 speakers.

Mideast Scene Of Air Battles

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli pilots claimed shooting down three Soviet-made Egyptian MIG jets in dogfights over the Suez Canal today.

By Israeli account, two MIG17s were shot down in morning battles over the blocked waterway and a MIG21 shortly after noon.

All three planes were seen falling in Egyptian territory, the military command said here.

The MIG21 had "attempted to interfere" when Israeli planes were on a bombing and stafing mission against Egyptian military targets along the central sector of the canal, a spokesman said.

It was the second Israeli raid of the day and followed two Egyptian strikes.

All Israeli aircraft returned safely, the spokesman said.

Milliken Decries Ugly Turn In Protests, Response To It

LANSING (AP) — Chanting antiwar slogans, a crowd estimated at 6,000 marched to the steps of the Capitol Thursday and staged an hour - long demonstration in the rain.

The peaceful protest was marred when a car plowed into the ranks of the demonstrators and drove through the crowd for at least 200 feet, injuring at least five persons.

The car was surrounded by demonstrators as it moved through the crowd at about 20 miles an hour. Several of the protesters climbed on the vehicle and pounded it with fists and feet.

Driver Being Held

After the car finally stopped, the driver, whose identity has not been released, was taken away by police.

He was being held by police Thursday night, but police spokesmen would not say whether he would be charged with any offense.

Otherwise, it was a peaceful protest. Not even the flowers lining the main walkway to the front steps were damaged. The only evidence that the large crowd left was some trampled grass and a few white wooden crosses.

Police were generally inconspicuous, as opposed to some previous capitol demonstrations when they lined up to barricade the building against far smaller groups.

Most speakers called for quick end to the war. Some protestors shouted and chanted obscenities.

Hear Me Out

Gov. William Milliken had a difficult time getting through his prepared remarks. He was interrupted several times and appealed repeatedly to the crowd to "hear me out."

Milliken praised peaceful dissent, but decried what he said was "evidence of an ugly turn in the direction of protest - and the response to it."

The governor said Walter Reuther, late president of the United Auto Workers Union, helped make the world better "through constructive dissent."

"His whole life was based on dissent," Milliken said. He added that making the world better "is the responsibility of constructive dissent represented by your presence here today."

Legislators Speak

A number of state legislators also spoke to the protestors.

Some demonstrators passed out literature to the crowd and to passers-by. Among them was a leaflet which said in part "if we are to achieve an end to the war in Indochina and an end to the oppression of minority groups at home, we must work within the confines of the political system."

A newspaper called "student action," also was distributed. Under the headline "We Want to Change the World," it said "Christians Are in the Streets" and "Jesus Christ.. Makes Life Solid and Significant."

Over 2,000 Demonstrate

The crowd was much larger than the group which marched to the Capitol for a brief antiwar demonstration Wednesday. Police estimated that gathering at more than 2,000.

The group which gathered at Michigan State University for Thursday's march was estimated by State Police at 10,000. They marched off down Michigan Avenue, walking for more than an hour before they reached the walkway leading to the Capitol steps.

Chased By Rain

However, many drifted away before the demonstration got into full swing. By the time the protest was over the rain had stopped and only a few hundred remained.

The last appeal over the loudspeaker was not to end the war, but for march marshals to help clean up the Capitol grounds.

"It will only take a couple minutes," the speaker said.

Milliken, asked for his reaction after the heckling during his remarks, said he will continue to speak to student groups.

Rotary Club Marks 50th Anniversary

The Rotary Club of Escanaba is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year and one of the observances is a Golden Anniversary banquet program to be held Saturday evening at the Terrace.

Thomas Straebel, Rotary Club president, announced that Dr. Harold E. Sponberg, president, Eastern Michigan University, will be the dinner speaker. He will be introduced by Jean Worth, Rotary Club director and anniversary program chairman.

The dinner is schedulde for 7 o'clock, and others participating in the program will be the Rev. Philip Lyon, president-elect of Rotary, who will give the invocation; introduction of special guests including Easu Cohodas, Iron Mount Past District Governors John A. Lemmer and Edward E. Edick of Escanaba.

Science Awards

Robert Mosenfelder, 50th Anniversary project chairman, will report on Rotary's sponsorship of scholarship awards to students of the local high schools. The awards are full scholarships to Summer Science Camp, providing a full month of recreational camping with special emphasis on the study of natural sciences.

Announcement of the scholarship recipients will be made Saturday evening at the program, when the young people will be dinner guests and will be presented with the awards.

The benediction will be by the Rev. Rodger L. Patrow, Rotarian.

Through the half-century since the Rotary Club held its first meeting on April 5, 1920, it has been and continues to be active in service projects of benefit to the community—many of direct service to youth.

International Study

One of these is Rotary International Foundation, which provides young people an opportunity to study in another country for a year.

The District 622 student this year is from Escanaba—Miss Michelle Marcouiller, daughter of the George Marcouillers, who is currently studying at the University of Brussels in Belgium, where she is majoring in French.

On the international service side, Rotarians of Escanaba have sponsored the visit to this country of students from other countries. The program has been carried on consecutively each summer since 1955 and the 1970 guest will be a young man from Geneva, Switzerland.

The Escanaba area is familiar with the Rotary Club's sponsorship of Rotary Camp Harstad, a summertime health and recreation camp on the Ford River Shore for crippled, handicapped and underprivileged children. It has been operating since 1949, prior to that Rotary sponsored an open-air camp, and its interest in the handicapped goes back to 1924 with contributions to their assistance and sponsorship of clinics in their behalf.

Service To Youth

The Rotary Club also sponsors an annual Christmas party for children in special education rooms of the John A. Lemmer School and students of the John F. Kennedy School.

Another project recognizing the accomplishments of youth is the Rotary Boy and Rotary Girl program, in which a watch is presented to an outstanding boy and girl graduate of the local high schools. Rotary also sponsors each June an Honors Luncheon for high school graduates and their parents.

Past presidents of the Rotary Club will also be recognized at the anniversary program. The late Richard E. MacLean was Rotary's first president when it was organized in 1920.

Present officers are Thomas J. Straebel, president; Frank Bourke, vice president; Arthur W. Moberg, secretary-treasurer; and Alfred H. Troutt, sergeant at arms.

Art Exhibit Ends In Marquette

A lecture in Marquette Thursday night by Willis F. Wood, Director of the Detroit Institute of Art, climaxed and closed the "outreached" exhibit "Museum Directors Choice," which has been on view in Marquette since April 26.

Originally slated to remain in Marquette through May 25, it was being packed today for shipment to another "outreached community" in order to meet tight scheduling commitments in the remaining months of the project.

Other "outreached" shows are programmed in Marquette for the coming months.

Commanders Of Legion, VFW Both Back President

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP)—The national commanders of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars assured President Nixon Thursday of their support on his Cambodia decision. They expressed concern over congressional proposals to force the withdrawal of troops from Southeast Asia.

The VFW commander, Raymond Gallagher, of Redfield, S.D., told reporters after the White House meeting that they spoke for six million organized veterans and their women's auxiliaries.

Gallagher said he and the legion commander, Milton J. Patrick of Oklahoma, had decided to carry their views to Congress and the White House. He added: "It is the first time in history, that our two organizations have got together on a public statement."

Tetanus Shots Important Item

Spring and summer months increase the exposure possibilities to Tetanus. Over 300 cases of Tetanus were reported in the United States in 1969 and the leading cause of exposure to the disease were injuries at home, with farm and garden related injuries following a close second.

Tetanus still has over a 50 per cent fatality rate if it is contracted and it is a disease which can strike at any age, if the person is not immunized in advance of the injury.

Immunization for Tetanus is given in all shot series for infants and children and persons of any age can be immunized. A complete immunization consists of three shots within one year and boosters every ten years or after injuries that might predispose one to Tetanus.

Immunization for Tetanus can be obtained at the family physician's office or at the Delta-Menominee District Health Department in the Delta County Building.

League To Hold State Council Meeting Here

When the League of Women Voters of Michigan convenes for state council in Escanaba next week, Mrs. Harold Anderson, president of the Escanaba League, will extend greetings to the delegates and visitors from the 41 local Leagues throughout the state.

Mayor Pro Tem Robert Bink will extend the welcome to Escanaba.

The meeting will take place Wednesday, May 20, in the State Office Building.

Delegates to the council will consider the results of the first year's study of the state program item for 1969-71: "Taxation and Financing Education."

League Position

The 4,442 members throughout the state have reached agreement on the support of a graduated state income tax, a state property tax, and a state sales tax which would exempt food and medicine. They support these three broad-based taxes as a means of procuring additional state monies to provide an adequately financed, equal educational opportunity for children in Michigan.

League members oppose the earmarking of any of these taxes specifically for education. It is the belief of the League the legislature should be free to act in accordance with need. The League long has held the belief the legislature should not be tied by constitutional restrictions. The League also opposed extending any additional taxing powers to local school districts.

Local Leagues throughout the state reached strong agreement opposing state aid to non-public schools. They wish the shared-time, bus privileges and auxiliary services, as currently defined by law, to be continued. For this reason, the League, as an organization, will not participate in the on-going petition drive to amend the state constitution to prohibit aid to non-public schools.

Study Items

League delegates to council also will determine the direction of the second part of the two-year study which will cover the methods by which the performance of local school districts could be evaluated on a state-wide basis. At the same time the League will continue its support of financial programe and policies to promote equality in education.

Delegates will also review League action and support of other state League study items. Current positions on these study items are:

Social Services — Support a system of social services to: (1) meet at least the minimum needs of individuals incapable of self-support and (2) provide services and training for those capable of becoming self-supporting.

Local Government — Support flexible solutions for area problems.

First Time In U. P.

Courts — Support the selection of qualified judges free from political pressures.

Support unification of qualified staff for Michigan courts and the provision of adequate and coordinated services for children and juveniles.

Juvenile court should continue to adhere to the concept of individualized justice for children.

Juvenile court should adhere to uniform procedural rules which safeguard due process of law.

Civil Service — Encourage the employment of qualified governmental personnel by providing a merit system for government employes.

This is the first time the League of Women Voters of Michigan will hold state council in the Upper Peninsula. State councils are held every two years. Mrs. James Atkinson is president of the State League.

Blacks To Get 'Consideration' At Northern

MARQUETTE (AP)—A list of seven black student demands, including one for increased black enrollment, was presented Thursday to Northern Michigan University President John X. Jamrich, who said he sees the demands "as legitimate indications of perceived needs by one group of students. . .which I will consider, but I will initiate no crash program."

The Black Students Association (BSA), which presented the demands among other things called for an increase in black faculty and student body, a black studies program, a black library and a $5,000 appropriation for black cultural events each year. At present, some 140 of the 7800 NMU students are black.

In response to Jamrich's edict Wednesday forbidding student possession of guns on campus, State Rep. D. J. Jacobetti, D-Negaunee, said he has introduced in the House a bill that would give university officials ordinance-making power to deal with students who refused to comply with the no-gun rule.

Violation of the rule would be a criminal offense, he said.

Many NMU students have kept guns in their possession for hunting.

Five Michigan Civil Rights Commission investigators are presently on campus interviewing black students, faculty members and the administration on charges of racism filed by the members of the BSA and their parents.

MRS. MICHELLE Hammerberg Hurshman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hammerberg, is among 200 seniors who will graduate during the 141st annual Spring Commencement exercises at Georgetown College on May 16. Mrs. Hurshman, a bible major, was on the Dean's List for the fall semester of 1969. She is a graduate of Escanaba Area School and transferred to Georgetown from Michigan Tech.

Hellman Perturbed Over Fish Measure

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan House has approved a bill that would relax state restrictions on fish caught and processed in other states or foreign countries, then imported for sale in Michigan.

The 57-37 vote for the bill, which now goes to the Senate, was narrower than the 63-33 margin by which it passed a week ago.

Upper Peninsula opponents of the measure had succeeded in temporarily blocking the bill, subjecting it to the second vote. They failed to return it to committee or persuade a majority to vote against it, however.

Upper Peninsula legislators protested bitterly that the bill would ruin northern Michigan's Great Lakes fishermen.

Rep Russell Hellman, D-Dollar Bay, charged his own Democratic colleagues with "bold-faced lies" in debate on the bill.

Advocates of the bill said last week it would cut the market price of freshwater fish by as much as 11-15 cents a pound and aid an industry threatened by mercury pollution.

The bill would allow importers from major fish producing states such as Wisconsin, Minnesota, Colorado and foreign countries such as Canada, Holland, Germany and Japan to ship fish meeting their own area standards to Michigan if labeled as products of those areas.

Present Michigan law sets size and quality standards that require fish to be reinspected and sorted when arriving in Michigan.

Son Of Professor Pleads Guilty To Hijacking Charge

MIAMI (AP)—The son of a retired Western Michigan University professor pleaded guilty in a federal court Thursday to a charge that he hijacked a light airplane to Cuba in 1968.

Thomas Boynton, who taught sociology at Loras College in Dubuque, Iowa, was accused of commandeering the plane at Marathon, in the Florida keys. He returned to this country last year by way of Canada.

Boynton told authorities he was depressed by personal problems at the time of the hijacking and wanted to leave his woes behind.

A federal judge ordered a background investigation before sentencing.

Circular Grate Pellet Plant Plan Revealed

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Successful startup of a pilot plant making use of a new circular grate system for commercial pelletizing of iron ore pellets for use in blast furnace burden was announced Tuesday by Arthur G. McKee & Company.

The Cleveland, Ohio, firm conducted a demonstration run for the press at its recently completed pilot plant at Oak Creek, a Milwaukee suburb.

Officials told newsmen the new McKee Unipellet circular grate process represented a significant contribution to the industry.

The new concept makes possible pellets of greater uniformity, less subject to degradation during handling and shipping, with significant economies in costs, spokesmen said.

McKee representatives called the concept "a fourth generation" development in pelletizing plant design. They noted the McKee also had participated in three previous processes which account for nearly all of the present production of iron ore pellets.

These included, the vertical shaft furnace, piloted in 1946; the straight grate process, 1952, and the grate-kiln process, 1956.

Forests Or Freedom?

The Sierra Club was in the business of preserving the environment long before the word "ecology" became popular. Founded by the famous naturalist John Muir, who died in 1914, the Sierra Club now has more than 50 chapters in the United States with a combined membership in excess of 100,000. The Upper Peninsula is included in the club's Mackinac Chapter.

Over the years, the Sierra Club has engaged in many battles to preserve the environment, particularly wilderness areas. The club has been active in the Upper Peninsula in an unsuccessful attempt to thwart development of the Sylvania Tract in the Ottawa National Forest.

Some of its efforts, like the Sylvania crusade, have been misguided. Others have resulted in the preservation of natural areas that otherwise might have been despoiled, and for this the American public is indebted to the Sierra Club.

While assuming a leadership role in arousing public sentiment to improve the environment, however, the Sierra Club has developed some blind spots. One of them is glaringly set forth in a book entitled "Ecotactics: The Sierra Club Handbook for Environment Activists," in which it is stated:

"Before long, journalists will play a bigger role in saving the earth than they do now as mere observers and reporters. If they are to serve their profession and their fellow men, journalists will become advocates for the ecological cause. They will serve their profession because the news media is in trouble. For once, I find myself agreeing, but for different reasons. with Spiro Agnew. The media has grown 'fat and irresponsible.' There are 'effete, impudent snobs' in our midst, but they are the media barons. The press today is IN-credible. Because of its insistence on OBJECTIVITY, the press is impotent. This objectivity, the distinguished David Deitch of the Boston Globe wrote in The Nation, 'is pernicious to society as well as to the institutions of journalism. There is no evidence that it serves a public interest.'"

The temptation is to regard that passage from "Ecotactics" as something that was written in jest, but this is doubtful because the Sierra Club isn't known for having a sense of humor.

Nor, if it takes this portion of its handbook seriously, will it ever be known for common sense. If any credibility can be attached to this policy statement from the handbook, the Sierra Club is dedicated to preserving wilderness at the expense of democracy.

When, in a free society, men are denied the opportunity to decide issues on the basis of objective information, that society is no longer free. When journalists cease to be objective in their reporting they deny the people the means to make informed judgments.

In attempting to prevent a fair hearing for those who may disagree with the Sierra Club, that organization is saying, in effect, that it is more interested in trees than in truth, more concerned with forests than with freedom.

Fords For Russia

Almost 40 years to the day after the Soviets induced his grandfather to set them up in the automotive industry, the Communists asked Henry Ford II to build them the largest truck factory in the world which would produce 150,000 vehicles a year.

In 1930 the senior Ford agreed to supply the Soviets with patents, licenses, spare parts and technical training to establish what was to become the world-famous Gorki auto plant.

Communist engineers were brought to America so they could receive training at various Ford factories.

In his visit to the United States in 1959, Nikita Khrushchev admitted that American aid had provided the Soviet Union with the best in automotive technology. At the Gorki plant, he said, "Americans produced the conveyor belt, the most advanced industrial process in the world."

Since the Soviets have shown a remarkable ability to copy but also a dismal failure to improve on the copy, they now want Henry Ford II to sell them his company's newest technology. At this point it appears that the younger Ford is skeptical of the advisability of "arming" the Communists with American know-how.

Although he describes himself as a free trader. Ford qualifies his stand with the statement that he would not transact any deal with the Kremlin which would "involve the defense interests of the United States. That is one of the things we have to study."

As Ford is aware, a truck can be used to haul produce to the market or troops and arms to the war front.

Peninsula Potpourri

Charles Baullinger of Mass says his faith in human honesty has been restored as the result of an unusual experience. He was dipping smelt in the L'Anse area when he discovered his wallet — containing some money, licenses and important papers — was missing. The next morning he received a call from Emil Kezerle, Iron Mountain, who informed him that the wallet had been caught in his dipnet. Kezerle was fishing downstream from Baullinger at the time. Kezerle refuse any reward when he returned the wallet.

Ann Landers

Mother's Son Didn't Attend 'Other' School

Dear Ann Landers: Please print this letter so "Heartbroken Mother" will see it. She's the woman whose brilliant son didn't get into Harvard, Yale or Dartmouth. Our son was accepted by all three and now I wish he had gone to a nice school in the Midwest.

When Jack left home he was a mannerly, respectful boy, neat and clean — a joy to his mother's heart. After two years out East, the boy's hair is so long it makes me sick. His moustache drifts in the soup. He wears sandals, faded jeans and love beads. He argues with his dad about politics and has brought such radical kids home for weekends that we told him to come alone from now on or stay up there. I thought I'd have a heart attack when Jack announced last week, "The only salvation for this country is to burn everything down and start again."

I hope every mother whose son didn't make the Ivy League will see this and consider herself fortunate. Ours did and I am — Sorry

Dear Sorry: It's not the Ivy, it's Jack. Even the quiet midwestern schools have their share of nutty radicals who want to burn everything down. Your son would have found his soul-mates.

The majority of the students at the Ivy schools are not in sympathy with the wild-eyed far left. In fact they are getting fed up with having their education interrupted by a handful of kooks. And I say it's about time.

Dear Ann Landers: I am being married in June and my mother is driving me nuts. She insists that the white aisle cloth be put down AFTER the groom's mother is seated. The reason is obvious. She wants to walk on it first.

I've asked several people what is the correct procedure and nobody knows. I'm afraid my fiance's mother will be hurt when she sees the aisle cloth laid down after she is seated. The two women don't get along very well as it is. This could be the straw that breaks the camel's back. I'm sure you have figured out that my mother is a strong person — considers herself right in all matters and has never made a mistake in her life. Comment, please. — Mayfield, Ky.

Dear May: Since your mother has probably already walked on water she shouldn't make such a big deal out of walking on the aisle cloth first. I hope she reconsiders in the interest of peace and harmony.

Dear Ann Landers: I boiled when I read the letter from the teacher who resented having a diabetic child in her class. She said the kid was wasting the taxpayers' money by disrupting the class to go to the bathroom several times a day and eating mid-morning snacks.

As a college junior who has had diabetes for many years, I'd like to tell her how sorry I am that I wasted the taxpayers' money and inconvenienced my teachers by going to the bathroom and eating mid-morning snacks.

I am also sorry she is allowed to teach. With her attitude she should not be in the school system. I hope her signature gave no clue as to her identity because I'll bet there are several million diabetics who would love to wring her neck. — Insulin Izzy

Dear Iz: I am neither diabetic nor do I have any diabetic relatives, but "include me in."

U-M Professor Claims Housing Slump Near End

DEARBORN (AP) — The slump in housing has ended, leading the nation out of the current economical slowdown, Dr. Karl G. Pearson, professor at the University of Michigan, said here today.

"The Federal Reserve is easing credit to push more money into housing," Pearson told Michigan Realtors Women's Council members. He said savings institutions are at long last enjoying a net inflow of funds for home financing.

Vacancy rates in housing are the lowest in 12 years, and the housing shortage the worst since the end of World War II, Dr. Pearson said.

"The push is on for low and moderate income housing with financing provided by new government programs. And investments in housing are expanding faster than the economy as a whole," he explained.

Michigan is the nation's No. 1 salt producer.

Letters To The Press

STUDENT VIEWPOINT

As a student at Bay de Noc Community College (although I write as an individual, not as a student), I am very happy that the faculty of that institution (also as individuals) have seen fit to speak out concerning the events of the recent past. It's a good feeling to know that the people who work for you in school don't quit when office hours are over, but that they are genuinely concerned for today's youth. I must express disappointment, however, at the subject, the catalyst, as it were, of their concern.

To say that I regret the deaths of the four Kent State students would be a gross understatement. I do not begrudge their classmates their rightful time of mourning; in fact, I join Messrs. Howard, Youngs, Mitchell, Plowman and Schoen in their distaste for this tragedy. However, an even greater tragedy is that these five men neglected (or perhaps chose to neglect) the underlying causes and effects of those events.

Although they wrote as individuals, it was mentioned that the five men are educators. Therefore, it was with great interest that I noted the lack of even a passing reference to the fact that over 135 colleges and universities across the country have closed as a result of the Kent aftermath. If this fact does not interest or concern them as members of the teaching profession, if they insist on speaking strictly as individuals, doesn't that fact interest or concern them at least as parents of future college age students?

If you want to talk about repression, sirs, let's talk about the mass repression of students numbering in the hundreds of thousands whose educations will be caught up short through no fault or desire of their own. Let's talk about students who saw fit to avoid the violent demonstrations (and will no doubt be branded as apathetic and unconcerned), who were given their walking papers before the semester had ended. Let's talk about the seniors whose graduations and eventual employment will be delayed indefinitely as a result of actions which they thought well not to become involved in. Then you're talking about repression. And since repression is a subject which is bandied about with such great relish in these disorderly times, let's keep on about it.

Let us talk about the repression of the normal lives of certain National Guardsmen who are quite possibly fearing for their lives at this moment. Rightfully so, some might say. But before we condemn anybody, before we get out the knotted hemp and throw it over the nearest tree, let's think things over.

The young men who were called in to "repress the dissent" of the emotional college students must, in all fairness, be considered just as emotional. The Guardsmen were just as young, some even younger than their adversaries, and yet, when they displayed the same human weaknesses (i. e. fear and irrationalism) shown by those adversaries, they were branded as murderers. Never mind the fact that they were called away from their families, yanked away from jobs which cause no such heartache. Never mind the fact that they are little more than children themselves.

Putting a uniform on a boy and thrusting a gun in his hand does not make an instant man, though that is the argument of those who would give them the right to vote. (If anything, their actions only serve to support the prosecution's case against liberalizing the suffrage.) Even if there were such a thing as "instant man" via uniform and gun, men are no less human than students, nor do they cherish their lives any the less.

When the National Guard was called in to supress the violence in Detroit's long hot summer of 1967, and blacks were killed while "trying to get some answers," no one thought to point angry fingers and shake angry fists. And no one thought to call them Nazis. At that time, public sympathy was with the Guardsmen, for getting stuck with a bum job. It's this student's opinion, after having had a taste (however slight) of mass student violence, that the lot of these particular Guardsmen, who had no choice in being there, is more than just a bum job — it's a crying shame.

Concerning the presence of the four youths at that fateful (and fatal) rally, it's true that all who follow a fire truck are not arsonists. However, it's also true that it doesn't take a lot of horse sense to recognize trouble when it's breathing down one's neck. The students at Kent State set fire to a building and became so violent as to require the presence of the National Guard (at least someone thought so).

Anyone who would deliberately and intentionally appear with such a group is asking, if not begging for trouble. There are demonstrations, and there are demonstrations. But no one in his right mind could look at a situation like that, see the violence, the fever pitch of the crowd, and still not suspect that there was going to be enough trouble to warrant leaving. No one is that naive. And if they are, that naivete completely negates the premise that they are mature individuals looking for solutions to the problems of the day, which is fine with me.

Perhaps I have an inferiority complex, but I do not flatter myself to the point of thinking that I, in my 20 years of life, have learned enough to justify burning, looting, and killing in order to change the mind of the President of the United States.

The only problem with today's youth is that it is having a giant temper tantrum and needs to have its collective rear end spanked and allowance taken away until it grows up. One of these days, the non-violent students are going to realize that it is not their classmates that are doing the rioting, it's professional agitators who are trained as skillfully to incite as the National Guard is to control. And that makes the whole thing a terrible waste. Someday I, and others like me will get the courage and intelligence to say to these spoiled children, "This is my school, and if you don't want to play my way, then I'll take my school and go home."

Score is 30-30. Your serve, gentlemen.

CONSOLIDATION VOTE

On May 18 the Hermansville School District will again be voting whether to consolidate with a neighboring school district. Since 1957, there have been two county, one local, and one area study of this end of the county and two previous consolidation elections and now here we go again. Has anyone considered how much time and tax money that been spent in these past 13 years for these studies and elections, and still the school districts remain the same?

If this situation wasn't so tragic, it would be funny. Here are people who would never consider going out to buy a 1970 car at a 1970 price and then accept a model made in 1950-60, but yet are paying a 1970 price for a 1950-60 model educational system.

Many people who are considering voting down this issue, would never dream of denying any child food, clothing and shelter, and yet they will deny this same child, the next most basic need — a good all around better education. These same people will spare no expense to buy a child some new gadget, gimmick, toy or plaything, that quickly becomes broken, or out of date in a very short time, yet when it comes to paying more for education, they complain it will cost too much.

In the neighboring district, one man said he was voting this issue down and was going to talk others into the same, because 20 years ago, Hermansville turned them down. Why should the pupils now be punished for what our school board did then?

Some are going to vote this down because they do not want to have their children bussed. What's so wrong with bussing? When these children step on that school bus, it is the responsibility of the school to see that he gets there and back home again safely. What's wrong with riding on a nice, warm school bus when it is raining or storming outside?

Another reason given for voting this down is that we would lose our identity. What is this identity? Who is it really important to? When a boy or girl leaves school and applies either for a job, college entrance, or goes into the armed services, they are asked where they live and what school they attended. Nowhere are they asked what basketball team they played for. When a school is requested for a student's record, it means their school marks and scholastic achievements. Let's quit kidding about this identity thing—its not important to any student's future.

Then there are those people who won't even bother to go out and vote because they no longer have children in school. Don't you care what your tax dollars are buying for the school children? Some of those students are your grandchildren, relatives, and friends. Don't they deserve the best education your money can buy? Those twelve school years of a child's life is the very basis of his future wherever he may go later on. Without a good comprehensive education, he may get into a rut he may never get out of.

If this election fails, again it will be because of petty pride, prejudice, and bigotry. The choice is yours! Make up your own mind. If you get an anonymous letter or phone call telling you to vote "No", ask yourself why this party will not identify himself or herself. Think about this and then make up your own choice. The future of many students depends on your choice — let's hope we make the right one.

Margaret LaBombard
Hermansville

TIME FOR A CHANGE

Since when have children ruled this country? By what right, by what accomplishment, should these teenagers—become the rulers of our time?

It is time to call a halt; time to live in an adult world where we belong, and time to put these teenagers in their place. We owe the younger generation what all older generations have owed younger generations, love, protection to a point, and respect when it is deserved. Nothing more.

We, the older generation, and taxpayers are very sick and tired of reading, hearing and seeing our schools destroyed by this so-called younger generation of so-called progressive educated people. It is time perhaps, that too much money and effort has been employed in giving these teenagers the education they do not seem to appreciate. Did the older generation have the fine buildings, the fine housing on campus, the broad educational subjects? No. But they brought forth a good Nation with the highest standard of living on earth.

It is time for our colleges to set standards by which the students are to live by, and when these students don't, out they go. They are to obey the rules set down just as all people are to obey the laws of the land. There should be no arguing about it, no protesting, no burning and destruction of buildings allowed.

It is time that the National Guard is issued orders to shoot with live ammunition (but not to kill) all who are desecrating and destroying our property. We have had enough pussyfooting around with the small minority of students who want to push their weight around.

It is time that the majority of students and good teachers in our colleges organize and squash these violent movements before they get started. It is time that the majority show the older generation and the rest of the world that it is only the minority who are sick and intolerant of the laws and ways of this nation.

STUDENTS EXPLOITED

While the letter to the Press, "Taking Issue", from Messrs. Howard, Young, Schoen, Plowman, and Mitchell is worth the time it takes to read it, the "Silent Majority" have other thoughts on the dangers to the United States.

John Chamberlain expresses those thoughts very well in his article, "Nation Has Returned To Problems Of '30's", which is printed on the same page as "Taking Issue."

Mr. Chamberlain tells it as it is in his last paragraph: "Why are we reduced to such a state? It is because the Left understands the principles of social justice. It knows the dynamics of trapping our innocents into motions that end with the innocents knocking themselves out."

There is much to be learned that is not printed in books, and it is learned from experience. That is something college students do not have. They are being exploited—by the Left.

Mrs. Wendell Erickson
Mounted Route, Escanaba

MISSED THE POINT

In your Tuesday issue five college instructors go to long and garrulous length to completely miss the point of who is responsible for the shooting deaths at Kent University.

The National Guard was called there by proper authorities because of the likelihood of illegal and violent rioting by a mob. If there had been no rioting there would have been no Guards. No Guards, no shooting. It's as simple as that.

The college people seem to think that the Guards (many of whom are also "kids") should allow themselves to be stoned into submission by a howling mob that outnumbered them by ten to one or more.

The last issue of Time magazine points out that seven policemen have been killed by mobs and 47 have been wounded. Where are the sympathy marches, the sit-ins and cry-ins and letters to the press in sorrow for the seven dead officers and their widows and orphans?

Bucher Says Fear Of Jobs Reason No Help Offered

DETROIT — (AP) — Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher of the ill-fated spy ship USS Puelbo says there were many persons in high positions who "because of their jobs" did not come forward to help in his defense.

"I feel this was unfortunate," Bucher said at an informal press gathering before a Michigan Sports Hall of Fame banquet Thursday.

He declined to elaborate on his statement.

Bucher was an honored guest at the banquet.

His autobiography, scheduled for publication in August, will contain information about the "Pueblo Incident" never before revealed, Bucher said.

"The most important thing that has not been made known that will be in my book is on what happened and why it happened. What the North Koreans were doing there and why.

"I've just gotten around to figuring it out," he said.

Looking frail and speaking softly, Bucher declined to comment on what he termed "political questions."

North Koreans captured Bucher, his crew and the Pueblo Jan. 25, 1968, off the coast of North Korea. After being held prisoners for 11 months, Bucher and his crew were released and returned to the United States Dec. 23, 1968.

"Do you find it difficult to sleep, thinking about your ordeal?" he was asked.

"I sleep well," he said. "But I had a dream—a nightmare—for a couple weeks that we had to go back on some kind of technicality."

"I try to think how I could have done my job better," he added. ". . . If the situation was the same I'm sure I couldn't have done anything differently."

Bucher, who played football at Boys Town, Neb., was last in Detroit in Oct., 1969 to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the city's famed Boys Bowl football game. Bucher was on the Boys Town team that met Detroit Catholic Central High School in that game 25 years earlier.

Ever since the Navy completed a Board of Inquiry into the Pueblo Incident Bucher has been assigned to the Naval School at Monterey, Calif., where ie is in a management program.

"That's where the Navy sent me," he said bleakly. "I'm no manager. But I go where I'm told."

Issue Warning On Long-Term Auto Lease Deception

Operators of service stations, used car lots or similar businesses were warned today by the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce to check carefully on the sale of long-term automobile leasing plans.

Walter G. Lewke, manager of the Chamber, said serious questions connected with the sale of brokerages have been raised by the National Better Business Bureau, with which the Chamber is affiliated.

Typically, said NBBB, a local businessman is approached by a representative with a plan held out as a source of supplemental income through leasing new cars to the public on a long-term basis with an option to buy.

While the deceptions have not been identified with all companies offering brokerages of this kind, says NBBB, evidence indicates they are widespread enough to warrant extreme caution by local businessmen.

Before making any commitments, check the firm's reputation with your local Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce, it was advised.

Market Gives Up Most Early Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market gave up most of its early gains early this afternoon in quiet trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 1.85 at 686.64 after being up nearly 8 points in early trading.

Advances, which had led declines by 3 to 1 earlier, held only a slim lead over losers at midday.

Profit taking and a supply of stocks for sale on market gains washed out any technical rally, according to analysts.

Brokers had looked for a technical rally this morning because of the strong recovery the market made late Thursday when the Dow closed down 9.01 points after having been off more than 17 points.

Steels and aircrafts were down while most other categories were mixed or slightly ahead.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was ahead .2 at 241.5, with industrials up .2, rails ahead .2, and utilities up .2.

President Finds Florida 'Climate' More Comfortable

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — It was 1968 all over again on a miniature scale.

President Nixon, arriving in Florida Thursday night for a working holiday, was greeted by a campaign-type crowd, rather modest in size and lung power but well supplied with tiny American flags and some professionally prepared signboards applauding his Southeast Asia policy.

The President, responding eagerly, mixed with his greeters —military personnel of Homestead Air Force Base and their dependents—and later summed up for newsmen the sentiments he gleaned from those he chatted with:

"Mainly, we support you; you know, we trust what you're doing; we think you ought to make the decisions—and, actually, they're interested in bringing . . . peace to the world, peace with justice."

Perhaps as many as 1,200 turned out to welcome Nixon and wife Pat at the base across Biscayne Bay from their waterfront home here. The base has a population of about 23,000 military men and dependents.

Body Recovered From Plane Crash

Scuba diver John Hazelbaker of Columbus said he saw two other bodies amid wreckage at a depth of 80 feet but divers were unable to get them out before operations were called off for the day.

One engine of the twin-engine craft also was brought up.

Recovery operations, directed by the National Transportation Safety Board, resume Friday.

Dentist Hopes More People 'Did Care'

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A tall, grey-eyed young Atlanta dentist wishes the American people would care. About "I Care."

"There are 1,500 brave men over there, in North Vietnamese prisons, kept in cages and underground caves fit only for pigs," says Dr. John Linder with an indignant shake of his head.

The 26-year-old dentist is trying to stir up indignation in others—millions of others—to bring them "out of apathy into commitment" by getting them to write letters to Hanoi, or sign "I Care" petitions.

The petition reads simply: "I care about the inhumane treatment our men are receiving as prisoners in Southeast Asia. You have my support in your efforts to bring relief to them."

Eventually, these petitions will be sent to Texas multimillionaire Ross Perot, who is organizing a nationwide truck pickup to send millions of them to Hanoi.

Thus far, Linder has 10,000 petitions which he admits is below expectations, but 500-600 are coming in every few days. And the "I Care" movement, started three months ago, already has spread to Minneapolis, St. Louis and Dayton, Ohio.

"I Care" seeks the release of the names of all prisoners, more humane treatment for them and inspection of prisons by the International Red Cross.

"Public support is the only voice to which Hanoi will listen," Linder said in an interview in his small modern paneled office.

Every concession granted thus far concerning American prisoners has been in response to massive public opinion, said Linder.

FBI Plans Probe For Six Georgia Rioting Deaths

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has announced plans to investigate the deaths of six Augusta, Ga., Negroes who were shot during rioting there Monday night.

Meanwhile, doctors who have examined the bodies are unable to agree on how many times the victims were shot.

The Justice Department's Civil Rights Division will conduct the investigation in an attempt to determine whether federal civil rights laws were violated, the department said Thursday.

The men were killed during Monday night's disorders, in which Augusta police said there were incidents of looting and arson.

The disorders were touched off by the beating death of a Negro youth in the Richmond County jail in Augusta. The civil rights division is also investigating that death, the department said.

Students Offer Apology To Ford For 'Rudeness'

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The Student Government Association of Wichita State University has approved a resolution to present a formal apology to Rep. Gerald Ford, R-Mich., House minority leader, for the "discourteous interruptions" during his speech last Thursday.

Ford was forced to stop talking several times while students protesting President Nixon's Cambodia decision and the killing of Kent State University students, jeered and chanted.

The resolution, passed by the SGA Wednesday and introduced by Joe Speelman, a liberal arts junior, said that a university campus should be a place where a person can express his viewpoint, "no matter how disagreeable or non-substantive it might be."

Ford supported President Nixon during the speech, the final address this year in the Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial Lecture Series.

Gas Supply Hearing Adjourned By PSC

Michigan Public Service Commission adjourned hearings this afternoon after four days of testimony on complaints filed against Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., by three Upper Peninsula communities and Newberry State Hospital, which want natural gas service.

The City of Manistique and townships of Watersmeet and Marenisco and the hospital claim the Commission should force the utility to provide them with gas service, but the utility maintains that all four projects would lose money.

All three communities completed their cases during the week, but the hospital, represented by the State Building Division, will present an additional witness when the hearings reconvene in Lansing at a later date.

Most of today's session was taken up with Manistique's city attorney, Robert Berger, questioning Charles Maxwell, head of the gas division of the MPSC staff, on rebuttal testimony. Yesterday the township supervisors from Watersmeet and Marenisco completed their presentations.

Michigan Consolidated continued to hold to its position that although it had originally planned to supply the communities and hospital, rising costs and an inadequate rate order from the Michigan Public Service Commission forced it to cancel its plans.

It said the projects would require an investment of $2.7 million, but at the end of five years the company would still be losing money on them and have an accumulated loss of $200,000.

Salem Lutheran To Observe Mission Sunday

Salem Ev. Lutheran Church, 12th St., and 4th Ave S., will observe Mission Festival this Sunday, announces Pastor J. J. Wendland. Services are at 8 and 10:45 a. m. This is appropriate since it is Pentecost Sunday, the birthday of the Christian church. Salem is a member of the Wisconsin Synod, briefly referred to as WELS.

Emphasis this Sunday will be on the World Mission carried on by the members of WELS. For many years in expanding measures, World Missions have been carried on. Today the sun never sets upon WELS Missions.

Countries where World Missions are supported and carried on by the members of WELS are: East and West Germany, Zambia and Malawai in Central Africa, Puerto Rico, Mexico, Japan, Hong Kong and Formosa. WELS is in fellowship with independent Lutheran churches in Africa, France, Germany and Finland.

Requests from pastors and congregations are directed to WELS from Indonesia and India. Many are tired of liberalism and are turning to conservative Bible teaching and practices for conscience sake. It is almost impossible to answer the many requests.

Other WELS congregations in this area who are supporting this World Mission program are: St. Paul's, Gladstone, St. Martin's, Rapid River; St. Paul's Hyde, and Grace, Powers. These churches welcome all unchurched and new people moving into the area.

U.S., Viet Step Up Operations

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam and Viet Cong troops stepped up their military pressure today in Cambodia outside their hard-hit eastern sanctuary area. The main target was the largely untested Cambodian government forces.

U.S. B52s hammered at enemy supply trails and depots in eastern Laos, jammed with war materiels kept out of Cambodia by the allied offensive, informed sources said.

But concern mounted in Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital, over new action by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

The enemy forces took control of a town across the Mekong Rievr from the important provincial capital of Kompong Cham, 45 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, a Cambodian general said. He reported two Cambodian battalions "missing."

Brig. Gen. Phan Moeung, commander of the 1st Military Region, said three Cambodian companies were still fighting north of the town of Tonle Bet but he did not expect them to hold out. It was feared the road to Kompong Cham would be cut.

Local Elections On Odd Years Get House Approval

LANSING — (AP) — A bill establishing an odd - year general election for city officials, local school board members and possibly local judges has been passed by the House and sent to the Senate.

Under the bill, passed 68-31, county circuit court and local municipal or district court judges could be placed on the proposed odd-year ballot in early August if a constitutional amendment were adopted. State Supreme Court justices and appeals court judges would not be involved.

Election day under the proposal, sponsored by Rep. Alfred Sheridan, D-Taylor, would be Tuesday after the first Monday in August. Although intended to take effect by this July 1, the bill could not affect judges until next year, even assuming favorable Senate action, because of the constitutional amendment.

In other House developments Thursday, partisan differences led to the defeat of a bill aimed at eliminating a one-week waiting period to qualify for unemployment compensation.

Artists, Craftsmen Highlight TV Program

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — A retired Wisconsin postmaster gains contentment with life by transforming a piece of hardwood into a bowl. When he can find a black walnut burl, he becomes ecstatic.

A woman in New Hampshire sits at her floor loom and weaves and ties unusual materials into oddly shaped contemporary designs.

A sculptor in Berkeley, Calif., has his own foundry and casts his own massive bronze pieces.

A Japanese-American woman in New Jersey whose touch is as light as a butterfly wing sits at a potter's wheel and gives shape, form and vitality to a lump of wet clay.

These were among the artists and craftsmen whose life and work were sketched Thursday night during an ABC special designed to document the resurgence of folk art and handcrafts in this country. It was actually a reminder that in a depersonalized computer age, people need the identification and satisfaction of working with their hands.

This has become a do-it-yourself nation. Suburban householders are weekend cabinet makers. A couple of books on needlepoint have become best sellers. Many people are Sunday painters and the fastest growing hobby among women is hand weaving.

The program, "With These Hands," did no more than suggest the importance of satisfying the creative urge and more often meandered around the subject. The people chosen to illustrate the theme were, while interesting enough, as often professionals with well-established reputations as amateur craftsmen.

It showed a California man who creates enormous bold wood sculptures by using a chain saw instead of chisel and mallet. A Mankato, Minn. glassblower was seen demonstrating his techniques to a group of students.

The hour was a partial answer to the currently most popular cristicism of commercial television: "Why doesn't it ever show some of the good things about America instead of the worrisome or bad things?"

Well, the people seemed to be doing good, nonworrisome things.

The New Hampshire tapestry weaver came closest to carrying the program's message when she remarked that "there is something for everybody" but the trick is for each person to find that handwork appeals.

It was a program of special appeal—probably viewers already interested in woodworking, sculpture, ceramics or weaving found it most interesting—it moved along at a sleepy pace and was not helped by a dull narrative.

Limit Family To 2 Children, Lutherans Told

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Michigan ministers of the American Lutheran Church have been told by the church's state convention to encourage their families in their congregations not to have more than two children.

A resolution to that effect was adopted Wednesday after 45 minutes of debate. The resolution followed a warning from Dr. William Cooper, a zoologist at Michigan State University, that man faces extinction soon because of overpopulation and misuse of natural resources.

The resolution came at the end of the group's four-day state convention attended by 500 delegates.

The Lutheran group also adopted a resolution endorsing an abortion reform law now before the Michigan Senate.

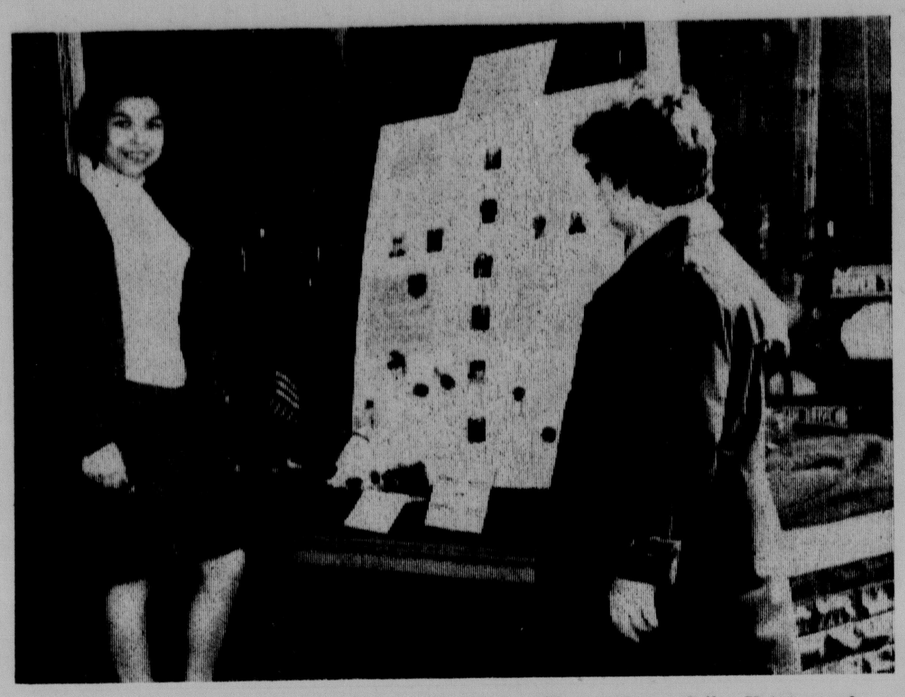
Much of the convention's time was spent discussing campus dissent and the war in Indochina.

Efforts were unsuccessful to gain approval of a resolution directing each congregation to prepare petitions to President Nixon protesting the war in Cambodia and urging withdrawal of U.S. troops from Indochina.

But the delegates approved a suggestion that each congregation urge its members to make their personal views known to the President and their U.S. senators.

An Eastern Michigan University student and convention delegate appealed to the church Wednesday to, "Listen to what we have to say." His appeal led to nearly unanimous passage of a resolution asking the church to "express a greater willingness to hear the expression of students."

The delegates also went on record for a second time as opposing state aid to private schools.



SATURDAY WILL BE Poppy Day in Gladstone with members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars selling poppies for the first time in Gladstone. Here's The Answer

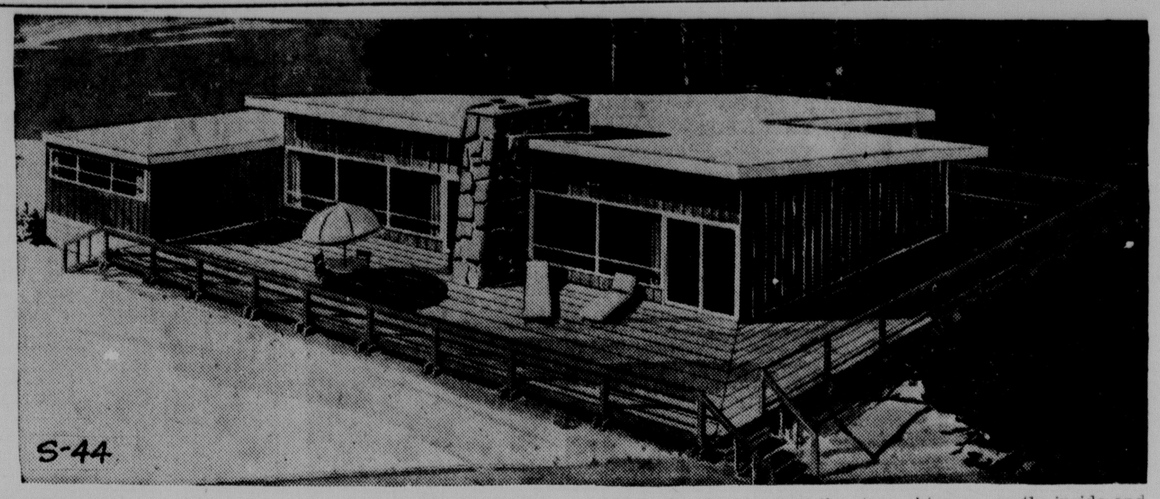
By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Q.—I painted our house last year. The paint seems to be in good condition except under the eaves. Why is this?

A.—Without more information on exactly what condition has developed, it is difficult to give you a definite reply. But the two most common causes of such trouble are (1) that the area was damp at the time you painted it or that dampness found its way under the paint later on or (2) that the area under the eaves, unlike the rest of the house, was still glossy at the time you painted it and that the paint failed to "take" properly. Paint under the eaves is less exposed to the weather and often retains a measure of gloss for years, assuming that a paint of that nature was used in the previous job.



SIMPLICITY keynotes construction of this second or vacation home, which nevertheless takes on its own individuality by the placement of the stone chimney, partly inside and partly outside the house.

Simple Vacation Retreat

By ANDY LANG

With cities and suburbs becoming more congested, many families are building second homes as retreats or vacation houses.

These can range from tiny, one-room cabins to large structures that are far more pretentious than the houses in which the families spend most of their time. But it is still possible to have a luxurious second home without being rich, especially when it is kept to a reasonable size, is simply constructed and uses standard-sized lumber.

This attractive house, designed by architect Samuel Paul, falls into that area. It exudes a quality of living that can be casual or formal. Surrounding the house on three sides is a huge deck for outdoor living. The inside flows onto this deck by means of sliding glass doors strategically placed.

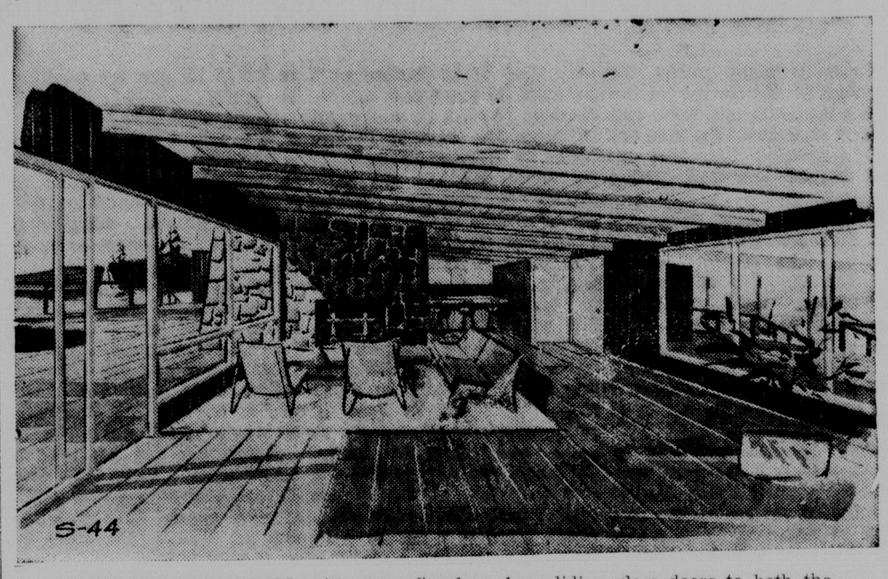
Featured on both the inside and the outside is a massive and dramatic stone chimney. Inside, it contains a fireplace and acts as a divider between a large, multi-purpose room and a dining room. The outside portion extending onto the deck and has a barbecue. Best of all, the chimney counteracts the strong horizontal exterior line of wood and glass.

Entering the house from either the front or rear deck, one is immediately confronted with the spaciousness of the interior and with its natural materials of wood, stone and glass. The wall of the multi-purpose room opposite either the front or rear entrance is predominantly glass. While the room is set off by itself, it flows conveniently into the dining room and the galley-type kitchen .

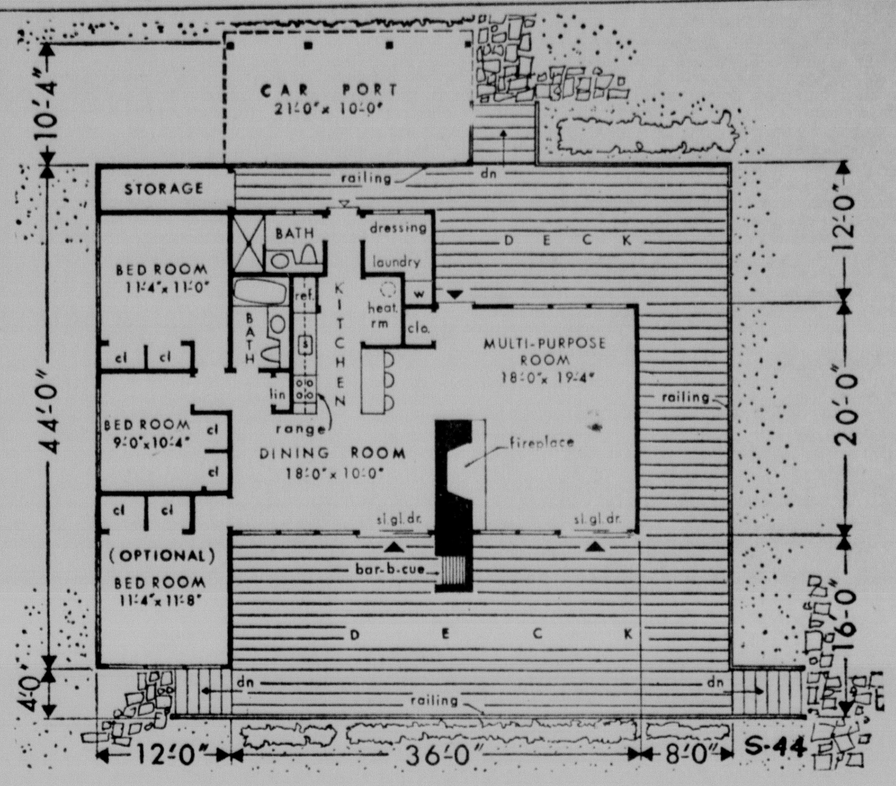
If the budget doesn't allow and if the house is to be used, for instance, by two, three or four persons, the entire bedroom wing can be eliminated or added as money becomes available. This is made possible by the fact that there is sufficient space in the basic house to provide sleeping quarters. With the dining room and multi-purpose room stretching to more than 36', it would be an easy matter to set up sofa beds, high risers or bunk beds that could be utilized for sleeping. The bedroom wing, as shown in the plans, has three bedrooms, but can, in its original form, be constructed with two bedrooms; the third bedroom could be added at any time or not built at all.

A desirable feature of this house is a bath and dressing room which is accessible from the outside — a convenience for bathers and children. There is another bathroom for regular use, convenient to the bedroom wing. A carport is attached at the rear of the house.

Simplicity and crispness are effectively combined here. A good choice for a second home.



MULTI-PURPOSE ROOM, with stone fireplace, has sliding glass doors to both the front and rear of the wood deck.



FLOOR PLAN: Indoor and outdoor living are well divided in this layout, with each occupying about the same amount of square footage. Note four entrances to the house from the outside deck.

S-44 STATISTICS

Design S-44 has a multi-purpose room, a dining room, a kitchen, two baths, a dressing room, laundry area and three bedrooms, totaling 1296 square feet. There are 1248 square feet of decking, providing almost as much space for outdoor as for indoor living. The over-all dimensions, including all the decking and a storage space behind the bedroom wing, are 56' by 48'. If a carport is built at the rear, it would add 10' 4" to the depth.

Kids Getting Into Act, Stage Sit-In Over Recess Rule

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Things were back to normal today at Oakdale Elementary School after a crisis over recess.

It was a crisis to the fourth, fifth and sixth graders, anyway, who staged a sit-in recently when their recess period was suspended for what one teacher described as "rude, noisy and discourteous behavior" on the playground Monday.

"No recess, no school," chanted the kids.

School officials reinstated recess Wednesday, explaining the disciplinary measure was a one-day thing.

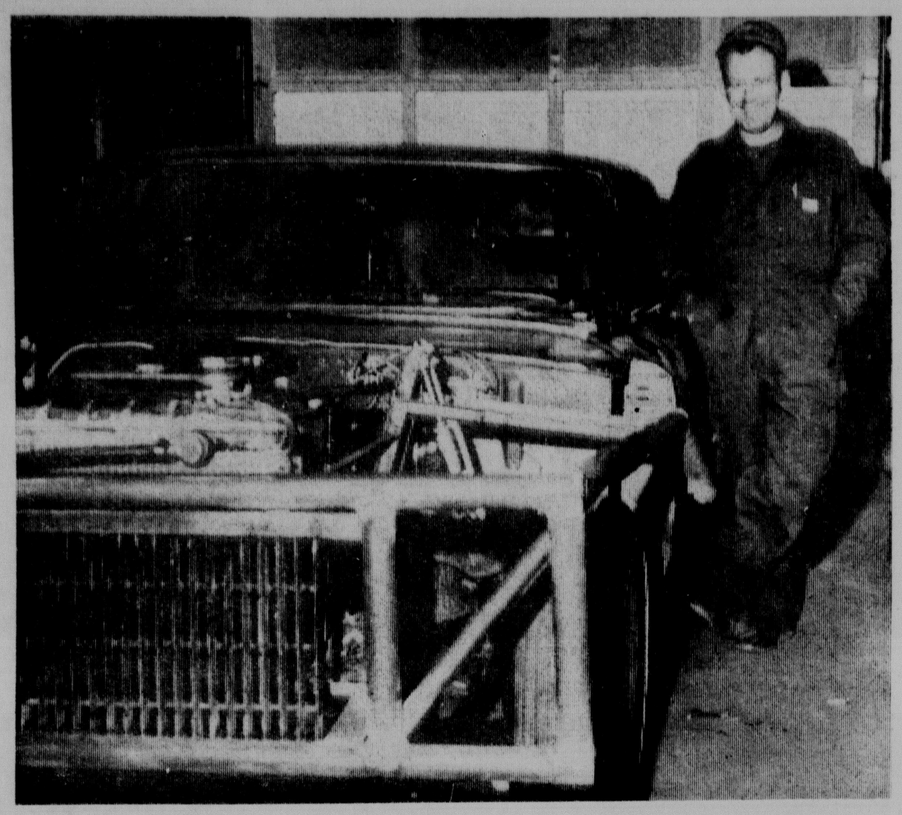
we're sick of doing dishes

There are usually three types of humans who are stuck with the daily chore of washing—and drying—dishes: Moms, Pops, and Kids. None of them enjoy doing the dishes a thousand times each year . . . and they don't need to!

You can get rid of this tedious, messy chore because dishes do themselves when you have an automatic electric dishwasher. All you do is stack the dishes (pots, pans and silverware, too) in the electric dishwasher and turn a dial. Zap! They come out sparkling clean and germ-free.

You'll never wash dishes again . . . or dry them either . . . once you have a modern electric dishwasher!

ESCANABA MUNICIPAL ELECTRIC UTILITY



DICK PETERSON, number one sportsman driver of 1969 is shown here with his latest edition, a 1962 Ford. Peterson is anxiously awaiting the green flag on Saturday night as he returns to defend his title in the highly competitive sportsman class.

THE ASSOCIATION FLAGMAN, Leroy Sovey, is helping out by doing some welding on Ray Gardner's modified car. Racing fans will see a lot of Sovey this season as the man behind the flags.

Racing Season Is Here

Saturday night marks the opening of the racing season at the Escanaba race track and drivers throughout the area are busy preparing their cars for the biggest and best racing season ever.

Now under new ownership the Peninsula Stock Car Association has made several changes in rules and racing procedures. The association feels they will be able to start the events on time this year because of the new changes and therefore limiting an evening program to a maximum of three hours.

Cory Johnson, president of the Peninsula Stock Car Association, predicts the largest number of drivers in the history of Escanaba to turn out for this seasons competition.

Johnson said members of the association have been donating many hours of their own time to install new flood lights, preparing the track, or wherever they are needed, to assist in the preparation for the racing season.

Races have been scheduled for each Saturday night at the State Fairgrounds in Escanaba, with time trials starting at 7 p.m. and the races at 8. Admission will be $1.75 for adults and 50 cents for children 12 and under. In addition to the regular racing schedule the association is planning several special events during the year which will be announced later.

It takes a lot of time and hard work to build a stock car, in addition to holding down a full time job. Dick Peterson, for example, works full time at Harnischfeger, owns and operates a 427 acre farm in Rapid River, including 90 head of cattle, and still finds time to build and drive a winning stock car. Peterson is also the vice president of the Peninsula Stock Car Association, which requires a considerable amount of his time.

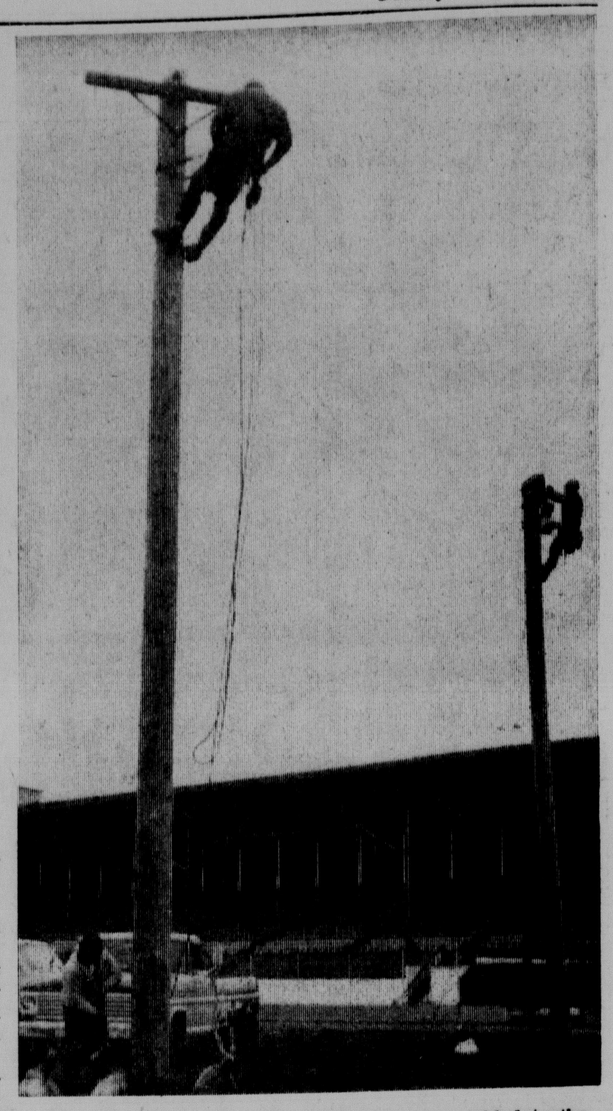
Building a stock car can also be quite expensive. The car that Peterson will be driving this year has 10 shock absorbers, worth about $70, two electric fuel pumps, worth about $60, two batteries, two radiators, and many other expensive items that have proven necessary for racing. Peterson said he would have about $1,300 invested in his car, not counting his labor.

When asked if he would ever race modified cars Peterson said, "well the modified drivers have about three times as much money invested in their cars as I do and I don't think they have three times as much fun."

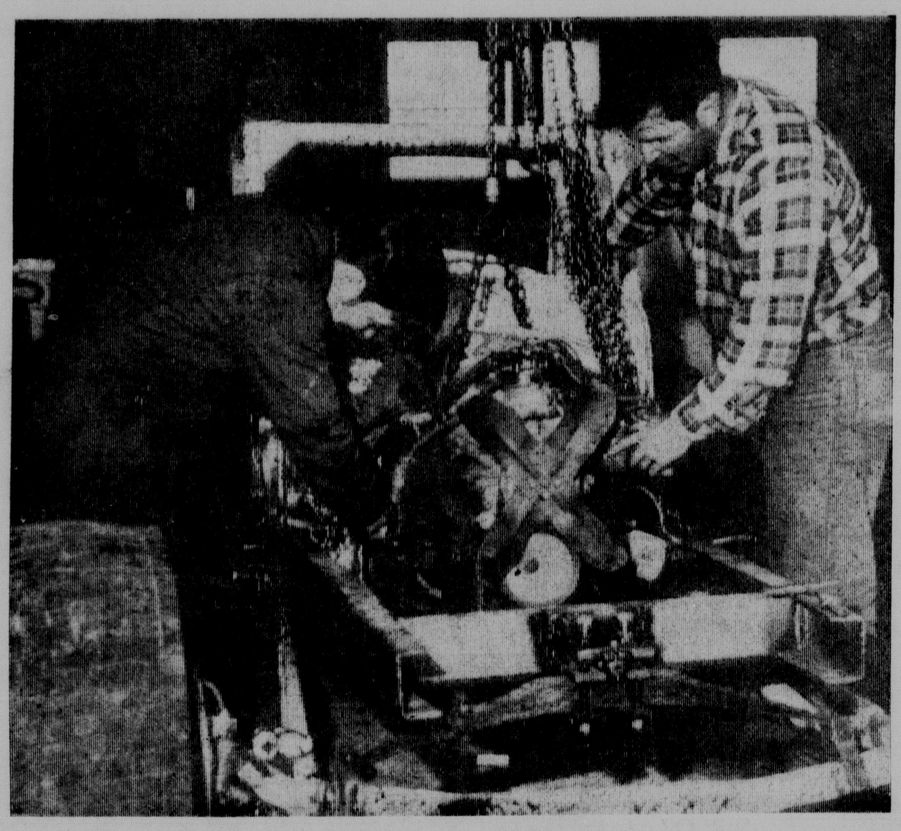
The average cost of building a modified car runs between $2,500 and $3,000. The rear tires are usually 10 x 50 racing slicks and run between $65 and $70 each. Then inch tire widths are the maximum allowable under P.S.A. rules.

A fuel injection set-up on a modified runs about $380. The drivers prefer to use straight alcohol rather than gasoline and the alcohol runs about 40 cents a gallon.

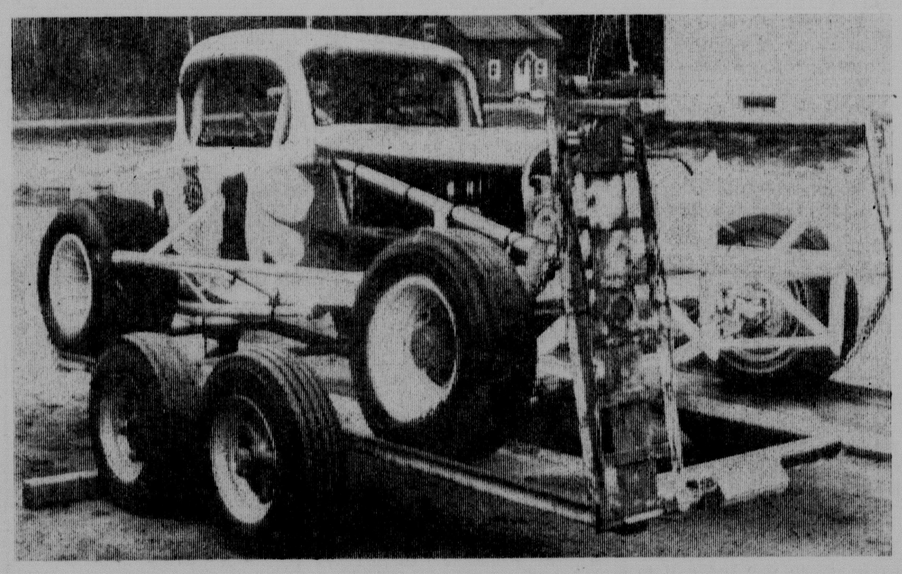
Despite the expenses and hard work, car racing is fast becoming one of the most popular sports in the country. There is always a danger factor involved with racing but with all the required safety features and the handling ability of the drivers, the track is often safer than some of our own streets.

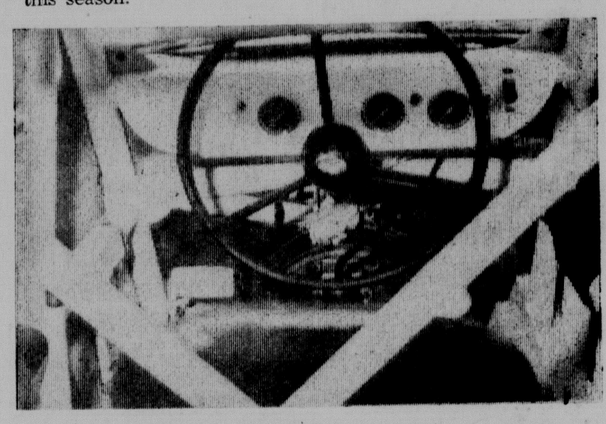


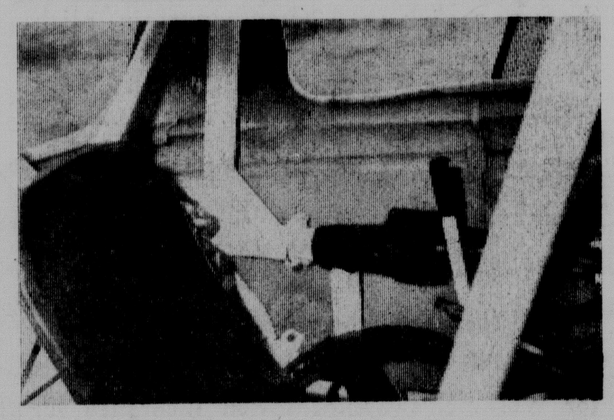
SEVERAL NEW FLOOD LIGHTS have been added to the race track which should make better viewing this season. On pole at left is Dave Carlson, at right is Bill Peterson and assisting from the ground is Ed Provo. Peterson and Provo are drivers of modified cars and plan to compete this season.



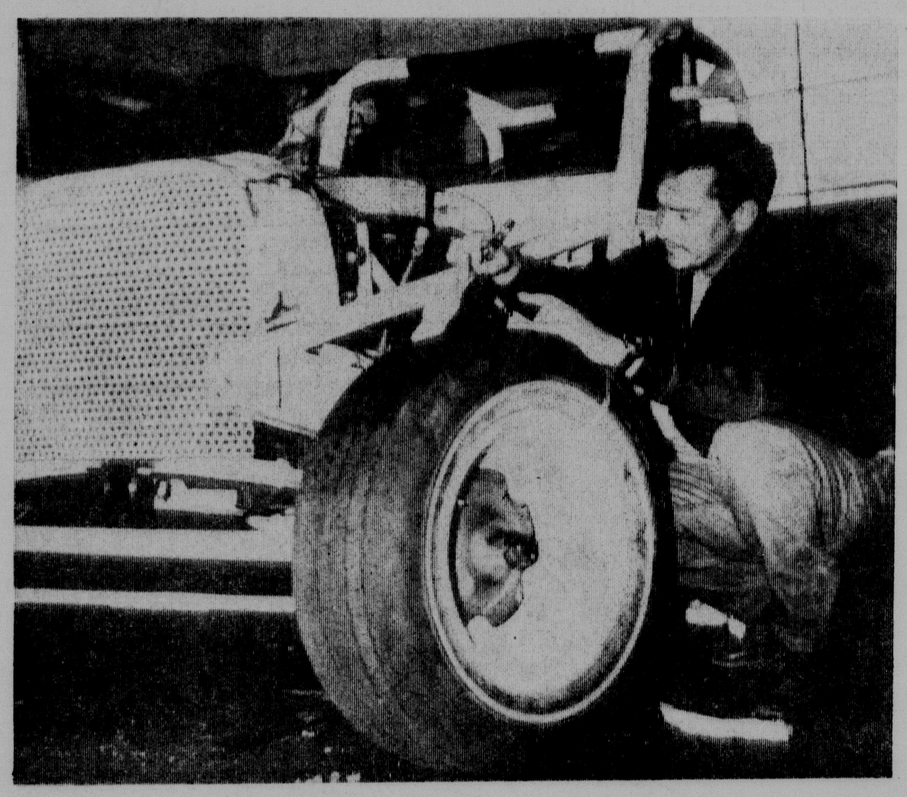
DAVE CHRISTIANSEN, left and Tom Chaillier, both drivers in the modified class, are working to complete this car for the opening night race. This is an example of what the modified cars look like underneath. Most of the framing and bracing has to be hand cut and welded.







LAST YEAR'S NUMBER ONE CAR, at left, driven by Bob Iverson, will return this season to defend the championship. Bob's modified car is a 1934 Ford with a 289 cubic inch engine. The two pictures above show what the inside of Iverson's car looks like. It is designed according to specifications by the Peninsula Stock Car Association.



DUKE GARDINER, left, gives his car, No. 44, a thorough going over while his brother Bob puts on a final coat of paint. Below, Bob Hengesh climbs out of his modified Chevy. Hengesh was last year's rookie of the year and he has his car ready to go and plans to offer some real competition this season.

Big Bay also won the cross-country championship for the year and received the trophy from Steve Ellis of Trenary. Lewandowski of Big Bay won the cross-country individual league championship. Several other players received cross-country awards for their performances.

The Black Bears completed their sweep of the league trophies when Vern Nelson of Perkins presented the team with the conference track trophy. All of the athletes received awards for placing in the conference track and field meet.

Guest Speaker

Guest speaker for the evening was Rollie Dotsch, head football coach at Northern Michigan University. Dotsch talked to the athletes on "What Is The Heart of a Champion?" He stated that in order to be a champion an athlete must have pride, respect, loyalty and dedication of excellency to prove himself both in athletics and in the world he lives in.

The Escanaba Daily Press Sports Editor presented special basketball awards to Black Bears Bill Hartman and John Lewandowski.

Track Regional Slated Saturday

By DON HOWES

A field of 240 athletes from 11 high schools will compete in the Regional Track and Field Meet at Walton Blesch Stadium in Menominee Saturday, for the Class A-B and Class D Titles. The four qualifiers in each event, plus the two relay winners, will advance to the U.P. Finals next week at Marquette.

Among the favorites in the Class A-B division are the host and Great Northern Conference Champions, the Menominee Maroons, with the Crusaders of Escanaba Holy Name also having a good shot at the title. Escanaba High is considered a dark horse, but they have been coming on strong in recent meets and are considered to be one of the teams to watch out for. Gladstone, the defending Regional Champion, will also be in there hoping to retain its title.

Class D Rematch

In the Class D division it looks to be like a rematch of the Central League Conference Championship, with Big Bay and Rapid River both considered as top contenders. The Rockets are the defending Regional champs, but will again he hard pressed by the Black Bears to defend their title. Powers, who took second place in the Skyline Conference, will also be in the running for the championship. The other Class D teams in the meet will be Perkins, Felch, Bark River and Carney.

Head officials for the meet will be Ken Redick of Menominee, the meet manager, Gordon Farragh of Ishpeming and Mike Linley of Menominee the two official starters that will conduct the meet.

The event will open at 10 in the morning with the preliminaries and will resume with the finals at 1 p.m. in the afternoon.

Of their performances in dual and conference meets thus far this spring, a number of outstanding performances are expected if the weather is good.

The Crusaders' Jim Dubord, who has been running the 100 yard dash like it's going out of style has been officially timed at 10.4 seconds for the meet and last Monday turned in a good time of 22.9 seconds in the 220 to be the top prospect for these events in the regionals.

Other steady point producers for Coach Doug Bovin's Crusaders have been Dan Young in the shot put, where he recently tossed the iron over 50 feet, Bob McGinn in the 880, Paul Guenette in the two-mile run, Noel Gannon in the mile run, Gary Corbett in the shot put and Tom Ness in the dashes.

Eskymos Ready

Coach Henry Wylie's up and coming Eskymos have been paced in recent meets by their all around sportsman Gene Timmer, who was a double winner in the high and low hurdles in the conference meet.

In addition to Timmer the Eskymos show fine strength in the pole vault with their sophomore duo of Mark Blazek and John Noblet, who have both been over the 11'6" mark this season. Gary Brawley in the shot put, Steve Rolig in the long jump and the low hurdles, Doug Howard in the high jump and 440 yard dash, Al Larson in the 880 and Murice Simons in the mile run. The Eskymos have also been looking good in the mile relay, where recently they beat Marquette and took second in the conference meet.

Gladstone's top performer all season has been their all around athlete Cliff Young who won the U.P. 880 last year and has been winning this season in times of 2:06-2:07 and this could be one of the feature races of the day with Holy Name's Bob McGinn, Escanaba's Al Larson and Bruce Van Eyck of Menominee all in contention for the 880 title.

Bob Richards and other Braves that will be counted on to produce points for the defending champs are, the Stupak brothers, Mark and Jeff in the 880, Jeff Schram in the two-mile, John Skellenger in the 100 and 220 dashes, Pat McGeary in the 440, Boy Young in the high and low hurdles and Terry Cartwright in the long jump, high jump and 440.

Toss-Up

Class D will be far from a runaway with Big Bay and Rapid River considered as a toss up for the crown. Jeff Boyer of the Rockets set a new record recently in the pole vault of 12 feet and 6 inches, and it will be interesting to see if he can match his previous performances. Boyer also has been winning the high and low hurdles and will again be challenged by John Lewandowski of Big Bay, who was a big double winner in the Conference meet, winning the 220 dash and the shot put.

Other performances to watch in the Regionals will be Big Bay's Bill Hartman in the pole vault, 100 and 220 dashes, Herb Pomeroy in the 880, Randy Strasler in the 440 and the Black Bears' both relay teams.

In addition to Boyer, the Rockets are counting on top performances from Dale Pasi in the mile, Dan Safford in the 100 and long jump, Chuck Larson in the 440 and John Deneau in the two-mile run.

Perkins' Ken Simonsen and Bark River's Alex Joraz, who were record breakers in the conference meet will also be in contention for honors and the trip to Marquette.

Some of the best times in Class A-B this season that will be competing in Saturday's regionals are as follows.

Mile — Gannon (HN) 4.46 Simons (E) 4.48.5, England (G) 4.52.

Two - Mile — Plude (M) 10.04.5, Guenette (HN) 10.16, Schram (G) 10.26, Gage (E) 10.28-32.

Giants Go From Bad To Worse

By The Associated Press

Just when the San Francisco Giants figured things couldn't get much worse, guess what happened. They did.

The Giants opened a series in Los Angeles Thursday night with slugging first baseman Willie McCovey (10 homers, 32 RBI) doubtful for the entire four-game set with a lingering minor eye ailment and a sore shoulder, to boot.

Then, the Dodgers shelled ace right-hander Juan Marichal with a five-run third inning, boosting his earned run average to a whopping 6.94.

In the fifth, catcher Dick Dietz was struck on the left foot by a foul ball and had to take his .375 batting average and league-leading 35 RBI to the sidelines.

To top it all off, the Dodgers sent a pitcher named Sandy to the mound and the result was a 6-3 triumph.

That was one of only four games in the majors Thursday. Elsewhere in the National League, Houston defeated San Diego 3-1 and St. Louis outslugged Pittsburgh 11-7. The New York Mets-Chicago Cubs and Montreal - Philadelphia games were rained out.

Minnesota turned back Kansas City 5-2 in the only scheduled American League action.

Takes Easy Lead

Marichal, 1-1, was staked to a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Bobby Bonds' single, Don Mason's double and a sacrifice fly by Willie Mays, who was playing first in place of McCovey.

But the Dodgers erupted as Wills and Manny Mota put runners on second and third, Mota taking second on the throw. Willie Davis singled them both home, stole second, went to third on Wes Parker's infield hit and scored on Willie Crawford's grounder. Billy Grabarkewitz capped the outburst with his third homer of the season and Tom Haller's single kayoed Marichal.

Sandy—Vance, not Koufax—checked the Giants on eight hits for his third victory in four decisions before Jim Brewer came on to get the last out.

Joe Pepitone's tie-breaking home run in the sixth helped Houston's Larry Dierker run his record to 7-2. It was Dierker's fourth consecutive triumph this season and the sixth straight time he has beaten the Padres, after losing his first meeting last year.

The Astros got an insurance run in the seventh when Clarence Gaston dropped Jim Wynn's long drive for a three-base error and Denis Menke hit a sacrifice fly.

Cards Win

The Cardinals snapped a 7-7 tie with Pittsburgh by scoring four times with two out in the eighth. Lou Brock's tie-breaking single and Joe Hague drove in two more runs with another single.

The Cards scored five times in the sixth, featuring Richie Allen's 12th homer, a solo shot, and Vic Davalillo's three-run double. Willie Stargell homered twice for the Pirates, driving in three runs.

Rod Carew delivered a two-run single after Paul Ratliff doubled home the tie-breaking run in the fourth inning in Minnesota's win over Kansas City. Carew had three singles in the game and now has nine hits in his last 12 at-bats.

Tony Oliva and Rich Reese had run-scoring singles in the first for the Twins but the Royals tied it in the top of the fourth on Bob Oliver's single, Joe Keough's triple and a sacrifice fly.

Tom Hall, who took over for Luis Tiant in the fifth, allowed only one hit over the final five innings and fanned seven.

JOHNCOCK BEFORE CRASHING RACER — Gordon Johncock, 33, of Hastings, Michigan, talks with his chief mechanic Duane Glassgow as he sits in the new Gurney Eagle Ford. Recently the veteran "50" driver escaped harm when the racer twice brushed the wall and made a complete spin coming into the fourth turn during a practice run. His car might miss the qualifying trial for the Indianapolis 500 Saturday. (AP Wirephoto)

Crusader Squad Falls To Redmen

MARQUETTE — The Holy Name Crusaders, with only part of a team, were defeated Thursday by the Marquette Redmen in a dual meet at the Redman track.

Holy Name, without Jim Dubord, Tom Ness and Co., scored 34½ points to 83½ for aMrquette.

The Chusaders made up for their loss by setting two new records on the Marquette track when Dan Young tossed the shot put 50 feet and 3½ inches, to break Gary Brawley of Escanaba, record of 49 feet 1½ inches. Paul Guennette set a new track record in the two mile run, winning in a time of 10:13.8.

Other point producers for the Crusaders were Gary Corbett in the shot put, Nick Knauf in the pole vault, Joe Kroll in the high jump, Young in the long jump, Neil Odgers in the 440 and Dan DeGrand in the two mile.

Two other first place finishers for Holy Name were Noel Gannon in the mile with a time of 4:44.9 and Bob McGinn winning the 880 with a time of 2:04.8.

The Redmen were paced to victory by their duo of Bob Lennes and Bob Schacht, who were both triple winners in the meet.

Leanes won the 100 yard dash in 10.3 seconds, the 220 in :23.4 and the pole vault with a jump of 11'6".

Schacht claimed both the high and low hurdles, winning the highs in :15.6 and the lows in :21.3 and also the long jump with a leap of 18'10½". In the high jump he went 5'11".

The Crusaders will be back in action Saturday at the regional meet in Menominee.

Sinden Resigns As Bruins' Pilot

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins are in the market for a new coach—and who wants to try to fofllow the footsteps of Harry Sinden?

Sinden, 37, shocked the sports world by quitting the Bruins Thursday just four days after leading the club to its first Stanley Cup in 29 years.

Sinden, who led the Bruins from a fourth place finish to a world championship in only four years at the helm, decided to call it quits while a champ in his hockey career.

Experienced in engineering, Sinden elected to go into the business field rather than continue at the helm of a National Hockey League power.

"After many years of amateur and professional hockey in the United States and Canada, I am going on to exciting new challenges and opportunities in mass residential construction," he said.

In his first year, Sinden's Bruins finished last. The next they finished third. Then, in the 1968-69 season they finished second. This year, the Bruins grabbed everything, taking their first Stanley Cup in 29 years.

Says Bobby Orr, an NHL super star, who has collected more awards than anyone in NHL history: "We are losing a damn good man. We did the playing, but he was there working with us every night."

Said Center Derek Sanderson: "I hope he reconsiders. To lose him as a coach is serious. It's a blow to all of us. A new coach won't be able to handle the club like Harry."

Little Leaguers Open Saturday

It will be Mark Beveridge on the hill for Kiwanis tomorrow afternoon against Jerry Moran and the Exchange team when the 1970 Escanaba Jaycee Little League season opens at 1 p. m., at the Little League Diamond.

Kiwanis, generally regarded as the team to topple the Rotary dynasty, has been busy strengthening their organization since the recent players' auction. Bob Hirn and Bill Beveridge have been added to the coaching staff, while Manager Angie Hirn has picked a couple of youngsters, Jerry Guindon and Steve Miller to give them bench support.

The fortunes of Jim Anderson's Exchange team ride pretty much on the right arm of their all-around star, Moran, as the team will field a number of inexperienced players.

Meanwhile defending champion Rotary has been working out nightly in an effort to fill the holes left by the graduation of Matt Smith, Al Schwalbach, Mark Chown, Dale Nevala and Jim Hansen, regulars from last year's winner.

Dark horse VFW handled Rotary pretty easily Monday in a practice game, but Vets Manager Don Ohman was pretty charitable as he predicted, "John (Chlek) will have them shaped up before the season is very old." Ohman, himself, expects to win at least half his games this year, a big improvement from last year's 11-13 record. He is looking for a lot of help from a couple of draftees, Glen Beauvais and Jeff Abrahamson.

The Lions, who have finished second to Rotary the past two years, suffered the heaviest losses in the league when they graduated seven players. However, they have yet to display their pitching ace Kevin Cutler in 1970 action and it should be a tight contest when Cutler hooks up with Mike Smith in Saturday's nightcap.

Cliff Stratton will be on the hill for the Eagles when they open against Beauvais and the VFW. They also lost heavily through graduation but the Eagles did emerge from the draft with a fine crop of 10-year-olds. They are not expected to be a challenger this year.

In the late afternoon game, the injury-plagued Bankers, under their new manager, Fred Sayklly, will open against the Credit Union. Neither team has much pitching experience, but Lloyd Strahl's Union boys will probably go with their left-hander, Harvey Gendreau.

John Way, former four-year Little League veteran and Escanaba Cub luminary, will be behind the plate for the games.

The schedule:

1 p. m. — Kiwanis at Exchange

2:30 p. m. — Eagles at VFW

3:30 p. m. — Bankers at Credit Union

6 p. m. — Lions at Rotary.

Braves Triumph In Golf Match

The Gladstone Braves golfers, tuning up for the Great Lakes Conference Meet today, defeated the Munising Mustangs in a dual match Thursday by a score of 322-356.

The Braves' John Krout was medalist for the meet with a low score of 38, while Bob Prins was a close second with a 39.

Gladstone's other scores were Wayne Marshal with a 47, Mark Tibergien 48, Bernard Wiltzius 49, John Norris 49 and Neil Gerber 52.

With the victory, coach Carl Backstrom's golfers now have a 3-3 record going into today's conference meet.

Newberry Hosts Regional Meet

NEWBERRY — The Manistique Emeralds track and field team will compete in the regional meet here Saturday along with the host Newberry Indians and the Soo Blue Devils.

Coach Rudie Brandstrom's Emeralds have been improving right along and will have a good chance of taking the crown from Newberry, the defending regional champ.

Dust Commander Enters Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dust Commander, the winner of the Kentucky Derby and $181,604, is in the Preakness. So is Hark The Lark, winner of ftwo nonstakes and $10,846.

In between these two extremes fall 12 other 3-year-olds who will take a shot at the first $200,000 race in the history of the Triple Crown.

If all 14 go to the post at 5:40 p.m., EDT, for the 1 3-16 mile classic, the gross purse will be $203,800, with $151,300 going to the winner.

The 95th Preakness at Pimlico will be televised by CBS from 5-6 p.m. EDT, and broadcast on radio from 5:25 to 5:45 p.m.

In order to give Dust Commander a chance at becoming the first Triple Crown winner since Citation won the Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes in 1948, owner Bob Lehmann had to supplement the colt for $10,000 Thursday.

Seven of the 17 colts beaten by Dust Commander in the Derby also were entered for the Preakness—Raymond M. Curtis' My Dad George, runner-up in Kentucky; Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' High Echelon, the Derby third, and Personality; Her-Jac Stable's Naskra; Sonny Werblin's Silent Screen, William C. Robinson Jr.'s Admiral's Shield and Dr. Richard Kuhn's and Walter Hickey's Robin's Bug.

Joining Lawrence P. Boyce's Hark The Lark in a shot at an upset will be Briardale Farm's Stop Time, James P. Mill's Buzkashi, Nelson B. Hunt's Sir Wiggle, Mrs. Merle Weisman's Oh Fudge, and Rex Ellsworth's Plenty Old.

Each starter will carry 126 pounds.

Mike Manganello will send Dust Commander, the early favorite, out of the No. 10 post with early second pick My Dad George, ridden by Ray Broussard just inside of him. Silent Screen, third choice and ridden by John L. Rotz, will leave from No. 3, just outside of the Jacobs entry of High Echelon on the rail and Personality. Larry Adams will ride High Echelon, and Eddie Belmonte will have the mount on Personality

Three candidates have filed nominating petitions for the two vacant seats on the Big Bay de Noc School District Board of Education. The district includes Cooks, Garden, Nahma, Fayette, St. Jacques and Fairbanks Township.

Board secretary Robert Johnson said he has received petitions from Mrs. Elaine Hartman and Heman Strasler, both of Cooks, and Gary Lang of Fayette.

Mrs. Hartman, the only incumbent, is currently completing a one-year appointive post on the board. She was named to replace her husband, John, who resigned because of ill-health.

Strasler, who owns and operates a gasoline station in Manistique, formerly served on the Cooks School Board before consolidation. He is a 1950 graduate of Cooks High School, is married and the father of five children.

Lang has been engaged in farming in the Fayette area since his 1956 graduation from Cooks High School. He is married and the father of five children.

Voters will select two candidates during the June 8 school election. The terms are for four years each. Incumbent Charles Rasmussen of Garden, completing his firm term on the board, is not a candidate for reelection.

Seniors' Fund Given School

A school board committee composed of Mrs. Margaret Waters, Leon Wood and Robert Knoph has been appointed to meet with senior students and work out problems arising from questions put to the board at this week's meeting.

The seniors turned over $40.40 from the Senior Development Fund to the high school administration which they asked be donated to some school activity in the future.

They questioned the board about school policy and rules regarding school organizations. The seniors complained they were being denied use of money raised at a school carnival and seniors on the Student Council were being relieved from their posts by the faculty advisor.

The SDF was organized in March after the students were told they could not use any of their treasury funds (about $750) which were to be used to defray costs of graduation caps and gowns. The seniors stated they felt the money would relieve a financial burden on some graduates.

High School Principal Marvin Hendrickson explained that class trips were too expensive (between $3,000 and $4,000) and class groups too large (over 160 students). He also said faculty members were not too anxious to resume responsibility for the students on out-of-town trips.

The Area School Board ruled that any fund-raising activities on school property cannot be done without an advisor or school sanction.

Contract Bridge

By B. JAY BECKER

TEST YOUR PLAY

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Five Diamonds. North leads the jack of clubs. How would you play the hand?

	♠ 6 2 ♥ A J 10 ♦ A K 10 8 3 ♣ A K 7
♠ A Q ♥ 6 4 2 ♦ Q J 7 5 4 ♣ Q 5 3	N W E S

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Six Spades. North leads the king of diamonds, which you win with the ace. You play a club to the king, North and South following low, and finesse the queen of spades, South playing the three and North the nine. How would you play the hand?

	♠ A Q J 7 5 ♥ K J 9 4 ♦ A 3 ♣ J 2
♠ 8 6 4 2 ♥ — ♦ 10 6 5 ♣ A K 8 7 5 3	N W E S

1. Win the club, draw the adverse trumps, cash two more clubs, and lead the A-Q of spades. These plays guarantee the contract regardless of how the North-South cards are divided. Whoever wins the spade will have to return a heart or yield a ruff and discard.

If the heart return comes from South, a finesse of the ten will also assure the loss of only one heart trick.

The trap to avoid is the spade finesse. This play would cost the contract if it turned out that South had the king of spades and North the K-Q of hearts. There is no point to taking a finesse that jeopardizes the contract when there is a method of play that guarantees the contract 100 per cent.

2. By far the best play is to now cash the ace of spades. If the spades are divided 2-2, the contract is cold even though the clubs are divided 4-1. You would continue with a club to the ace, ruff a club, ruff a heart, and ruff another club, establishing the 8-7 in dummy. At worst, you would wind up losing one trick.

Now let's suppose that when you lead the ace of spades North shows out. In that case you still make the slam, if the clubs are divided 3-2, by playing a club to the ace, ruffing a club, ruffing a heart, and cashing dummy's established clubs. You lose a spade trick, but no more.

It would be wrong to attempt another spade finesse after the first one succeeds, since you would be wasting an entry to dummy which you need to develop the club suit. The contract would become unmanageable if it turned out that South originally had three spades to the king and you would eventually go down.

Mental Patient Sought In Deaths Of 3 Kills Self

SHEFFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A former mental patient wanted in the shooting deaths of three Veterans Administration Hospital officials apparently shot himself as officers closed in on him, police say.

Coleman G. Gish, 45, was spotted Thursday by an off-duty state trooper who was going fishing near Shefffield, 150 miles northwest of Danville, scene of the triple slayings Wednesday.

Trooper William Rosenow said he drove past a car parked on a gravel road and saw a man who fit Gish's description drinking beer and eating a hamburger. The car sped off and Rosenow said he radioed for help.

Three other troopers and the Sheffifeld town marshal answered the call. As they approached Gish's car, Marshal Peter Minnaert said, the man shot himself in the head with a .38-caliber pistol.

U. P. Lumberjack Dies In Explosion

FENCE, Wis. (AP)—A house trailer explosion today killed Toivo Holmes, 57, a Crystal Falls, Mich., lumberjack.

Florence County sheriff's deputies said a leaking gas stove was believed to have caused the explosion.

They said Holmes and his brother, Elmer, 60, also of Crystal Falls, were engaged in a logging operation near Fence and occupied separate trailers.

The older brother told deputies he was awakened by the blast at about 6 a.m. and pulled his brother from the wrecked trailer.

Shrine Hospital Day Scheduled

Shriners of three countries join hands, Sunday, May 17, to observe the 48th anniversary of the "world's most rewarding philanthropy," the 22 Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Started in Shreveport, La. in September 1922, the Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine now maintain and operate the greatest chain of hospitals devoted to the treatment of child orthopedic and burns patients.

Both Shrine members and non-Shriners contribute to the support of the hospitals, which now have an annual operating budget of more than $20,000,000.

Doors of Shriners Hospitals are open to children of all races and creeds, receive the most excellent of medical attention from a few days to several years' duration, without charge.

Throughout the 48-year history of Shriners Hospitals "miracles" are practically an every-day event. Today more than 160,000 patients have received treatment and have been returned to society either cured, or aided materially.

Four years ago Shriners opened the first of their three Burns Institutes, located at Boston, Galveston and Cincinnati, and have the finest and most modern treatment available for burn-injured children. There have been more than 1,693 burn cases treated from all over North Ameica, with an average cost to the Shriners of $12,000 and up. Orthopedic cases run in the neighborhood of $1,700 each.

Shriners Hospitals are active in research, both in orthopedic and burns. Use of a vaccine to control pseudomonas infection combined with medical treatment of patients in Shriners Burns Institutes has helped cut the infection rate of violent burn cases to less than 50 per cent.

Shrine burns doctors claim that 75 per cent of all burns cases can be prevented. The five major causes of burns accidents are gasoline and other flammable liquids, faulty heaters, and fire-places, scalds, matches, and trash and outdoor fires.
